She Has Superannuated Children,

There lives in Lankwetz, Germany, an eighty-nine-year-old lady named Frau Marie Greseler, who on her last birthday counted in her numerous progeny a number of old tottering children, half a hundred or more middle-aged grandchildren, several greatgrandchildren, one of which has just presented her with a great-greatgranddaughter. If she lives sixteen or seventeen years longer (girls marry early in those parts) she may live to be great - great-great-grandmother.-New York Journal.

DRUNKENNESS IN THE NAVY.

Secretary Herbert, of the Navy Department, wisely decides that drunkenness will not be tolerated in the Navy, and that no officer either when on or off duty shall become intoxicated. His ruling is most sensible and practical, and deserves to be quoted literally.

Introxicated. His ruling is most sensible and practical, and deserves to be quoted interally: "Boards of examination should clearly un-derstand that drunkenness at any time and under any circumstances is inhibited by the law and the regulations of the Navy. "It is not true, as was contended in this case, that the Government is not concerned about the habits of a naval officer in his case, that the Government is not concerned about the habits of a naval officer in his case, that the Government is not concerned about the habits of a naval officer in his enness on convival occasions a vice in which naval officers can induge with impunity. The habit of drunkenness on duty or off duty is one that, like other habits, seizes upon and eventually controls the victim. Drunk-enness on duty is properly recognized in the regulations as a more heimous officers than when off duty, but a commanding officer at sea is practically always ou duty, and he certainly has no hours in which he could fie duige this habit. Nor is it to be permitted, either on or off duty, that a maral officer at a any time or under any circumstances."
