Exposure brought on a serious attack of pneumonia and his condition was serious last evening.—Derrick.

—This is just the time of year when the store keepers are compelled to make some very low prices on clothing, lumbermen's rubbers, mittens, etc., etc., or keep them over until 1896, and Lanson is caught with the rest with quite a lot on hand. All know we have not capital to hold the goods so we are going, to sell very cheap for cash. We mean business.
—Meadville was the scene of a terrible gas explosion last Wednesday morning. The explosion was caused by gas escaping from the street main of the Oil City Fuel & Gas Co., and working its way through the ground and into the cellars of the residence and lumber office of George H. Cutler, and becoming ignited in some unknown manner. Mr. Cutler was instantly killed and his wife and a domestic named Katie Erickson were seriously though not fatally injured. The office and warehouse and house with contents were completely demolished; a large amount of hardware, building supplies and lumber was consumed. The damage is estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict attributing the accident to the negligence of the gas company.

Death of Mrs. W. G. Wyman.

Allice May, wife of W. G. Wyman, was born near Bradenburg, Venango county, Pa., Sept. 19, 1856, and died in Tionesta, Pa., February 14, 1896.
Mrs. Wyman was the daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth McKinley. About four years ago she was happily united in marriage with Wm. G. Wyman, and nearly three years ago came to Tionesta with her husband where they have since resided. Just two weeks prior to her death she was taken ill with pneumonia, and growing rapidly worse, other complications arising, from the beginning as to be such a serious nature that she could be of little effort for her physicians to stay the disease, and on Thursday afternoon of last week death relieved her of her sufferings.
The suddenness of her taking off proved a shock to the entire community. For Mrs. Wyman was looked upon by all as the picture of health, and about the last person one would expect to be so suddenly overtaken by the Death Angel. She was a woman of noble character, and of such a gentle good nature as to endeavor to be kind to all who knew her, and her many good qualities of mind and heart made her a universal favorite. In her death the community loses a most excellent member of society, the church a consistent and useful member, and the husband a true, loving and greatly devoted wife, in which great loss he has the deepest sympathy of all his neighbors.
Brief services were conducted at her late home, by her pastor, Rev. J. V. McAninch of the Presbyterian church on Monday morning last, and the remains were taken on the noon train to her former home in Meadville for burial.

Resolutions of Respect.

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U., held Feb. 12, 1896, a committee was appointed to draft resolutions relative to the death of Mrs. Ida Boyd.

WHEREAS: It has pleased God in his infinite wisdom to remove from us our beloved sister and friend, Mrs. Ida Boyd, who was called away Jan. 8, 1896, be it

Resolved: That we humbly bow to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved: That in the death of this dear sister our union has lost a true and faithful member, whose simple, unassuming manner, whose simple, unassuming manner and kindly thought for others endeared her to many friends, and it is for them to know how sweet and pure and strong was the gentle spirit, whose stay on earth was all too short.

Resolved: That we extend our sympathy to the bereaved husband and family.

Resolved: That these resolutions be published in both our county papers and entered upon our minutes, and that a copy be sent to family of deceased.

Mrs. KATE B. CRAIG,
Mrs. STELLA M. SHARP,
Mrs. MARY T. INWIN,
Committee.

—Now is the time to get a bargain in dry goods, clothing, gents' furnishing goods, boots, shoes, and rubber goods, jewelry, trunks and valises, at Barnett's auction sale, commencing Monday and continuing every afternoon and evening until the entire stock is disposed of.
—The bill in the house of representatives to prevent the killing of pheasants in this state until 1905 will be watched with a great deal of interest by local sportsmen. The framers of the bill hope to check the rapid extermination of this game bird and they believe it will take two years to again fill our forests with pheasants.

—The Brookville Republican tells this story of a Clearfield preacher who incautiously said to his tailor: "When I want a good coat made I go Philadelphia; they make them there." Before leaving the shop he inquired, "By the way, do you attend my church?" "No," replied the tailor. "When I want to hear a good sermon I go to Philadelphia. They preach them there."

—L. L. Thompson of Kane, a well known oil well shooter, had a miraculous escape from death last Thursday morning near Johnsonburg. He was driving over an icy road with 125 quarts of glycerine in his sleigh, when the sleigh and load of glycerine overturned, falling on him and holding him beneath it. He called on the team to back up and after considerable difficulty extricated himself, loaded up his sleigh again and drove on, none the worse for his adventure than a few bruises on his face.

—The Johnsonburg Breeze embodies a great deal of truth in the following item: "A newspaper man is blamed with a lot that he can't help, such as giving partially in mentioning visitors, giving names about some party and ignoring the coming and going of others, etc." He simply prints the news he has had. Some people inform him about such things, while others do not. An editor should not be expected to know the names and residences of all your uncles and aunts, even if he should see them get off the train. Tell him about them. It's news that makes the paper, and man, woman and child can be associate editor."

—There has been considerable talk about the meeting of the State Dairy-men's Association held in Meadville two weeks ago when two prizes were awarded on eggs but that was brought from Chicago by Editor Palm. The Committee claims that is an old trick of the butter manufacturers to send genuine dairy butter and have it tested and then claim that is bogus butter. But Editor Palm says in Saturday's Star: "The plain truth is that the judges passed upon Armour's commercial butter and called it a high grade of butter and no amount of insinuations or explanations, or committee reports can get away from the fact."

—The unconscious body of a man was found lying near a stump 10 feet from the W. N. Y. & P. railroad track about one-half mile from Grand Valley at 10:30 Saturday morning by the section men working along the road. All attempts to revive him were unsuccessful and he was immediately taken to Grand Valley and medical aid summoned. He was found to be in a terrible condition from exposure, both feet being frozen stiff up to above the shoe tops, and other portions of the body were badly frozen. Physicians could do nothing for him and he died. The unfortunate young man was John Fick, who owned a barber shop at East Hickory. He left that place Friday night between 8 and 9 o'clock, presumably to walk to Grand Valley. He was about 24 years of age.

Kelletriville.

On Thursday evening at 11:30 the general store of Proper & Myers was discovered to be on fire. The whistle at the factory aroused the citizens, who turned out to a man to assist in extinguishing the flames, but by the time assistance arrived the entire interior of the store was in flames. The citizens were unable to get near the store and their attention was turned to save the contents of Mr. Myers' private residence. A large portion of the household articles were carried out and removed to a safe distance.
In order to save the Brooklyn House carpets were hung up against the end of the building and kept saturated with water and it was with desperate fighting that the hotel was saved from burning.
Mr. Myers' goods were stored in a vacant house in town, where he will reside for the present. The postoffice has been put in Chas. Baner's store. The K. O. T. M. hall Proper & Myers' hall rented for a grand ball on Feb. 22nd, but the committee have sent out notices that they will not give a dance. The store and contents were insured for $1,000 and the dwelling house at $500.
