

THE FOREST REPUBLICAN.

J. E. WENK, Editor & Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1895.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

COUNTY.

Treasurer, JAMES H. FONES, Associate Judge, JACK McCRAE.

The Governor has signed the bill abolishing days of grace on drafts, promissory notes, etc. The bill does not go into effect until Jan. 1st, 1896, so as to give business men time to prepare for the new order of things.

A RELIGIOUS convention has again set the end of the world. This is all very well so far as it goes, but the trouble is the world refuses usually to come to an end on the day set no matter whether the brethren or sisters wear white robes and go up on the hilltops or not.

ACCORDING to Harrisburg exchanges, the appointees under the new Superior Court bill, which there is no longer any doubt that Governor Hastings will approve, will be Judge Wickham, of Beaver; ex-Judge Reeder, of Easton; S. A. Davenport, of Erie; A. N. Willard, of Scranton; and Judge McPherson, of Harrisburg; Geo. B. Orady, of Huntingdon. The minority representatives will either be ex-Justice Thompson or ex-Justice Heydrick.

"THE Tariff is settled," shouts the free-trader, and still there is a deficiency in the revenues of millions of dollars and one of the main sources of revenue, the income tax, is declared unconstitutional. Instead of a tariff for revenue only, the Democratic administration will probably have to resort to a policy of bonds for revenue only. This policy, like the tariff reform policy, will inure to the benefit of Great Britain. Her bond syndicates have a string to United States bond issues.

THE Democratic country weeklies are searching the Philadelphia Public Ledger with eager eyes for expressions of condemnation on the just closed session of the Legislature. They pick out the criticisms they want but carefully avoid to state that in the Ledger's opinion, as expressed in its editorial columns, the defeat of the Judges' Retirement Bill is the most outrageous act of the session. The Ledger is right on some things and cranky on others, and editors who are unfair and dishonest, who would endorse the devil if by it they could reflect on the Republican party, take advantage of Ledger's comments to mislead their readers.—Belleville Gazette.

ALL this talk about the Governor being compelled, for financial reasons, to veto many charity appropriation bills is mere bosh. Those who were in a position to know the State's financial condition, and who were in close touch with the appropriations committees of the last legislature, gave out the assurance that the money to pay these appropriations would be forthcoming if the bills were passed, and the members of the legislature were satisfied on this point before they consented to vote for them. If the Governor signs the bills the amount will be paid, but it is altogether likely that some of the bills will be compelled to loosen up on some of the State's funds which they have on deposit. The appropriations—private charities as well as common schools—will be paid and the Treasury of the Commonwealth will not be embarrassed.

THE organs of the Free-Trade party are now to the front with suggestions for raising sufficient revenue, which their "tariff for revenue only" failed to do. A tax upon tea, a tax upon coffee and an increased tax upon beer are among the more favored suggestions of the Free-Traders. This, of course is to be expected from the leaders of a party having no ideas of their own, and who are mere imitators of anything and everything that is English. Direct taxation upon every article that enters into general consumption, and which becomes a necessity of life, is the English idea of making life agreeable. Hence its recommendation for adoption by our Free-Traders. But what have they to say about it? The people have elected Protectionists to legislate upon revenue matters hereafter. The Protectionists will not pay the slightest attention to any of the suggestions of the Free-Traders, but will proceed to do what the Free-Trader could not—frame a Tariff law that will provide a sufficiency of revenue, and frame it in such a way that it will afford Protection to American, not to foreign interests.

CANADIAN eggs are coming right along. Last year in March we imported only 9,856 dozen; this year in March we bought from foreign countries 43,566 dozen. How does the farmer like this.

THE call for the Republican State Convention, to be held at Harrisburg, Aug. 28, states that it will nominate a State Treasurer and six Judges of the Superior Court. This indicates that Gov. Hastings will sign the bill creating the new court, which is now in his hands. The convention will consist of 289 delegates, a gain of 25 over the last convention.

THE Democrats of Butler county, in their recent convention, passed a resolution in which they arraigned the Republican party of this State "for its legislation in favor of corporations and against the interest of the people." This is truly refreshing, coming as it does from a party that has but recently completed gigantic back-door deals with the Sugar Trust, and whose President, after keeping a notorious corporation lawyer in the office of Attorney General, has promoted him to the head of the State Department, filling his place with a lawyer who is counsel for half a dozen railroads and other corporations. The spectacle is that of a bleary old gambler, with packed cards sticking out of his sleeves, leaning across the table at his opponent and scolding him for not playing fair.—Franklin News.

PROBABLY no more interesting case has occupied the attention of the New York courts for some years than that of John Wilson, whom a jury has just awarded a verdict of $14,000 with interest. Wilson's story is one of the strangest on record. He told how he was drugged, "shanghaied" and sent to Australia on a sailing vessel by his wife, with whom he could not agree. After a precarious existence at the antipodes he drifted to California. Some years after his novel deportation he returned to this city, when he discovered that his wife had divorced him in his absence, remarried and died, leaving to her second spouse the money she had inherited from Wilson's father. It was the money that he sought to recover, with the result above recorded. Taken all together, it is a case which certainly illustrates the fact that one half of the world does not know what the other half is up to. This strange story moves the Oil City Blizzard to earnestly hope that the publicity given to the novel method adopted by the late Mrs. Wilson to get rid of her spouse will not precipitate among us an era of "shanghaied" husbands who are no longer welcome at the family hearthstone.

