THE CABINET CHANGE.

President Cleveland's present Cabinet experiences its first change in the retirement of Postmaster General Bissell, and the appointment of William L. Wilson as his successor. In its public relations the change is not important. If it signified a general reorganization, and particularly in the State and Treasury departments, it would excite profound interest. If there were any hope of improvement at the vital points there would be universal rejoicing. But this change doesn't involve a policy. It is only personal and fortuitous. As such it elicits only a momentary and languid attention.

Mr. Bissell has not been a success as postmaster general. He is not without ability. He is a good lawyer, and in some branches of administrative work would fully meet the requirements. But he was called to a department which demands the largest business capacity and executive force, and he had the misfortune of following Mr. Wanamaker, who was peculiarly distinguished for both. It was inevitable that Mr. Bissell should suffer from the contrast. Though clever and genial, he seems to have been deficient in tact, and while the drudgery of a laborious office was irksome he also chafed in his relations with Congressmen.

Mr. Wilson's appointment will not be criticized as Mr. Bissell's was, upon the ground that it is mere personal favoritism. His public standing and reputation justify his selection for cabinet honors. He is a leader of his party, as Mr. Bissell never was, and in his personality and public position he measures up to cabinet status. Nor will fault be found with the President for taking care of him after his defeat before the people. He has been devoted to Mr. Cleveland and has earned his gratitude. Whatever criticism the appointment elicits will be directed to Mr. Wilson's qualifications for the particular place. He is a doctrinaire, a theorist, a debater and not a man of practical affairs, such as is needed for the direction of the postal service. However, the lines are organized, and he can tread the beaten paths if he cannot strike into new fields.—Phila. Press.

THAT BILLION DOLLAR CRY.

The reckless extravagance of this Democratic Congress is exhibited in the Sundry Civil bill which passed the Senate last Thursday. That branch of the national Legislature has added amendments to the amount of nearly $10,000,000 to the bill. The General Deficiency bill has also been reported from the Senate Committee with an increase of over $2,000,000 over the amount reported from the House.

Representative O'Neil of Massachusetts, a Democratic member of the Appropriation Committee, said that the appropriations as they now stand with Senate amendments attached are within less than $10,000,000 of the billion dollar mark. He expressed a hope that the House would be able to reduce this figure somewhat by disagreeing to the hundreds of expensive amendments that the Senate has tacked onto the bills.

It is not at all probable that his expectations will be realized, as the history of conference reports on appropriation bills indicates that the Senate usually wins.

The expenditures of this Congress and the thousand and one extravagances that have crept into appropriation bills during the past week exceed by many millions of dollars the expenditures of the Fifty-first Congress, which has been held up in its lory as the most extravagant body that ever sat in the National Capitol.

would still further surpass those of the former. This congress is authorizing an outlay of over twenty millions of dollars which is not counted in the appropriation bill. This is the authorization of three new battle ships and torpedo boats for the navy.

THE Nebraska legislature has decided to revive the beet sugar bounty by paying the producer $5 per ton for all their production. The last legislature suspended this law. The house had a great fight over the affair. The bill was opposed by the solid Democratic and Independent vote.

THE Michigan Senate passed a resolution congratulating the country that the tariff tinkering, business paralyzing, wage reducing, pension repudiating administration is fast coming to a close.

MR. CLEVELAND and Mr. Carlisle are going to South Carolina for an outing. It is explained that both need rest badly. So does the country.

MR. CLEVELAND plaintively enters the piano player's plea. He says he isn't stubborn on finance, but is doing the best he knows how.

THE result of the recent mayoralty election in Philadelphia has resurrected the old phrase, "Who struck Billy Pattison?"

Company stores Win.

Dispatches from Uniontown, Pa., state that Judge Ewing rendered an important decision Friday evening on company stores. James Hamilton brought suit against C. Jutte & Co. to recover the amount deducted from his wages for goods purchased at the company store, claiming the act of March 20, 1891, gave him power to recover. Judge Ewing instructed the jury to find for the defendant company, stating that the act was unconstitutional, being in restraint of trade, against public policy and had the effect of impairing the obligation of contracts, and declared the Legislature could make no such law.

Duties of Constables.

The following is an extract from an opinion of the supreme court of this state, delivered by Judge Agnew in the case of McCollough vs. The Commonwealth, 67 Pa. St. 32:

"The office of constable is ancient, his duties important and his power large. His general duty is to keep the peace; and for this purpose he may arrest, imprison, break open doors and the like. A constable may justify an arrest for a reasonable cost or suspicion alone. He may arrest for a breach of the peace in his presence and deposit the prisoner in jail. And what is more to our present purpose, he is bound to present to the term or last court all offenses inquirable in these courts. These are all common law powers."

