A few more rugs at 50c up at Miles & Armstrong's. Blackberries and huckleberries are ripe and very plentiful.

Go to Anslor for nice, fresh groceries, cigars and tobacco. You can't judge the quality by the price Hopkins asks for clothing.

Bargains in "odd lots" of shoes, suits, hats, etc., at Miles & Armstrong's. The people of Emulston are rejoicing over the fact that the bridge at that place has been made free.

Instead of calling our naval vessels warships, an exchange says we should refer to them as "whalers."

Go to friends for advice, to women for sympathy, to strangers for charity, to Phoebe for shoes and to Hopkins'.

A writer who probably knows says "the dollar you pay back looks twice as big as the one you borrowed."

The woodworkers and finishers of the Mantle works will go against each other in a game of ball next Saturday.

The W. N. Y. & P. will run their annual Sunday School excursion to Chautauqua Lake on Thursday, Aug. 11.

The men in Sampson's fleet will receive $170,000 in prize money; $100 for every one of the 1,700 captured prisoners.

The excursion to Niagara Falls was well patronized from this place and Hickory, as 21 tickets were sold at each station.

Two Oil City men, who went to the Alaska gold field last spring, have returned home, but the $3,000 they took with them has not.

Morrison's general store, at Thompson's, was destroyed Monday morning by fire which is thought to have been of incendiary origin. Loss about $1,000; insurance, $500.

Trix Anderson and Henry O'Hara, two of our popular tonorial artists, have "pooled their issues" and purchased the barber shop of Chas. Russel. Both these young men are first-class workmen and are deserving of a large patronage, which they will undoubtedly get.

It is perhaps not generally known that a law was passed by Congress a few years ago that the national songs, "Yankee Doodle," "America," and "The Star Spangled Banner," must not be played as a medley, nor with "variations," but the tunes pure and simple.

A lot of young chumps from this place who have not been on a diamond this year, but who got it into their heads that they were natural born ball players, went over to Marienville last Friday and got "trimmed" to the tune of 50 or 60 to something or other.

While our naval and military heroes take little part in politics very many of our readers will be curious to know what their political faith is. It is understood that Schaly, Evans, Lee and Hobson are Democrats, and Dewey, Merritt, Miles, Sampson, Shafter, Clarke and Watson are Republicans.

The last census reports Clarion one of the healthiest places in the United States, a fact not to be wholly overlooked by young people about to attend school. An altitude of 1530 feet, a clean, pure atmosphere, brisk winds, freedom from fogs, pine clad hills, etc., go to make it a very attractive spot.

Capt. Geo. Stow Post of this place is in receipt of a very pressing invitation from Mrs. Ida (Stow) Garlick to come in a body to the National G. A. R. encampment at Cincinnati in September, and he has guests while in the city. As a sister to the revered comrade in whose honor the Post was named, Mrs. Garlick is anxious that his surviving comrades should partake of her hospitality, and we feel assured the old boys will enjoy a royal time if they accept this kind invitation.

—An exchange says when the signs of the zodiac are in the heart is the time to cut underbrush so that it will stay killed. This year cut willows, sassafras, sumac, or in fact any other brush, on August 13, 19, September 14, 15, October 11, 12, 13, November 8, 9, or December 5 and 6, and they will not bother you again.

—The drillers on one of the wells on Cooper, Rock & Co.'s lease on Cropp Hill when at a depth of about ninety feet struck a twelve-foot vein of kennebec coal. This is the finest oil producing coal known and if the deposit proves a very large one after further investigation, a company will probably be formed for developing the find.

—A party of boys under the management of John Ritchey and Clyde Foreman will give an entertainment in Boyard's hall next Friday evening. It will be a variety show consisting of tableaux, farces, songs, jokes, etc. The price of admission will be 5 cents and the proceeds will go to the Red Cross society.

—Lyman Cook of Nebraska now rides a high grade chainless Columbia, probably the first one in this county. Mr. Cook is agent for the Hartford and Columbia high grade wheels and will be pleased to confer with anyone desiring a purchase. The prices range from $25 to and all wheels have a guarantee for a celebrated Pope Manufacturing Co.

—The lumber mill of Hammond, Wiltzie, at Seldom Seen, caught fire Monday while the men were at dinner and was totally destroyed. We understand that the loss was partly covered by insurance. It is not expected that the mill will be rebuilt on the old location. One of the men lost a valuable watch and chain.—Marienville Express.

