Death of Jane P. Morrison
Jane P. Morrison was born on May 1st, 1827, on the Holman flats along the Allegheny river, and was the third daughter of Hon. Alexander Holman, who raised nine children, seven of whom survive her. In 1851 she was married to Hugh Morrison, whom she had one son, A. W. Morrison, of the Morrison farm, near Tidoute,—her husband dying about 5 years ago. About two years ago she was attacked by grip and rheumatism, and soon became wholly helpless. She was brought to the home of her niece, Mrs. John Lockwood, so as to be near her physician, and died there on Thursday morning, May 6, 1897.

Her funeral was held from the U. B. Church on Saturday morning, May 8th, and was conducted by Revs. Fenton and Cunningham. The interment was in the cemetery at Tidoute, the burial service having been read by her brother, Rev. A. Holman of this place. She was a very great sufferer, and it is a great gain for her to be at rest.—Pleasantville Record.

Mrs. Morrison was a sister of Eli Holman, Mrs. J. G. Dale and Mrs. Dr. Hunter of this place and was well known by many of our older residents.

When John Wesley was in America.
Few people know that John Wesley was ever in America. Few know that it was he, and not Robert Raikes, who established the first Sunday-school in the world. It was John Wesley who preached the first Methodist sermon delivered in the United States. In The Ladies Home Journal for June Rev. W. J. Scott will tell in the "Great Personal Events" series the story of "When John Wesley Preached in Georgia," which is said to be one of the most interesting narratives in this most successful series.

Bicycles Personal Baggage.
At New York Tuesday the passenger committee of the Trunk Line association decided that bicycles would be considered personal baggage, except between United States and Canada. If this decision is approved and adopted it will mean that wheelmen have won a hard fight. The entire text of the resolution cannot be learned, but inasmuch as it means the transportation of wheels, it will be hailed with delight.

It has been the effort of wheelmen to secure the adoption of some such resolution by a tariff association, and on this meeting intense pressure was brought to bear.
