LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.
—Oil market $5.50.
—You can get it at Hopkins' store. If.
—Thanksgiving day one week from tomorrow.
—Underwear at red letter sale at Miles & Armstrong's. 11.
—Don't fail to look at the prices in Miles & Armstrong's red letter ad.
—Ladies who want the best and latest in shoes buy at Hopkins' store. It.
—The Kickapoo give a refined and pleasing entertainment, free for all. Free show. It.
—Revival meetings at the Free Methodist church, this place, were begun Monday night.
—We have received a third lot of capes and jackets. The quality and price make that line of business good at Hopkins'. 1
—Grand free entertainment by the Kickapoo Komeidy Co., at School Hall, Nov. 23d, continuing two weeks. 11.
—Rubber coats, rubber boots, mackintoshes, umbrellas, just in season at the red letter sale at Miles & Armstrong's. 1
—The W. C. T. U., of Clarion held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Christ. Painter, Saturday, Oct. 30, a large number being present.
—Bills printed at this office announce that a grand ball will be given in Leekingville hall Thanksgiving evening, Nov. 25th, under the auspices of the Nebraska Club. All are invited.
—Rev. H. B. Hart's lecture at the M. E. Church last Friday evening was listened to by a large audience which was well pleased and highly entertained by the talented young orator. The lecture was under the auspices of Tionesta Lodge, No. 369, I. O. O. F.

—F. P. Ammer, the husting confectioner, is making preparations for a large trade in holiday goods, and will furnish candies to the Sunday Schools throughout the county in any amount from 1 lb. to 500 lbs., at the lowest possible prices. Sunday schools expecting to have Christmas trees should consult Ammer before purchasing their candies. It.
—The subject at the M. E. Church next Sunday evening will be "A Problem in Addition." One week from next Sunday evening Rev. Buzza will begin a series of sermons on the Ten Commandments. All are cordially invited and made welcome. Quite a number have professed conversion at Mt. Pleasant church. The meetings continue with unabated interest.
—The lecture at the Court House last evening under the auspices of Washington Camp No. 420, P. O. S. of A., was well attended and highly entertaining to all present. Messrs. Weed and Colburn kept their audience in a good humor for more than two hours, as they eloquently pleaded for the highest patriotism and greatest love for the stars and stripes by the American people.
—Besides a bold attempt at robbery on the highway not long ago at East Hickory, there is reported a theft a short time ago in which transaction C. H. Church was the loser. Mr. Church had received a cow and had laid the money saved away, as he thought, safely, in a trunk. The trunk was opened and the money taken. The theft was committed in the day-time it is thought.
—Jack Welsh killed the first deer of the season, so far as we have heard, on Saturday last, up on Salmon creek. Chris Zundel of Ross Run was out on the same day, and after putting in several hours of faithful work and failing to get sight of any venison, started for home, but concluded he'd light up and have a smoke on the way. Settling his gun down against a tree and stepping up to an old dry snag he lit his pipe and then touched the match to the snag to warm his hands. While enjoying this diversion a fine buck walked up within thirty yards, took a look at him and learely galloped away. Chris has slain many a deer in his day, but doubtless he thinks a hunter never gets too old to learn and should keep his gun ever near.

Dead in His Bed.
The dead body of Wm. Moore, an unmarried man aged about 25 years, was found in bed in Room 23, Hotel Agnew last evening about bedtime. The young man had been here since Monday attending court, and had suffered severely from toothache for a day or two past. He had gone to his room shortly after dinner on Tuesday, and it is supposed that he took some morphia pills to allay the pain, and perhaps got an overdose, causing death. Lewis Whitton of Kellettsville was rooming with Moore, and discovered his dead body when he went to retire, about 10 o'clock in the evening. Coroner Morrow will hold an inquest to-day. The deceased made his home at Kellettsville, and was a freeman on the Tionesta Creek railroad. His widowed mother, Mrs. Wm. Moore, lives at Snyderburg, Clarion county.