—Prince Bismark, the celebrated ex-chancellor of Germany, diplomat and warrior, expired at Friedrichsruhe, near Berlin, Germany, Sunday night, in the 84th year of his age. Bismark was unquestionably one of the greatest men of the Nineteenth century and probably no man bore a more world-wide reputation. His demise will be a sad blow to the German Empire.

—A farmer quoted by the Waterbury American says of the caterpillar nuisance: "Every year I hear of the caterpillars destroying whole orchards. There is nothing so easy to dispose of. I bore a hole in the tree deep enough to reach the sap, fill the hole with sulphur and plug it up. The sap takes the sulphur to every limb and twig, and the caterpillars disappear at once. I have used it for years."

—There is not a ship in the American navy of any importance named in honor of Pennsylvania or any of its towns and yet many of them are built in Pennsylvania ship yards. Pennsylvania armor protects them, Pennsylvania projectiles and powder defend them, and Pennsylvania coal propels them. Why no honor has been conferred on Pennsylvania seem to be a matter entirely overlooked.

—Twelve companies of 106 men each have been secured and Whiteset's regiment of "six footers" is a sure go. Capt. Robert C. Benner has about completed his list and there is no doubt but the six footers from this neck of woods will be able to "stack up" with any in the regiment. There is still room for more on the list. Don't be backward, boys, but go to Amann's shop and get your name in history.

—The Overlander roller grist mill has been thoroughly renovated and repaired and is now ready for business. Remember that Overlander is the miller, and can turn out just as fine wheat, rye or buckwheat flour, cornmeal, chop or any kind of feed as can be ground anywhere, and his terms are always the lowest. He has secured the assistance of one of the best millers in the country, and now awaits your order.

—In accordance with a late act of Congress, second, third and fourth class mail matter can no longer be forwarded by postmasters to a new address or returned to the sender unless the postage is sent to him in advance with the request for forward. Come and see. Sale begins at 1:00 o'clock, p. m. GEORGE RAAB.

Fire at Endeavor. Last Sunday a bad fire occurred at what is called Polandtown, about a mile above Endeavor, and four houses were totally destroyed. The fire originated in the house occupied by Herb. Taft, and spread from there to the houses of John Taft, E. E. Zuendel and John Whitehill. The whistle at the Endeavor mill was blown and all turned out and helped to remove the goods from the houses and all were gotten safely out with the exception of those in Herb Taft's house where the fire originated. His loss will be in the neighborhood of $100. The houses were old board structures and of very little value and the loss on them is very meager. The families who have been made homeless are being provided for by friends for the present and it is expected that the company will immediately build a number of new houses.

Where Will You Spend Your Summer Vacation. The W. N. Y. & P. By announce two delightful excursions to the Thousand Islands, to be run July 23rd and August 20th. The train will leave Tionesta at 8:45 a. m. Fare round trip $6.50. Tickets will be good ten days returning.

—Wade A., son of Addison Shriver of Tionesta township, died at his home Wednesday, July 28, 1898, aged 13 years, 3 months and 18 days. The cause of his death was valvular disease of the heart, from which he had been a sufferer for about two years. He was an exceptionally bright boy, was of a lovable disposition and quickly made friends. His early demise is a sad blow to his fond parents and the sympathy of the entire community is extended to them in their bereavement.

Two Drowning Accidents. A very sad drowning accident occurred in the Allegheny river at Walnut Bend last Saturday morning when the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stillier met her death. The mother and two children had started to drive to Oil City and the father was ferrying them across the river when the horse backed off the boat and the buggy and occupants were thrown into the water the horse falling on top of them. Carlton Klinger, who ceased to witness the accident from his residence near the river, jumped into a skiff and quickly went to the rescue. He succeeded by hard work in saving the woman and the elder girl, but the younger one and the horse were drowned.

Another sad death by drowning was that of Eddy Skelly, the bright young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Skelly of Oil City, which occurred at Rockwood Sunday afternoon, while he and a number of companions were bathing in the river at that point. The boy was 16 years of age and was the oldest of a family of six children. This should be a warning to our boys to be more careful of each others' welfare while in bathing.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumpston, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by G. W. Boyard.

Letter From Rev. Mr. McAninch.

NORTHFIELD, MASS., July 29, 1898.

