-At a special term of court held in Jefferson county last week the case of Fenn vs. Dickey and others was tried. The plaintiff's claim was for compensation for services alleged to have been rendered in 1886, in the sale of a large tract of land in Forest county. Plaintiff alleged that he had effected a sale of these lands for $400,000, under an agreement with the defendants, for which service he was to receive 5 per cent, of the purchase money. The jury gave him the full amount of his claim, with interest. This verdict, for $31,168 99, is in Jefferson county. The case will probably go to the supreme court .-Brookville Democrat.

Many localities in the state are still uffering for want of water. If it should freeze up before more rain falls, and considerable more, the inconvenience or casioned would be very serious.

Physicians of Wyoming county are greatly nuzzled over the peculiar case of Miss Pearl Barton, aged twenty years, of Wilkesbarre, who has been asleep continuously since November 28 and wh shows no sign of awakening.

Mrs. George Robinson, of Linesville, Crawford county, dropped a pin in one of her ears as she was in the act of relieving a tickling. All efforts to find the pin have failed and the strange part of it is that there is no pain or sensation of it being in the ear.

The Altoona Times tells that a young lady went into a Mifflintown store, selected a piece of cloth and asked what it was worth. "Four kisses per yard," said the gallant clerk. Like Harry Hayward, she stood pat and replied that she would take four yards. The cloth was cut off, nicely wrapped up and handed to the fair purchaser, who received it with a smile and said : "Send the bill around to my grand-mother; she will settle it."

Harry Hayward, the murderer of Catherine Ging, was hanged in Minneapolis on the 11th inst., at 2:05 in the morning, The murderer went to the gallows with a laugh on his lips, and went down with the trap just as he attered the words "Let her go, Megarden." The command was directed to the chief depnty. Prior to the execution the condemned man maintained the nerve and bravado which has made him infamous. For over a year, says the Renovo News, the mighty nimrods of Beech Creek township have been anxiously awaiting the opportunity of capturing what was called the "bull of the woods," which animal had been often seen, but which had safely escaped the many shots that had been sent after him. It remained for Robert Gunsailus to bring the animal down, which he did several days ago. The buck weighed 225 pounds. This is not such a monster as it might be. A few years ago deer of that size were quite common in these parts.

The latest case of suspended animation is reported from Wilkesbarre, Pa., where, as the undertakers were about to embalm the body of a woman, she awakened and shriesed, to the natural dismay of the embalmers. Only the fact that burial had been delayed to await the arrival of a brother, thus rendering embalming advisable, prevented a premature interment. Reports of similar cases are extremely rare, considering the vast daily number of burials, but even one is enough to cause disquietude and the wish that an infallible test of death be made obligatory on the attending phy-

Under a decision of the Supreme Court the modern roller process, used in many flouring mills in the count y, has been declared an infringement on a patent issued to one Samuel M. Bruna in 1878. Later be assigned it to H. B. and L. B. Keiper, of Lancaster, who brought suit to recover damages for the infringement. The court has ruled that every mill nsing the process must pay an indemnity of $100. Millers who have in use this process are now having notices served upon them to pay this sum. A representative of the firm of D. Elllis & Son informs us that the decision was obtained by default and that it will go back to the Supreme Court backed by the various States Millers Association,-Indiana Messenger.

The recent trial of Joseph Buzzard and his conviction in Mongomery county courts on charges of systematic burglary carried on in a string of towns alon . the North Penn Road, practically disposes of the Buzzard family and deprives the Welsh Mountain section of Lancaster of a profitable summer attraction. All of Joe's brothers are now in the penitentiary. His family connections otherwise disappeared soon after Abe Buzzard, the late evangelist, was convicted of a series of robberies committed while he was lecturing before interested audiences on the errors of his life, and after a period of 20 years the well-known terrors to law and order in the farming districts of Berks, Chester and Lancaster have been signally removed. There have been especially pertinent reasons for thanksgiving this year .- Philadelphia Times.