Shot in the Face.
Last Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock Ernest, the 12-year-old son of Farmer John Wolf, who lives on the Tylerburg road, about five miles from Tionesta, met with an accident which may yet prove serious. The parents were away from home for the time being, when Ernest and his younger brother, Clyde, went out for a 22-calibre revolver, from a neighbor's boy about their own age, who they had sneaked it to them to play with. This they were doing by snapping it at one another, little realizing their danger. It happened there were one or two cartridges in the cylinder, and while Clyde was handling the weapon one of the loads was discharged, the ball entering his eye near the corner of the right eye, close to the nose.
The little fellow fainted and had not regained consciousness when his parents returned home later in the afternoon, horrified at the sight which met their gaze, while the younger brother was almost frantic with fright and grief. Dr. Bowman was quickly summoned, but was unable to extract the ball owing to the critical nature of his location. He dressed the wound, however, and next day the boy was getting along very well under the circumstances.
The Dr. thinks his patient will recover without further difficulty and that the eye will not be injured.
Court Minutes.
The only civil case on the trial list, that of Wagner vs. Erb, was tried on Monday afternoon, and resulted in a verdict of $23.08 in favor of plaintiff.
A jury was called in case of Theodore Koenig, charge of horse stealing, when the prisoner entered a plea of guilty as indicted and the jury was discharged. Prisoner was returned to jail to await sentence.
Case of Road Commissioners of Kingsley Twp., for neglect to open a new road in said Twp. was heard Tuesday morning and resulted in a verdict of not guilty and county pay the costs.
Jack Stroup, charged with passing a fraudulent check, pleaded guilty. Returned to jail to await sentence.
A case of larceny in which Mrs. Geo. Fulmer, her husband, defendant, was heard by the Court, and Mr. Fulmer was ordered to pay $50.00 a month for the support of his family.
Case of Com. vs. Jacob Merrell, charge of misappropriation of funds of the P. O. S. of A., on trial as we go to press.
GRAND JURORS' REPORT.
The grand jury report that they have acted upon five bills of indictment, of which four were found true bills and one not a true bill.
They also visited and inspected the county buildings and found them in proper condition. Also inspected the county bridge crossing the river at Tionesta and found it in good order.
They further recommended a wash stand to be placed in the Prothonotary's office in the Court House, and further recommended a new lock to be put on the door of grand jury room. S. T. CARSON, Foreman.
—Amner's stock of tropical and domestic fruits and vegetables is always the best that can be secured and the prices are the lowest. Now is the time to buy grapes. The last of the season are coming in.
—Probably the largest run of barges and flat boats ever made up on this place is being made this week. There are about forty barges and twenty-five flat boats, and the scene about the river bridge has been a busy one for the past few days. The amount of money involved in this run alone is about $50,000, which goes to show that the boat building industry in this section is no small affair, and is the cause of the distribution of quite a number of dollars among our laboring men.
—Quite an argument was held Wednesday with reference to a number of tame rabbits which were offered for sale at the Robinson & Popenay meat market on Washington street, it being held by several persons that the bunnies came under the game law and could not be sold any more than wild rabbits. There might possibly be a question if the rabbits had been fully dressed so that they could not be distinguished from wild ones, but as they had their jackets on there is no chance for an argument. The law applies only to wild rabbits and was passed to protect game, not domestic animals.—Tionesta Herald.
The whole argument amounts to nothing for the law as to sale applies only to deer, pheasant, quail, wild turkey and woodcock, except as to shipment from State. This is prohibited on all kinds of game.
—The Brookville Republican delivers this timely warning: The school furniture and supply fund is again on its rounds in this and adjoining counties, and it would be well for all members of school boards to be on their guard against those oily-tongued gentlemen. A scheme of these importunate salesmen is to visit the members of school boards at their places of business, and attempt to secure their signatures to schemes that contemplate the payment of considerable sums of money, which on fuller information are found to be practically valueless; and it sometimes occurs that fraud is practiced in representing that members of boards have approved of certain schemes when the opposite was true. The only safe method for school directors to pursue is to do their business as a board at regular meetings, when a quorum of members are present.

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS.
—C. F. Weaver was up from Oil City on business yesterday.
—Miss Bessie Glass spent the Sabbath with her parents at Tionesta.
—Miss Birdie Furman of Bradford is a welcome guest of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Richards.

—Mrs. Rachel Noble visited at Tidoute last week and was accompanied home by her granddaughter, Mrs. Clara Lewis.
—Misses Lydia and Pauline Merkle of Tidoute were guests of Mrs. Chas. Amann and Mrs. W. F. Blum, over last Sabbath.
—Mrs. J. P. Huling and children returned Monday evening from a month's visit with relatives in Washington county, Pa.
—Misses Amy Anderson and Emma Reynolds, who spent the past season in the Brocton grape belt, have returned home.
—Mr. J. B. Erb was a pleasant caller yesterday. He returns to-day to Elkins, W. Va., where his lumber interests are located.
—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Mong, of Wood county, O., who have been visiting old friends here the past two weeks, returned home to-day.

