Republican Primaries Next Saturday.

The Republican primary election of Forest county will take place next Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 7 o'clock. Chairman Evans has forwarded all necessary blanks and tickets to the several members of the county committee whose duty it is to see that they are at the different polling places in ample time for the opening of the board promptly at 2 o'clock. The Republicans of the county should turn out to a man at the primaries and cast their vote for the candidate of their choice, thus the ticket will be one which all can cheerfully support in the fall as the free and untrammeled selection of the party. Don't stay at home and then complain of results. Turn out and help make results.

SINCE Dewey swiped the whole thing the Spaniards will more than ever protest against Yankee pigliness.

THEY say Commodore Dewey has been made a rear admiral. This won't satisfy the American people. Nothing short of "front" admiral will go with our folks.

In a short time we can refer to it as "the late war," and then there will be no necessity for referring to that other "late" family quarrel. The present unpleasantness with Spain is worth all it will cost as a means of effectually effacing any lingering bitterness occasioned by the civil war.—Blizard.

In the Senate Monday Senator Hale presented a bill permitting Dewey to be Rear Admiral. In the House Mr. Boutelle did the same. The bill passed both Houses. Senator Lodge presented and the Senate passed a resolution authorizing the President to present a sword to Dewey and medals to the officers and men under him who were in the battle at Manila. It appropriates $10,000 for the purpose.

HON. W. O. SMITH, who has made Ponzotawney famous by his Spirit, and has served Jefferson county with distinguished ability in the State legislature during the past four sessions, has now shied his castor into the Congressional contest in his district. He will doubtless have no opposition in his own county, but will perhaps have to fight for the district nomination. It goes without saying that Bro. Smith should have this honor without a contest. In point of fitness, adaptability for legislative work, and general git-there-attiveness when anything is wanted for his people, he easily outtops all competitors. He is not warlike in his make-up, nor yet a peace-at-any-price statesman, but, like some of the rest of us, will promptly show his patriotism by refusing to crowd in ahead of a good man anxious to enlist. Overshadowing all these qualities, however, stands out boldly the fact that he is a farmer, and expects this very season to have the best garden patch in Punxy, for he has hired an expert to handle the spade and hoe while he furnishes the science and the brain—after all the secret to a farmer's success. We trust the good people of the 21st district will nominate our talented friend Smith. Had we the doing of it, he'd win hands down.

DWEY'S VICTORY.

The Great Naval Commander Absolutely Destroyed the Entire Spanish Squadron in Manila Bay, and he has complete Command of the Situation.

WORLD'S GREATEST NAVAL BATTLE

The announcement in Washington of the arrival of the revenue cutter McCulloch at Hong Kong came to the Navy Department in a cablegram containing simply the word "McCulloch" and signed Brunn, the name of the commander of the vessel. It reached the Navy Department at 4:50 a. m., Saturday.

Following this came cable dispatches from Commodore Dewey.

In brief Commodore Dewey states that he has silenced the batteries completely, that he cut the cable himself and that he has the bay and everything else completely at his mercy. He has, however, been unable to take possession of the town of Manila for lack of men. The vessels he destroyed were: Isla de Cuba, Reina Christina, Castilla, Antonio Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria, and the Velasco, all cruisers; El Cano, General Lazo, Marquis del Duero, gunboats; Isle de Mandanao, an armed transport.

It is said at the Navy Department that its advices show that Dewey's forces were not sufficient to make a landing, but that this in no way interferes with the complete control he exercises over the city and its fortifications.

The second dispatch from the commodore is as follows:

Cavite, May 4.—I have taken possession of naval station at Cavite on Philippine Islands. Have destroyed the fortifications at bay entrance, paroling garrison. I control bay completely and can take city at any time. The squadron in excellent health and spirits. Spanish loss not fully known, but very heavy; 150 were killed, including captain of Reina Cristina. I am assisting in protecting Spanish sick and wounded; 250 sick and wounded in hospital within our lines. Much excitement at Manila. Will protect foreign residents.

Dewey. In this great battle only six of Dewey's men were slightly wounded, and his fleet suffered very little damage. The Spanish loss in killed and wounded is thought to number fully 2,000, their own reports making the loss 628. Such a record is without a parallel in the annals of modern warfare. It was the boldest of bold and daring undertakings for the plucky Commodore to enter a harbor so fraught with danger, and face an enemy so treacherous and formidable. Only the coolest of cool heads could think of such a thing, and to show that such was Dewey's condition it is only necessary to state the fact that after the first engagement with the desperate Spanish squadron and shore batteries, in which he sent them reeling, bleeding, burning and sinking he calmly retired to the opposite side of the bay and the whole party quietly rested and prepared and ate breakfast, after which they brushed up and went at it again, this time cleaning up the job, and raising the American flag over Manila's harbor.

Oh, Dewey! thou art a gem. The German Press.

