A fashion note says: Fluffy hair and bangs have about disappeared from the foreheads of the fashionable girls and ladies. The face of many a young girl looks mightily innocent and pretty beneath a smoothly combed and carefully parted growth of black or brown, held in place by the tiny side-combs.

The same but-ter-would-in-my-mouth effect is also secured by the side-frizzing style, especially when topped off by a butterfly bonnet.

The gratifying intelligence was received here Wednesday that Capt. H. B. Cumings had been elected Dept. Commander of Pennsylvania at the Grand Army Encampment in session at Williamsport. The added honor of an election by acclamation was also accorded him.

That we in common with all his friends are gratified at this result goes without the saying. That he will conscientiously and worthily fill the position also goes. Tidoute is honored in his election.—Tidoute News.

John Hillands of Hickory is in the city to have his right eye treated by Dr. W. F. Conners. On Friday Hillands, who had been hunting stopped at the home of his brother to assist in cutting up a pig that had been slaughtered. He was splitting it open and was driving the knife through some gristle on the breast when the knife bent and sprang back, the point laying the eyeball wide open, but fortunately did not cut the "sight." Although the wound is extremely painful, there is a chance that the eye may be saved.—Derrick.

Rev. W. W. Dale met with a very serious accident last Sunday afternoon while driving from Nebraska, with his son Paul. His horse, which had been driven for some time, was quite fractious and hard to manage and in his antics broke the hold-back strap, when the cutter ran into the animal and threw him to the ground, and the sudden stopping of the cutter threw Mr. Dale completely over the horse. Before Mr. Dale could get out of the way the horse sprang to his feet, his forward leg striking Mr. Dale in the small of the back. While his injuries are not necessarily serious, they are very painful, but he hopes to be out in a few days. Master Paul fortunately escaped without injury.

A sad accident occurred at a saw mill about two miles from Tyersburg last Friday. Chas. Brewster, who was the off-bearer on the mill, was attempting to lift a large plank onto the carriage when it slipped and struck him on the leg below the knee, knocking him down. He fell between the saw and pulley, throwing his head into the pulley, which was in motion, and one of the spokes struck him on the back of the head completely crushing the skull. He died instantly. He was a son of Peter Bewster, was married about two years ago to a daughter of Jas. Swab, and leaves a wife and a 3-weeks-old baby. He was a young man who was highly respected and his untimely death is mourned by the entire community.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the social reception given by the Y. P. S. C. E. at the home of Miss Mac Grove on Wednesday evening last. Guests to the number of about seventy-five were in attendance and amused themselves in playing games, singing and social chat. During the evening an elaborate lunch was served by the young ladies of the society, and the appetites of the guests were beautifully appeased. After a general good time the guests departed, with many expressions of praise for their entertainers and expressing the wish that there might be early and frequent repetitions of entertainments of this sort, and there certainly should be, for occasions of this kind are a wonderful factor in leading our young people from the temptations of the world.

There was a representative of a Warren publishing company in town during the past week soliciting advertising, bookbinding and offering to do job work at greatly reduced prices, etc., and who made himself generally obnoxious by trying to play the "masher," and flirt with the young ladies of our town. This may go in Warren, but it won't go here,—"Mr. Swift" will find out, if he tries it again. Now if our patrons want cheap job work, we can give it to them at just as low a figure as any other job printing house, but as our patrons know, we have never turned out anything but first class printing on first class stock, and before they give orders to cheap concern who send out such representatives as the one above mentioned, they had better compare prices and quality of stock and work.

The Ice Goes Out. For the second time this winter the ice has gone out of the river at this place and the inhabitants along the river are out of their misery.

About seven o'clock Saturday evening the ice commenced to move and climb up the piers of the bridges, and as usual the people made a rush for the river to watch the rather chilly spectacle, a great many forgetting all about "going to meeting," and it is not to be wondered at, for it was a grand sight to see the great masses of congealed water as it rushed and roared down the river at first, but when it began to slow up and act as though it was going to stop and make us a visit it wasn't so grand, and the people made a rush for higher ground. For a short time the situation looked very dangerous as the ice began to crowd into the back channel roaring and rolling high in the air, piling up on the banks to the height of ten or twelve feet, but the temporary gorge in the river finally gave away and while the hearts of the people on the flats dropped back into their natural positions.

The people of this place were very fortunate, and the damage done was very slight, as none of the houses were flooded, the only real damage done was the crushing in of the side of the small building used by Jas. Huling as a carpenter shop.

At about 10 o'clock the river was nearly clear of ice at this place, and a few days of danger, and there is a gorge about a mile in length, a short ways below town, but it is not heavy enough to cause any damage and, although there is a slight rise in the river will undoubtedly carry it out without serious trouble.

But while we were lucky, we must not forget the less fortunate people down the river who are still in great danger. The ice is still fast from Kittanning to the head of Rattonesake riffle, just below Parker, a distance of thirty-five miles, and the reports say that water cannot move such a mass of ice, and that it may remain there for weeks until the sun causes it to move away gradually. If there should be heavy rains it is feared that Kittanning and Ford City will be swept from the face of the earth.

The situation above Tionesta is not necessarily dangerous, and there has been no serious damage done so far. There is a serious gorge at Tidoute, and we understand that the water is over the top of the bridge in that town, it is hoped that all may turn out well in the end.

A Destructive Fire. At about 10:30 o'clock Monday forenoon an alarm of fire was sounded from the residence of Dr. J. W. Morrow on Elm street opposite Scowden & Clark's wagon factory and our volunteer fire department made a speedy response.