Recent Deaths.
GEO. W. ELDER.
Geo. W. Elder of Clarion, this county, died at his home there on Sunday morning, November 14, 1897. Mr. Elder was about 70 years of age. He had been sick from a serious affection of the bowels for ten days previous to his death. An operation was determined upon as affording the only possibility of his recovery. The operation was performed, but afterward gangrene set in and one week later he died as above stated. Mr. Elder had been a resident of Clarion for the past twenty years or thereabout. He had been engaged in the lumber business, and in boat building, for a part of the time he had lived at Clarion. For a number of years he had occupied and kept the Shields' House there also. His wife had been dead sometime previous to his death—a number of years. One son died a few years ago also. Of the children remaining are: Charles, John, F. S., Washington, Mrs. Emma Sinning, wife of Dr. Sinning, of Tionesta; Mrs. Ida Payne, Mrs. Jennie Cassett. The funeral services will be held this Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. He will be buried in the M. E. Cemetery at Clarion where his wife and son lie buried.
Mr. Elder was a good citizen, a quiet man in his life and conduct, a man of good repute, having the respect and esteem of neighbors and friends, an old man, and one for whom we may desiderate in this short and imperfect sketch say a good and a kindly word.

CARRIE HARKINSON.
Carrie Harkinson, aged 14 years, 7 months, 1 day, died on November 9, 1897. She was the oldest daughter of Robert Harkinson and wife, who now reside in Tionesta, Pa. She had a severe attack of spinal meningitis a year ago and the disease had left the lower limbs frightfully drawn and distracted. Ten months ago she was placed in a hospital in Pittsburg, Pa., for treatment to restore the limbs if possible. The treatment was ineffectual; the disease finally found its way to the brain in a violent form which soon brought death. She had been, during the year, a great sufferer, also months previous to her death and had experienced a real conversion of her soul, and passed over happy, willingly, sweetly. The remains were taken to Whig Hill and buried there on Friday last, Rev. J. E. Hilliard conducting the service.
About two months ago Mr. and Mrs. Harkinson buried another child, a younger daughter, at the same place.

Samuel C. Sloan.
Samuel C. Sloan, a former well known and highly respected citizen of Tionesta, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dr. F. T. Nason of McKeesport, Pa., on Saturday evening, Nov. 13, 1897. Mr. Sloan had been in declining health for a number of years, and for nearly a year prior to his death had been practically helpless from paralysis, during which time he was tenderly cared for at the home of his daughter above mentioned. He was born in Clarion county in January, 1820, and would have been 78 years of age had he lived till the coming January. For many years he resided at President, in Venango county, where he worked at carpentering. He moved with his family to Tionesta where he resided upwards of twenty years, and shortly after the death of his wife the family removed to McKeesport about five years ago where he made his home with his daughters. He leaves to survive him four daughters—Mrs. T. J. VanGiesen of Leechburg, Pa.; Mrs. W. R. Dunn, lately of Oberlin, Ohio; Miss Mary Sloan of New Kensington, Pa., and Mrs. F. T. Nason of McKeesport, besides several grandchildren. The remains were brought to Tionesta on Monday morning last and laid to rest in Riverside cemetery, Rev. J. V. McAninch of the Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased was a member, conducted brief funeral services. Of his kindred present at the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. VanGiesen and son, Dr. Lee VanGiesen of Leechburg, Miss Mary Sloan of New Kensington, Dr. and Mrs. F. T. Nason of McKeesport, and Mr. Charles Armstrong of Pittsburg.

Mrs. Sarah Craig.
Mrs. Sarah Craig died at the home of James Carson, Hunter Run, Tionesta Twp., Nov. 12, 1897, and was buried at Centerville, Venango county, Pa., on Sunday last. Her home was in Illinois, where she had resided for nearly 20 years. She was formerly a resident of this county and had come back during the past summer to make a visit to old friends, being with her friend Mrs. Jas. Carson when taken sick. Her age was upward of 80 years.

Memorial Services.
At the regular meeting of W. C. T. U. memorial services were held in memory of Neal Dow, who departed this life October 2, 1897. Devotional services were conducted by the President, after which selections were read by different members of the society, all bearing on his life of filial devotion to the cause he loved. It was a very impressive meeting and closed with prayer.
—MART T. IRWIN, Sup't.
—You can get it at Hopkins' store. If.
—Come early and secure your choice at Miles & Armstrong's. It.
—Benjamin Card, aged eighty-seven years, was burned to death in the Rock Grove district, near Franklin, Sunday morning. The bed in which he was sleeping caught fire.

Clarion Cuttings.
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cassatt, Tuesday, Nov. 24, 1897.
Mrs. Henry Maze is convalescing from an attack of fever.
Mr. G. W. Elder, who recently underwent a very critical operation for bowel trouble, died on Sunday, 14th inst.
There lives a man near our town who thinks he's wondrous wise. He came down town one night last week, and went home with two black eyes.
R. A. D.