Dear Editor: Monday, July 25th, seems to have been the day set for the beginning of clergymen's vacation. No less than four of the Presbyterian ministers were on their way to different points in the East and another going in another direction, all from Oil City to Warren. Rev. Smith, lately dubbed D. D., and I are itinerating together. We separated, however, in Philadelphia, to meet later in New York, he to visit a friend and I to visit the 14th Reg. Pa. Vol. at Fort Matt, N. J. where my nephew, L. M. Baker, of Pittsburg, is in Co. I.

I went down on the Delaware side of Delaware City as I learned by the papers Co. I was transferred to Fort Delaware on the island, I got a man to row me to the fort, about three miles. It was a pleasant ride, as the water was smooth and I saw the boat was in skillful hands. Last year while rowing across the channel at Bayonne I was nearly upset by the boy running into the waves of a passing boat and this time I was not taking any chances of a spill a mile or so from shore. I got a good man. At the war I found Co. I had not arrived and Co. E, whose place it was to take, was just embarking for Fort Mott on the New Jersey side. The boys were very kind and told me to get in with them as Co. I would be detained some time. We sat in the boiling sun nearly an hour waiting for a breeze. Finally it came and I had my first ride in a sail boat. I got a snap shot of the boat and men, and by the way this was the picture I got. They do not allow any camera to carry a camera about the forts. I left the good hands—the sergeant of the boat was stationed there. I left it by special request. The forts are both formidable, commanding completely the river at this point. The 10 and 12-inch disappearing guns are surely monsters of death. Work is being done on both forts, fitting them for better and more efficient service. Boats were lifting the mines, which I believe were all taken out that day.

Then I went to the camp of the 14th. It had been a wheat field, but now trodden down smooth by the tramp of the boys and affords visitors a good opportunity to see the maneuvers. I saw the regiment relieved at 6:30 p. m. Only six companies were out, two being at Fort Delaware and Co. E had just moved into camp from that place.

I really had a taste of army life. Shakespeare says something about having "a stomach for the fight," and I found it to be true even to watch a parade comfortably. I was wondering what I should do for supper—the nearest hotel (Salom) was six miles away, when E. F. Lithgow of Co. A, formerly of Oil City, said if I could eat it he would furnish my supper, and he did. It consisted of boiled onions and tomatoes put together in a tin plate, a large tin cup of coffee and another of milk (I don't know how he got the last for it was not on the bill of fare), and two big slices of bread (no butter), and a knife, fork and spoon were also at hand. I sat on a blanket and the floor of the tent served for a table. The supper was both good and abundant—for one time only.

The boys have not yet received their uniforms nor all their guns, and have little expectations of seeing active service soon. They are a hearty looking lot, most of them being quite young men or boys, but are anxious to get to the place where fighting is being done. I got acquainted with a great many of them and had a very enjoyable visit.

Our ride from New York to Boston by the Fall River steamer, Puritan, to use an Irish expression, "would have been more pleasant if it had been less disagreeable." We started all right from Pier No. 19, North River, and had fair weather while we passed the Battery, Bode's Island and the statue of liberty standing guard, under the famous Brooklyn Bridge under which the largest ocean steamers pass and on which flows in continuous stream all day long a living mass of human beings on foot, in carriages, in trolleys and steam cars, and on till the Greater New York was fairly left behind. With the fall of night the weather began to thicken and we had scarcely got fairly asleep when the great whistle began to belch forth its ear-splitting blasts which were repeated all night long at intervals of from one to two or three minutes. We knew at once we were in a fog, but we had no fear for we also knew the company could not afford to have an avoidable accident with 500 or 600 passengers on board. The monotony of our whistling was varied by the answering signals of passing boats.

For some reason one boat did not give the proper signal and instantly our machinery stopped. The big boat stood still and we slid back the window and looked out. Passengers always do this on trains whether they can see anything or not. In a few minutes the offending steamer glided by quite close to us and vanished in the white mist that enshrouded it, and through which only for a very brief period could its lights be seen.

Tired and sleepy we tried to take in Boston next day but the elements were against us. However, we rambled through the Harvard grounds, stood before the house of Longfellow, walked through the yard of Lowell, stood beside the mausoleum of the former and the plain slab that marks the resting place of the latter in Auburn Cemetery, and pressed with our feet the sod made sacred by the valorous deeds of our grand sires on Bunker Hill. We then turned our feet toward Northfield, the Mecca of our journey, where already a large crowd had assembled to receive the blessings that have always characterized those assemblies.
