Arnold, and C. W. Stone of Warren, besides the official endorsements of Erie, Crawford, Warren, McKean, Jefferson, Clearfield and Forest counties, and good endorsements from leading Republicans in Elk and Clarion counties, as well as the carnest support of the most prominent ones in seventeen of the twenty-four counties in the district. So that he feels he has a perfect right to be termed "in it" for the present at least.

Mr. Parrish is thoroughly competent in every respect to conduct the "in it of the twenty respect to conduct the" this on the work will make a better showing. The State at present is pretty well off financially. There was in State Treasurer Haywood's cash box at the close of business on April 30th the tidy sum of $3,800,000. HIS "EXTRAVAGANCE,"

The Silly Charge So Often Made Against the Workingman.

It is a favorite argument with some that the reason laboring men do not get on better is because of their extravagance. A writer in the Utica Globe, considering this, says:

Let us take a family consisting of husband, wife and four dependent children-surely not a very large community. Let us suppose the Court House, Tionesta Borough, on the bread winner is engaged at arduous manual labor. Now, would three an outlay of food of nine cents a day. the presence of each other. His wife must live, for, although women talk, they also work, and they must eat. That means nine cents more. Children, as anyone who knows must admit, consume as much food as adults-if they can get it. And thus for the family at three cents a meal, we have a daily outlay of 54 cents. Fuel is necessary. Suppose we allow six cents a day for it, or $21 90 a year. This is cer-

For a family of six—such as we are considering—15 cents a day, or $54.75 a year, for necessary spparel for the body and necessary goods for the bome, cannot be considered too much.

casionally getting sick. No one is exempt from that possibility, and so if we recken 2 cents a day, or $7.30 a year, to meet the doctors' bills no one will grumble, except perhaps the doctors themselves. He is a wise man who has himself and family insured, for should death overtake any member, more especially the bread winner, the burden thereby imposed would be well nigh unbearable. Suppose then we allow 5 cents a day to pay the premium on six lives.

We have not allowed one cent for luxury-for tobacco for the husband, for a street car ride for the tired mother and children, for books for the latter should they attend school, for a dentist's forceps to pull out an aching tooth, for church contributions, for one article of new furniture, for a broken lamp chimney, for hundreds of little things that are necessary to the happiness and comfort of a home.

And yet, excluding these things, almost as essential as food or raiment, we have a daily outlay of $1.12. Taking one working man with another in the United States to-day, excapting professional men, no such rate of wages is paid. Even if it were life would not be sustainable in comtor J. S. Mr. Charles H. "This is to certify that on May 11th I walked into Melick's drug store on a pair of crutches, boughta bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Baim for inflamatory rheamatism which had crippled me up. A prominent western newspaper recommends flax seed tea as an excellent remedy for whooping cough. It may be good but it is not to be compared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This preparation will allay the violent fits of coughing and make them less frequent and sovere. It also liquides the fough mucus, making it easier to expectorate. Complete recovery is much quicker, too, when this remedy is given. There is no danger in giving it to small children, as it is a pleasant syrup and contains nothing injurious. When yet a child Christopher Gillespie, with his parents removed to Mercer Co., Pa., and resided at Brownsville, where he grew to boyhood and manhoed. When about 19 years of age he came to Franklin, Pa., where he worked as a puddler in the rolling mill there. Afterward he came to Nebraska, this county, where he worked for George Lacy, engaged there in the lumbering business, for three or four years. Then he went to Tionesta where he followed plastering and brick laying for a time. From Tionesta he came to Ross Run where he lived for 14 years. He had a contract from Hamilton Stow of cutting and hauling logs, sawing them into lumber and delivering the lumber at Tionesta creek at ivering the lumber at Tionesta creek at be mouth of Ross Run. While at Ross Run he bought a tract of land on German Run he bought a tract of land on German Hill comprising 700 or 800 acres, including the farms now known as the John Dias farm, that owned by Andrew Weller, and the one owned by Peter Lovell. This he sold and then bought the property on Whig Hill. In 1865 he came to Whig Hill. He built the house in which he died, in 1867, and in which he has since lived with the exception of a very short time, during which time he occupied a house he had built near this one and which stands near the M. E. Church and which stands near the M. E. Church and which stands near the M. E. Church on Whig Hill.

A strange and sad feature of his death is that it is the first death in the house built thirty years ago, and his death is the first death ever in his own family.

September 22, 1835, he was united in marriage with Catherine E. Zuendel of German Hill, who was born-in Germany and came with her parents, Henry and Dorathy Zuendel, when but five years of age, to German Hill, where they settled and lived for a while, then moved to Fairview, Eric county, Pa., where they died.

He had a logical mind; this was quite apparent in his in-terpretation of scriptures a favorite mind; this was quite apparent in his in-terpretation of scriptures, a favorite theme with him. He was big hearted and tender hearted. Better advantages in early life would have shown him to be a man of more than ordinary powers and possibilities. As it it was his was a character that made itself felt, and his a personality that left a deep impression wherever and whenever he chose to ex-ert it in any direction.