GEO. W. ELDER.
Geo. W. Elder of Clarion, this county, died at his home there on Sunday morning, November 14, 1897. Mr. Elder was about 70 years of age. He had been sick from a serious affection of the bowels for ten days previous to his death. An operation was determined upon as affording the only possibility of his recovery. The operation was performed, but afterward gangrene set in and one week later he died as above stated. Mr. Elder had been a resident of Clarion for the past twenty years or thereabout. He had been engaged in the lumber business, and in boat building, for a part of the time he had lived at Clarion. For a number of years he had occupied and kept the Shields' House there also. His wife had been dead sometime previous to his death—a number of years. One son died a few years ago also. Of the children remaining are: Charles, John, F. S., Washington, Mrs. Emma Sinning, wife of Dr. Sinning, of Tionesta; Mrs. Ida Payne, Mrs. Jennie Cassett. The funeral services will be held this Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. He will be buried in the M. E. Cemetery at Clarion where his wife and son lie buried.
Mr. Elder was a good citizen, a quiet man in his life and conduct, a man of good repute, having the respect and esteem of neighbors and friends, an old man, and one for whom we may desiderate in this short and imperfect sketch say a good and a kindly word.

CARRIE HARKINSON.
Carrie Harkinson, aged 14 years, 7 months, 1 day, died on November 9, 1897. She was the oldest daughter of Robert Harkinson and wife, who now reside in Tionesta, Pa. She had a severe attack of spinal meningitis a year ago and the disease had left the lower limbs frightfully drawn and distracted. Ten months ago she was placed in a hospital in Pittsburg, Pa., for treatment to restore the limbs if possible. The treatment was ineffectual; the disease finally found its way to the brain in a violent form which soon brought death. She had been, during the year, a great sufferer, also months previous to her death and had experienced a real conversion of her soul, and passed over happy, willingly, sweetly. The remains were taken to Whig Hill and buried there on Friday last, Rev. J. E. Hilliard conducting the service.
About two months ago Mr. and Mrs. Harkinson buried another child, a younger daughter, at the same place.

Samuel C. Sloan.
Samuel C. Sloan, a former well known and highly respected citizen of Tionesta, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dr. F. T. Nason of McKeesport, Pa., on Saturday evening, Nov. 13, 1897. Mr. Sloan had been in declining health for a number of years, and for nearly a year prior to his death had been practically helpless from paralysis, during which time he was tenderly cared for at the home of his daughter above mentioned. He was born in Clarion county in January, 1820, and would have been 78 years of age had he lived till the coming January. For many years he resided at President, in Venango county, where he worked at carpentering. He moved with his family to Tionesta where he resided upwards of twenty years, and shortly after the death of his wife the family removed to McKeesport about five years ago where he made his home with his daughters. He leaves to survive him four daughters—Mrs. T. J. VanGiesen of Leechburg, Pa.; Mrs. W. R. Dunn, lately of Oberlin, Ohio; Miss Mary Sloan of New Kensington, Pa., and Mrs. F. T. Nason of McKeesport, besides several grandchildren. The remains were brought to Tionesta on Monday morning last and laid to rest in Riverside cemetery, Rev. J. V. McAninch of the Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased was a member, conducted brief funeral services. Of his kindred present at the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. VanGiesen and son, Dr. Lee VanGiesen of Leechburg, Miss Mary Sloan of New Kensington, Dr. and Mrs. F. T. Nason of McKeesport, and Mr. Charles Armstrong of Pittsburg.

Mrs. Sarah Craig.
Mrs. Sarah Craig died at the home of James Carson, Hunter Run, Tionesta Twp., Nov. 12, 1897, and was buried at Centerville, Venango county, Pa., on Sunday last. Her home was in Illinois, where she had resided for nearly 20 years. She was formerly a resident of this county and had come back during the past summer to make a visit to old friends, being with her friend Mrs. Jas. Carson when taken sick. Her age was upward of 80 years.

Memorial Services.
At the regular meeting of W. C. T. U. memorial services were held in memory of Neal Dow, who departed this life October 2, 1897. Devotional services were conducted by the President, after which selections were read by different members of the society, all bearing on his life of filial devotion to the cause he loved. It was a very impressive meeting and closed with prayer.

Dead in His Bed.
The dead body of Wm. Moore, an unmarried man aged about 25 years, was found in bed in Room 23, Hotel Agnew last evening about bedtime. The young man had been here since Monday attending court, and had suffered severely from toothache for a day or two past. He had gone to his room shortly after dinner on Tuesday, and it is supposed that he took some morphia pills to allay the pain, and perhaps got an overdose, causing death. Lewis Whitton of Kellettsville was rooming with Moore, and discovered his dead body when he went to retire, about 10 o'clock in the evening. Coroner Morrow will hold an inquest to-day. The deceased made his home at Kellettsville, and was a freeman on the Tionesta Creek railroad. His widowed mother, Mrs. Wm. Moore, lives at Snyderburg, Clarion county.
