The President's "Change of Heart."

Who, looking forward, would have believed that the Wilson Gorman law in the last days of its existence would find its one friend in the man honor?" The stamp of Mr. Cleveland's approval, however, came a litwas before him, not as yet a law, but waiting for him, as President, to per- Creek. form the duty of his office and either he shirked. If Mr. Cleveland's Buzza, Dr. S. S. Towler, of Marienville, "change of heart" had come at that president of the County association, greetcourage for which he yearns with a mighty but unsatisfactory yearning; and it would not have reflected quite so seriously on his claim to ordinary business sense. At that time the in the future and a man enslaved by Real Object of Sunday School Teaching," a theory might close his eyes to them. But to day the evils of that law are in the past and the present. The industrial depression and distress have been such that no man could shut his eyes to them. The deficit in the Treasury is a fact which no man land himself has been obliged to publicly acknowledge by his issues of bonds, however he may quibble about the "endless chain" with his endless sophistries. And yet this industry destroying, deficit producing bill Mr. Cleveland thinks is a pretty good bill after all. Fortunately for the country the great majority of the people do not agree with him .- American Economist.

I HAVE discovered that the farmer always gets better prices when a lot of buyers are hunting him up rather than when he is hunting up buyers .-WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

The farmer has discovered this too, ployment of the wage earners, which is secured by a protective tariff. It under free-trade he would supply the world with agricultural products. It has not been so pleasant to find that the world did not want his products, and that those who had been his custrade, were no longer able to buy from him. But this is what he found out under partial free-trade. "There's a gude time coming," though.

In view of the many attacks on wills because of the alleged incompacity of the persons making them, a Connecticut legislator proposes a law to the effect that every individual who makes a will may deposit it with a legal officer who shall give public notice that a will has been offered, ar . that all who wish to question the testator's capacity shall have a certain time in which to do so; and if no objection is made, then the will shall not be subject to attack on that ground after death. The passage of such a law in all of the states would materially reduce the number of will contests, and promote the distribution of property according to the real desires of testators, besides lessening the fees of lawyers who now often get large shares of estates through controversies of that kind.

In the make-up of the standing committees of the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, Speaker W. Boyard. Boyer has had a hard tussle to please all, and of course, as in all previous HAVE YOU READ sessions his predecessors have failed in this respect, so has he; but it must be said that he has done well. Mr. Wenk of Forest has been placed on the following committees: Congressional Apportionment, Judiciary Local, Law and Order, Forestry, Pensions and Gratuities, Geological Sur-

WHEN all American wage earners are at work again, under the new McKinley protection, farmers will THE TIMES aims to have the largfind there is a better demand for their products, because the per capita consumption will increase instead of decreasing, as it has done under the present administration.

In the last Cuban rebellion American citizens lost property valued at $100,000,000, and they will suffer in the present war to a greater amount. The inconclusive hostilities that Spain is dragging on are ruinous to herself and a costly nuisance to others.

Forest County S. S. Convention.

The second annual convention of the Forest County Sunday School Association convened in the Presbyterian church at Tionesta, Pa., on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, Jan. 27-28, 1897. There was an unuasually large attendance of Delegates, superintendents and pastors in attendance of which the follow ing is a list : H. A. Lynch, John Stoughton and Mrs. Mary Whitmore, East Hickory; Mrs. Jennie Vail, Mr. James Carson and Mr. Allender, West Hickory : Rev. A. S. Stuart and wife, Mr. Josiah Work who a little over three years ago and wife, Redelyff; Mr. M. N. Zeller and called it a bill of "perfidy and dis- wife, Dr. S. S. Towier and wife, Mr. M. V. Patterson and wife, Mrs. Ed. Watson, Mr. Harriger, Mrs. A. P. Wallace, Marienville; Mr. J. Crossgrove, Mr. W. J. tle late. The time for that, if it was Landis, Clarington; Mrs. Harriet M. to be given at all, was when the bill Cook, Mr. E. E. Stitzinger, Mr. F. X. We would give the entire program as carried out, but on account of lack of space are unable to do so. Among the many papers read by the delegates we will mention a few, the first being one prepared by Mrs. Henry Shipe, of Marienville, who was unable to attend ewils of the bill lay in large measure in person and her paper, entitled "The was read by Mrs. M. N. Zeller. This paper was nicely gotten up and was well received by those present.

Mrs. Jennie Vall, of Hickory, then read a paper entitled "Opportunities and Encouragements," that was well rendered and received.

Mrs. A. J. Wallace, of Marienville, then read a paper on "The Real Sunday can deny and which President Cleve- School," that was very instructive and received the confirmation of the audience. Mr. Josiah Work, of Redelyffe, read a paper entitled, "A Half Hour With the Bible." This paper was excellently rendered and was very instructive. Wednesday evening Rev. H. U. Roop, Ph. D., State Supt. Normal Department, gave a Normal lesson on "The Book," which was excellent and received the bearty commendation of the audience. This was followed by an address by C. J. Kephart, D. D., State General Secretary which was very instructive and will prove of great benefit to the Sunday School teachers and superintendents of the county. On Thursday addresses were made by Rev. J. C. McDonald, Dist. Pres.; Dr. Roop, Dr. Kephart and others, and in the aftersoon one hour was donated to the children and the meeting was conducted which was consided by the delegates as a very enjoyable affair and all seemed to be well pleased and were jointly of the was very pleasant to listen to the opinion that to much praise could not be free-traders when they told him that given Mrs. J.