In addition to these common law duties many statutory duties have been imposed upon constables in this state. By numerous laws he is bound to make returns, under oath of various offenses such as killing deer out of season, unlawful acts against the law for preserving fish, the birth of bastard children, tipping houses kept without license, the want of index boards, wagers upon elections, and others which do not occur to my memory."

By other acts he is bound to return gambling places, places where oleomargarine is sold or kept for sale, and to visit all places, at least once a month, where intoxicating liquors are sold or kept for sale.

By the act of April 17, 1867, it is the duty of every sheriff, constable, member and officer of police, to arrest any and every person who shall be found intoxicated in any street or public highway, or in any public place or places where strong or spirituous liquors are sold, publicly kept or disposed of, and to take such persons before any magistrate of the vicinity to be dealt with according to law.

It will thus be seen that the office of constable is not a soft snap.—Parker Phoenix.

Following is the report of the delegate of the Tionesta Society of Christian Endeavor, to the Convention held in Titusville, Friday, Feb. 22, 1895:

Our trip across the country to Titusville was made without special incident, leaving here at about 1:30 p. m. and arriving at the Hotel Brunswick at 5. After getting warm many of the crowd spent a short time in sight seeing, by then we were glad to partake of the excellent supper served. A short time was spent in the parlors, and then we went to the place of meeting—the Third Presbyterian Church—at which the Convention was held. This is a beautiful and commodious structure, finely furnished. The decorations were the national colors also plants and flowers.

An interesting and enjoyable program was carried out, beginning with selections by C. Leman's Orchestra, and music by the church choir. Hon. E. O. Emerson of Titusville made a very earnest prayer, followed by singing, "True Hearted, Whole Hearted," in which all joined.

Next in order was the business: Reading of the minutes, by Sec'y Mr. Small, of last meeting held at this place. Reported 13 delegates present. Mr. Bell, President, spoke of the "Local End News" about to be started in the interest of C. E. Local Union. He was sure of its being interesting and beneficial to the societies and urged our best efforts to aid and support it.

Music by Mr. Murray's Bible Class Choir, "Calling Us Away." This was to the air of "Teaching Tonight" and was fine. Mr. McAninch's report of the State Convention was good, as you know, and well received. The Committee to receive invitations for the next Local Union, reported having received two; one from the First Presbyterian Church of Oil City, and one from the Presbyterian Church of Pleasantville. By a rising vote Pleasantville was selected, having received 50 votes; five more than Oil City; so the meeting will be held in Pleasantville, some time in May or June.

Committee on selection of new officers reported as follows: Pres. Mr. F. W. Schaffer, Franklin; Vice Pres., our own Mr. Armstrong; Treas., Mr. R. E. Small, Oil City. The selection of secretary was left to the Pres. and executive committee. Union-lookout Committee of five appointed to act same as lookout committee in each society. Did not get the names of those appointed. Will be published in Local End News. After singing, Sec'y reported number of delegates present from each society, was as follows as near as I could tell: First Presbyterian church, Oil City, 22; Sec. Presbyterian Church, Oil City, 11; First Presbyterian church, Titusville, 120; Baptist church, Titusville, 21; Presbyterian church, Pleasantville, 29; Presbyterian church, Neiltown, 1; Presbyterian church, Steyer, 8; First Presbyterian church, Franklin, 1; Presbyterian church, Tionesta, 31; Following singing of "Faith is the Victory," was the question box conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. P. Stephenson, for the closing exercises. Questions discussed: "What should be done with members who do not keep the pledge?" "Leader's Preparation?" "Would the Apostle Paul object to modern C. E. Society?" Mr. Stephenson talked on these in an interesting and instructive way. "Should the Pastor attend C. E. meetings?" One said: "Ordinarily not a good plan on account of embarrassing the members. Another said frequent meetings would overcome this and be helpful to both members and pastor. Mr. McAninch spoke of his being missed if not in attendance. Mr. Armstrong was prompt to state, we always like to have our pastor with us. Mr. Bell's version closed the discussion, and was highly approved. "A C. E. meeting without a pastor is like a home without a mother." Closing hymn, "God be with You till We Meet Again." C. E. benediction. Social intercourse. At the meeting of the local society Monday evening, Feb. 18, resolutions were passed tendering a vote to the Titusville society for the elaborate manner in which they were entertained.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO. IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO-CURO. It's purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO-CURO. It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or puff. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. Office of THE PIONEER PRESS COMPANY, C. W. HORNBICK, Supt. St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7, 1894. Eureka Chemical and Mfg. Co., LaCrosse, Wis. Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Reidy C. Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Bacco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Bacco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it. Yours very truly, C. W. HORNBICK.