If the German newspapers reflect the sentiment of the people of that country on the question of the Hispano-American war, then the German people are woefully misinformed as to the facts. If it would be right for a big, strong man, to stand off and watch another big, strong man kicking and beating his starving children, without offering a word of reproach, then it would be right for the United States to refuse to interfere in Cuba. There are higher laws than the laws of nations. The laws of love and humanity, which are God's own laws, transcend all others. Treaties, precedents and constitutions are mere technicalities when compared with the sublime principles of kindness and human liberty. The German press imputes to us all sorts of selfish and base motives, and puts Spain in the position of an innocent and outraged nation. A nation that has produced so many broad-minded philosophers and brilliant investigators as Germany, ought to know better. The test of humanity and religion is found in a compliance with the divine injunction "feed my sheep." The Cubans are starving, physically and intellectually. A people held in bondage, even if well fed, must become depraved. We have intervened in Cuba to prevent the extermination of a people imbued with the spirit of freedom, and to restore liberty and law and love and life, to the most fertile island on earth. Those German newspapers which are discolored and distorting the facts, and leading the people of Germany to believe that we are a nation of bullies, who would wantonly increase the miseries of poor, decrepit old Spain, are committing a crime against the progress and civilization of the age. If the people of Germany were correctly informed, it is impossible that they should sympathize with Spain.—Punxy Spirit.

All Eyes Now on Sampson.

The news of the complete wiping out of the Spanish squadron at Manila is hardly read, until the American people turn their attention to other quarters for fresh laurels, and all eyes are now turned toward Admiral Sampson, who is hourly expected to meet Spain's most formidable war fleet at Porto Rico. On this engagement the probable length of the war largely depends. Should Sampson be anything like as successful as Dewey at Manila, the war will have practically ended, though Spain may hold out for some time, and carry on a sort of guerrilla warfare. But we must not expect too much of Sampson, as we are apt to be in the light of victories just achieved. It must be remembered that the Spanish fleet is not much, if any, less formidable than the American. The greatest difference after all is in the men who will man the guns and direct the engagement, and on this the Americans rely the most, as the Spanish fleet is said to consist of seventeen war ships, while ours has but seven, and some of the former are in about the same class as our best ones.

And so all eyes are now on Sampson and his brave boys.

SAMPSON'S FLEET.

Admiral Sampson's two big battleships are equivalent to any four vessels the Spanish may have in the vicinity of Porto Rico. There is considerable conjecture as to the ships Sampson is expected to fight to-day and it may be, that none of those reported to have left Cape Verde, had any intention of crossing the Atlantic. Sampson's two best vessels, the Iowa and Indiana, are each of over 10,000 tons displacement and have speed of about sixteen knots an hour. The Iowa has four 12-inch, eight 8-inch, six 4-inch rapid fire, twenty 6 pd., besides four machine guns and six torpedo tubes. The Indiana's armament is very similar, except that she carries four 13-inch guns and seven torpedo tubes. These vessels are heavily armored and are expected to stand the brunt of the fighting. The cruiser New York is as big as the Visayas, and a good deal swifter. It is only lightly protected and carries six 8-inch, twelve 4-inch rapid-fire, eight 6 pd., four 1 pd., and four machine guns. Sampson's other cruiser the Montgomery, has two 6-inch, four 4-inch, four 6 pd., three 3 pd. and two machine guns. The two monitors, the Terror and the Amphitrite are each of about 4,000 tons displacement and each carries four 10 1/2-inch and four machine guns. The torpedo boat Mayflower has a speed of twenty knots an hour and carries two 5-inch guns in addition to the usual torpedo tubes and smaller guns.

The Spanish squadron that is now probably in Porto Rico harbor, consists of the Infanta Maria Teresa, the Almirante Oquendo, the Cristobal Colon and the Viscaya and three torpedo boat destroyers, the Furor, the Pluton and the Terror. All four cruisers are of nearly the same displacement, 7,000 tons and carry about the same armament. Each one is armed with two 11-inch, ten 5 1/2-inch Honoria guns and from twelve to sixteen guns of the smaller type and from four to eight torpedo tubes. They are all very swift vessels and could easily keep out of reach of our battleships and monitors if they chose. Seventeen Spanish vessels have been reported as hovering about Porto Rico but it is not at all probable that the actual fighting force of the squadron is much greater than given above. And it may be that Spain is still pursuing her old tactics and keeping her fleet within easy reach of Madrid. In that event Admiral Sampson's squadron will have to hurl itself against the fortifications in San Juan harbor. His entire fleet, with the single exception of the New York are full iron clads, covered with nickel-steel Harveyized plate. Nine inches of this is more than equal in resisting power to twelve inches thickness of the older armor of the Spanish vessels.

The engagement will be awaited with the greatest interest. It will give American gunners their first opportunity of hurling thirteen-inch shells, at a modern fortification. Upon Admiral Sampson's success depends the speedy termination of the war. If Porto Rico is subdued, there will be little necessity for Havana making a fight of it. Spain may endeavor to oppose a treaty of peace but it will be only a show she had used ever since she is compelled to succumb.—Derrick.

From the Fairhaven (N. Y.) Register.—Mr. James Rowland of this village, states that for twenty-one years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or a pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says no medicine which she had used ever did her as much good.
