Judge Noyes' Strong Stand.

Hon. Chas. H. Noyes, President Judge of this district, writes a lengthy and very able letter to Mr. E. Weatherby, of Russell, Pa., a fellow Democrat of his county, which appears in the Warren Evening News of the 26th inst. We are sorry that we are not able to give the entire letter, but the concluding paragraph will show the Judge's sentiments on the present situation:

"If I believed as the result of my own beloved study in the truth of the claims made by Mr. Bryan and his followers, I should at least give sufficient weight to the practically uniform testimony of the scientific students of finance to wish to proceed with some caution, step by step, and fear to take such a mad leap into the dark as alone will content these enthusiasts.

"It is clear that I cannot retain my convictions and principles and follow the Democratic banner while Mr. Bryan bears it down the dangerous path of repudiation and national dishonor. In Palmer and Buckner Democrats have candidates worthy of the best days of their party, and a dignified and manly statement of principles with which all Democrats should be content. But it is quite certain that either Bryan and Populism, or McKinley and safe and conservative government, will succeed in this election. It is necessary not alone to defeat Bryan, but to kill his cause. A scathed snake will but prolong the business paralysis from which we now suffer. In an emergency so great, all minor differences should be laid aside. A vote for Palmer and Buckner would be half a vote against Bryan and Sewall-Walker, but under the constitution and laws of our country I have been entrusted with a whole vote, and I feel it my duty to cast it on what seems to me the right side. I shall therefore vote, if I live, for McKinley and Hobart, and of course for our present distinguished and upright representative in Congress, Troy's years, CHARLES H. NOYES."

The real original "gold bugs" are Sewall, Stewart, Altgeld and Penoyer, each of whom is urging silver on the people and making their own contracts payable in gold.

I BELIEVE it is a good deal better to open the mills of the United States to the labor of America than to open the mints of the United States to the silver of the world.—William McKinley.

DON'T be deceived by any falsehoods that may be started in the last hours of the campaign. The several candidates have been before the people for many weeks and no story that may be sprung at the last moment may be depended on as calculated to deceive and mislead. Take no stock in eleventh hour "roarbacks." Everybody knows what they are started for.

REPUBLICANS should bend every energy, from this on, toward the bringing out of the full vote next Tuesday. It would seem entirely unnecessary to urge them out to so important an election, yet this being our last opportunity to speak to them before that day we cannot refrain from earnestly appealing to them to vote on hand early and casting their votes for the great champion of American labor and American industries, William McKinley, and the whole Republican ticket.

NO TARIFF bill ever framed was absolutely perfect. Human wisdom is not omniscient. But a tariff bill framed by the friends of protection will come much nearer to perfection than one framed by the enemies of the system, whose pleasure it would be to make it inefficient and obnoxious as possible. The only question, therefore, for one to decide is whether or not he believes in a protective tariff of any description; and having decided that he does believe in one, the only thing to do is to vote for the friends of the system rather than for those who would destroy it altogether. A difference in respect to schedules is of slight importance compared to a difference in fundamental principles.

THE history of protection is the record of the most prosperous and glorious 30 years of our national life. The marvelous development of our resources, the magical expansion of our industrial interests and the magnificent growth of the nation in power and influence have taken place under the fostering care of tariff protection. Wherever there has been a breakdown in the averages of prosperity, or wherever there has been a downward tendency in enterprises, wages or values, it has been due to a temporary departure from the protective principle and the adoption of free-trade. Protection has invariably been attended by good times, and low tariffs have invariably been followed by periods of depression and hardship. The vital issue of 1896 is protection. Keep it before the people and the people will do the rest.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

PROTECTION seeks to exclude from the home market all those things which can be manufactured in this country.

Side by side with protection goes its twin sister, reciprocity, the child of a Republican statesman. It seeks by special treaty arrangements bearing upon the tariff duties to find a market in foreign countries which gives to our farmers and laborers the same advantages they have at home. Concessions are made to them and in return they make concessions to us. But neither reciprocity nor protection for a single instant contemplates a reduction in wages either in the number of dollars or in the purchasing power of dollars.

Speed and safety are the watchwords of the age. One Minute Cough Cure acts speedily, safely and never fails. Asthma, bronchitis, coughs and colds are cured by it. Heath & Killmer.
