Now ties just in at Miles & Armstrong's, it.

C. Russell pays cash for beef hides, pelts and fur, it.

If it is a good thing you got it at Miles & Armstrong's, it.

A special meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held next Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 7, at 8 o'clock.

It is the wearing qualities of the shoes that keeps the shoe trade steady at Hopkins' store, it.

If you wear clothes, why not buy one of those fine suits just received at Miles & Armstrong's, it.

And now the deer season has ended. The season for smaller game continues till the 15th inst.

Hopkins has a few ladies' capes and jackets left and the price on them is going to sell them, it.

Ladies outing flannel wrappers, $1.00 at Robinson's, also fleece lined ones for a little more money, it.

Now is the time to plant your advertisement if you wish to reap any of the harvest of holiday shoppers.

Jacob Heisel and Jacob Briggs had a hearing before Squire Randall Monday afternoon on the charge of appropriating a quantity of Walter Dawson's honey without Walter's consent. The Squire required each to give bail in the sum of $300 for their appearance at next term of court, in default of which they were remanded to jail. Charles Butler was arraigned before Squire Randall on the same charge yesterday afternoon, but was released on bail for his appearance at court.

You can get it at Hopkins' store, it.

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS.

Miss Maude Denison of Grove City, is visiting her mother, Mrs. V. G. Armstrong.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Foster May, of East Hickory, Saturday, Nov. 27, 1897, a daughter.

Miss Tillie Jones of Jamestown, N. Y., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. E. L. Hickman.

Miss Blanche, Hunter, teacher in Howe twp., was home for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Setley, of the North Ward, Sunday, Nov. 28, 1897, a daughter.

Rev. S. F. Marks of Tidoute called on a number of Tionesta friends between trains on Monday.

Miss Etta Hunter, daughter of D. W. Hunter, visited Tionesta friends a few days of last week.

Miss Violet Daugherty of Oil City was the guest of her cousin, Miss L. Fulton over last Sabbath.

Mrs. J. N. Davies of Warren spent a part of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brennan.

Miss Francess Bates returned home Friday from an extended visit with relatives at Tionesta.—Tionesta World.

Dr. and Mrs. Will Morrow, and Miss Nannie of West Hickory spent Thanksgiving with their parents in Tionesta.

Miss Anna Blakely, and brother, Donald, of Franklin, were guests at the home of A. B. Kiley, of this place over Sunday.

O. F. Miles returned Monday from Lawrence county, leaving Mrs. Miles and Floyd with her parents for a week or so longer.

Mrs. P. Joyce was in Oil City last Thanksgiving evening and had the pleasure of listening to Father Doyle's wonderful temperance discourse delivered on that evening.

Editor McKnight of the Oil City Herald, with his family, enjoyed Thanksgiving in Tionesta, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Campbell, whose children were all gathered at home on that occasion.

W. W. Kribba, one of Marienville's wide awake merchants, was in Tionesta a day or two last week in the interest of the Standard gas light, and as a result many of our business places are lit up with electricity.

George M. Kepler, a former well known citizen of this place, but of late living with his son, Clark Kepler, at Corry, Pa., suffered a stroke of paralysis a few days ago, and is now in the hospital at that place.

Now that the game season is about over there will be less accidents chronicled from the careless handling of firearms, but this will not diminish the number of sad accidents, for the time has arrived when the small boy, whose leisure is mostly given to coasting on the sidewalks, will run into a fence or lamp post and break his collar bone or a limb or else run into pedestrians who are compelled to be constantly on the lookout when near street crossings. Coasting and skating on the walks by the children of this place has become such a popular pastime that it is an unendurable nuisance and should be stopped before some one is seriously injured.

A Correspondent on the Institute.

Your issue of last week serves notice on your many readers of what may be expected at the Farmers' Institute, Dec. 10-11. The objects of those annual institutions are very broad along the line of instruction, and we only wonder why we who so long in learning to appreciate their real benefits.

In looking over the program as outlined last week, we are unable to conceive of one individual who is not in some way interested in our farmers' institutes. We are certainly all interested in farming, either directly or indirectly. We are also interested in the matters of public interest, such as our roads, schools, homes, etc. If we desire or expect to make advancement in those departments of knowledge, we must necessarily make use of the means within our reach in order that we do advance properly. If it were not for the brain power as well as for the interchange of views brought into requisition in the recent past, the rolling of the reaper and the rattling of the mowing machine would be unheard by us, and although we as a nation stand in the front rank of civilization and commendable advancement along the line of comfort and happiness, we are not to suppose that the highest point possible to attain is already attained by us.

Light, as in the material creation was the first substance created before the chaos was reduced to beauty and order, so in the intellectual world, education, or light in the understanding, is the commencement of every process that leads to improvement, comfort and happiness in the world. Why should we not as farmers, and those interested, and all are, become more interested in the march towards future improvement in our country. Come, let us talk together about our farms, our stock, roads, schools and that which makes our homes prosperous and happy by perpetual advancement, etc.

Now a word for the gentlemen sent to us by the Commonwealth to discuss those subjects with us at our institutes. They are not, as many suppose, men who have acquired their knowledge from books, etc., but they are men who are farmers, having a practical knowledge of farming; men who know by experience that more brain power and less physical power will bring about better results on the farm. Truly, we are anxious and hope to see a greater degree of interest manifested in our coming institute, and we certainly have no cause for complaint over the past.