The Flinn Road Bill.

The Flinn road bill authorizes the county commissioners, whenever they deem it necessary, to survey and make plans of the roads in the townships within their counties, for repairs or improvements, with permission to levy a road tax, and improve the highways on a petition, which must be approved by the Grand Jury and the Court. The law is not mandatory.

After going through the court procedure the commissioners are given the right to proceed to view and take for the county any property necessary for roads, subject to a system of appeals and exceptions. The bill provides for the appointment of a Board of Viewers in event of the commissioners being unable to agree with property owners, at $5 per day, whose report is also subject to exceptions for thirty days after being filed. The court has the power to confirm, modify or alter the report.

The bill also provides that bids must be regularly taken on all improvements made, contracts to go to lowest and best bidder. It applies to county bridges as well as roads.

The bill does not permit a levy of more than two mills for road building purposes. All roads or parts thereof remain under the charge of the Township Supervisors, as at present, until the commissioners' report or the report of the viewers, covering their improvements is confirmed by the court. They then become public county roads, and the Supervisors are relieved from their care.

It is not likely that many counties of the State will adopt the provisions of the bill, as it is practically of little or no use to rural districts.

NEWSY NOTES.

Miss Susan B. Anthony, who has returned from the Yosemite Valley, denies the report telegraphed from the East that she had resigned the Presidency of the National Suffrage League. She says she has not resigned and does not intend to do so.

Miss Suzanne S. Beaty, has been admitted to practice law in the courts of Clarion county. Miss Beaty has long been Court stenographer in Clarion county and her admission to the bar is a graceful compliment to a gifted and brainy woman.

The Supreme Lodge, A. O. U. W., recently in session in Chicago, elected these officers: Master workman, J. G. Riggs, Lawrence, Kas.; foreman, J. G. Tate, Nebraska; overseer, W. S. Hobson, Texas; recorder, M. W. Sackett, Pennsylvania; receiver, John J. Acker, New York.

Judge S. Newton Pettis, of Meadville, ex-minister to Bolivia, had his leg broken at Jefferson, O., on Monday of last week. He started to ride from the depot in a hack when the vehicle in which he was riding collided with another with which it was racing and was overturned and the judge's leg was broken.

Efforts to settle Frederick Douglass will contest out of court have failed and Mrs. Nathan Sprague, a daughter of Mr. Douglass, will commence a suit to enforce her rights. The action will be against Mrs. Douglass, the widow, her brother and Lewis H. Douglass, who are the Administrators of the estate.

Horace Greely told this story of himself: Soon after he went to learn the printing business he went to see a preacher's daughter. The next time he attended meeting he was considerably astonished at hearing the minister announce as his text: "My daughter is being grievously tormented with a devil."

Brig. Gen. Wiley has announced that the Second Brigade camp at Glencarm will be named "Gen. W. W. Greenland Camp," in honor of the late adjutant general. The valley railway company have completed a siding the entire length of the camp, and the water and gas companies are laying lines over the grounds.

Beyond a doubt, Titusville can boast of having the oldest bicycle rider in the country, says the Herald. Mr. James Rice, aged 82 years, has recently learned to manage a wheel and now enjoys a spin as much as the younger riders of the city. Mr. Rice is an active business man who does not appear to be over sixty years old.

Judge Greer of Butler is solidly against the idea of governing occupants of the bench in Pennsylvania law courts, and expressed himself as follows: There is no sense in the idea; it is at variance with all notions of American patriotism. No one will ever get me in a gown—it is all I can do to keep my coat on now, and unless a man wears it minus other clothes it would be very disagreeable. Robes were worn in a time when they were intended to awe the people. In this day, if a judge has not enough dignity without attempting to secure it in such a manner let him get off the bench. I don't know what Butler county people would say if I should rig up in one. It would cause a breeze, though.

A decision of interest to oil men and owners of producing territory was handed down by the Circuit Court at Findlay, Ohio, Wednesday. Hitherto it has been the custom of large oil companies to acquire as much property surrounding producing territory as possible and develop it at their leisure. When they have fully protected themselves by leasing all the territory available, they would drain the oil by wells on adjoining property, and thus save the expense of drilling numerous wells. A land owner whose property was being drained in this manner by the Ohio Oil company, which held a lease thereon, made a contract with a second party to drill eight wells. The Ohio Oil company got an injunction restraining the latter from developing his lease. The court, in dismissing the injunction, decides that the owner may proceed to develop his land, the Ohio Oil company having failed to do so under its contract. Many thousands of acres of land in Ohio are affected by this decision, and it is likely that hundreds of additional wells will now be drilled in order to hold the leases.—Pittsburg Telegraph.