The fire originated in the rear of the building in the second story over the kitchen and had evidently been burning for some time before it was discovered, as it had burst through the side of the building before the hose company could be saved, but in a room had two lines of hose laid and two streams playing on the building, and many willing hands carried out the household goods.

In a remarkably short time the fire was under control, and all danger of surrounding buildings becoming ignited was past, and then our citizens began to appreciate the value of the new water plant, for it is an unquestionable fact that with nothing to fight the fire but the old "soda fountain" the building would surely have burned, for one charge of the cylinder of the chemical engine would not have lasted long enough to have gotten the fire under control, and the time lost in re-charging the cylinder would have given the fire such headway that the efforts of the firemen would have been fruitless.

When it is understood that this is the first fire we have had since the water works were put in, and that it was the first practical experience our firemen have had in fighting fire with city water, everybody will agree that too much praise cannot be given them for their prompt action, for they certainly made as good time as could possibly be made with a little practice. Tionesta will be able to boast of as good a volunteer fire department as any town in this section.

The loss on the household goods of Dr. Morrow was almost total. While the goods were nearly all taken out they were in such a damaged condition as to be practically worthless. The office fixtures were taken out in very good shape and the doctor says they could not have been handled better had he been there himself. Insurance on household goods, $400; on office fixtures, $500.

The building, which was for a number of years the place of publication of the Forest Press, which many of our citizens well remember, is the property of Mrs. Anna Adams, of Detroit, Mich., and was quite badly damaged by fire and water. Fully insured.

And now the superstitious chump says, "look out for two more fires, as they always come three in a row."

DIED. WOODINGTON—Mary M. Woodington died at her home in Tionesta township, on the first day of March, 1885 in the 64th year of her age.

The subject of this sketch was the oldest daughter of the late Jacob and Margaret Shriver, who were among the oldest settlers of Tionesta, Pa. She was born at Tionesta, March 15, 1821, in the 24th day of October, 1850, she was married to M. K. Riddle, a man widely and favorably known in this section and who died July 25, 1868, leaving to her mother-in-law a family of small children, all of whom, excepting those that died in their youth, she had the satisfaction to see grow up good and useful men, under her good care and training, and who mourn her departure from earthly life, viz: Samuel O. Bradford, Pa., Edwin M. of St. Joseph, Mo., James H. of Mannington, W. Va., and Theodore H. of Centre Point, W. Va.

On March 9, 1875 she was married to Jas. Woodington of Tionesta, and in that time lived at Edinburg, Pa., subsequently at Franklin and Oil City, returning with her husband about three years ago to Tionesta, where she remained until the time of her death.

Mrs. W., in both was a Presbyterian, and as stated by Rev. McAviney in his funeral sermon, joined the church here in the year 1850, being the first member of her organization, and was an active member and teacher of the Sabbath school of the church under the auspices of the Hamilton street congregation, in which she took a great interest, being present at the organization of Lower Township, No. 108, at Tionesta, which turned out in a body at the funeral. Also, an active member of the Woman's Relief Corps, G. A. R.

As a woman, she was kind and philanthropic; always in sympathy with those in distress, and will be mourned by others outside of her immediate relatives, and it may truly be said of her, "gone, but not forgotten."

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE. At a special meeting of Lower Lodge, No. 108, Daughters of Rebekah, at Odd Fellows' Hall, Tionesta, Saturday, March 7, 1885, the following resolutions were adopted: Resolved, that we sympathize with the bereaved family, and that we extend our condolences to the friends of the deceased.

Resolved, that a copy of this testimonial be published in our county papers.

DALE—William Dale, aged 75 years, a native of Pennsylvania, died February 8, 1885, from paralysis at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Lawrence.

He leaves a widow, two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Gordon, now here on a visit from Browns Valley, Pa., and two sons, both residents of Minnesota—Lodge, Tacoma, Wash.

William Dale was the second son of Jesse and Mary Dale, and was born Mar. 12, 1820, at the old farm in Tionesta township, two miles above Tionesta, where he spent the days of his youth, obtaining the common schools the elements of a fair education. Resided with his parents until married and engaged in farming and stock raising, and in the latter part of his life, he was engaged in the oil business. He was married in August, 1844, to Margaret A. Smith, who survives him. Aged and hale, with his family, moved to Prescott, Wis., where he made his home for the most part since.

His health failing about five years ago, he went to Tacoma, and was finally taken at the request of his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence, to gain his health, but in vain. In his later years he was consulted in his affliction by the attending physician, the son of his father, and was a member of the First M. E. Church of Tacoma. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Lodge of Odd Fellows. He was interred in the depot in shipment to Prescott, his home, for burial.

His life was a busy and active one; he held in the doctrine of a true apostle, "Fervent in spirit, diligent in business, serving the Lord." He was of a kind, gentle nature, benevolent to a fault, pleasing in his personal address, and generally beloved by all who were acquainted with him. He was a kind and faithful father and brother. The family consisted of ten children, five of whom are living, viz: Mrs. J. A. Lawrence, wife of C. S. Lawrence, of Tionesta, N. Y.; Emily Gorman of Tidoute, Pa., M. W. Dale, of Browns Valley, Minn., and Margaret Walters of Edinburg, Pa. Mrs. Dale was one of the pioneer families of this part of the State and stood high for her integrity and her piety. Her religion, the parents being people who loved God and set a good example to their descendants and the entire community, and their children, though widely scattered in this world, from the parent home, it is to be hoped will all meet as a family in the better land, of which they possess.

Beyond the flight of time. There surely is some blessed time, where life is not a breath, and faith holds us up here, and translated to that happy sphere.
