MID-OCEAN, July 25, 1898.
Dear Mother:
I will write my letter to you now; I don't know when I can mail it. We came on board the boat Thursday evening, but we did not get off until the next day. We have had a very smooth sea and so far none of us have been sick. We have very poor quarters. We have to sleep in hammocks one above the other and 14 inches apart. There are 1,200 men, 1,000 women and a very large stock of provision and ammunition on board. We expect to get to Porto Rico Tuesday. I am very well. We left 6 of our boys in Charleston. I wish you could have the pleasure of a trip on the ocean. I think it would be the grandest outing you could take. I am enjoying it very much, although we are packed in like hogs. The water is as blue as indigo and it looks as if we were in a hole—every way we look it is up hill. I saw a large shark yesterday and a school of porpoises and we can see flying fish most any time. They look like little birds. If I had your cooking, I could be all right. I never knew how to appreciate my home and dear mother until now. I think the Government might give us better food. We just have canned beef and tomatoes and beans, and they are a very poor grade at that. I hope to hear from you before long. I wish I could come home in time to help out your sweet corn. This will be all for now. Lots of love to my dear mother and the rest of the folks. Give my regards to all of my friends. Good-bye.
Your loving son,
GEORGE.

LETTER FROM REV. MR. MCANINCH.

NORTHFIELD, MASS., July 29, 1898.
Dear Editor:
The description of praise—"Beautiful for situation is Mount Zion, the joy of the whole earth," might in some measure be applied now to Northfield. Lying on a slight elevation close to the river banks and hemmed in by two parallel ridges of hills comparing in size and beauty to the river hills of the Allegheny this said old New England town presents to the eye a scene fair to behold. The valley here is perhaps three miles in width and is well tilled. The soil is sandy but fertile and the inhabitants seem to be prosperous. The town is long drawn out, there being but one principle street, but that reaches about two miles. In fact it now consists of two towns each having a postoffice but I believe only one set of municipal officers. The new part, or East Northfield, has been the result largely of Mr. Moody's work in building here a college for girls, and in the many conferences held here during the summer.
Northfield was settled very early and is a place of considerable historic interest. While passing through the south end of the village I saw cut in the face of a large granite rock by the road side the following inscription: "Here under a large oak, standing until 1869, the first public religious services were held in 1673." At the north end of the town stands a monument containing two inscriptions.—"Nathaniel Dickinson was killed and scalped by the Indians at this place Apr. 15, 1747," and "Asahel, son of Joseph Burt, companion of Dickinson and sharer of his fate."
The street is very wide and has two rows of stately elms on each side, the wide spaces being kept like a lawn.
Northfield owes its present popularity to Mr. D. L. Moody. It used to be known only as his birth place and the home of his mother, to whom Mr. Moody was most devoted. In later years it became known through New England on account of the boys' and girls' schools established here by Mr. Moody, and known throughout the whole christian world on account of the various conferences for christian workers held each summer in July and Aug.
The girls' school consists of eight buildings used as dormitories, class rooms, etc., a library, and gymnasium. There were two hundred and seventy students present last year. Here also is the auditorium with a seating capacity of 2,500 and where all the conferences are held. On a bit of rising ground across the river and four miles down is Mt. Hermon, the boys' school, where are 450 students. In both of these schools the students help to pay their expenses by doing all the work, the girls doing all the cooking, etc., and the boys the farming, laundry, bakery, creamery, etc.
The corner stone of the new chapel at Mt. Hermon, for which the money was largely contributed by Mr. Moody's English friends, will be laid next Wednesday, to which the conference is invited. In making the announcement Mr. Moody said it might seem a little odd to lay a corner stone after the roof was on, but he likes something new. He explained it by saying the stone had been left out but was ready to be slipped into its place.
There are now about two thousand people here, the total number who will spend at least a few days here will probably exceed 3,000. The majority will attend the entire conference. These come from all parts of the country. I have no means of obtaining any information about the people who come here except by meeting them and looking over the register of the hotel where I stay. There are 125 in this hotel and they represent Cal., Mo., Kansas and Chicago in the west, and nearly all the eastern states as far south as Tenn. The social atmosphere is delightful. There are no strangers here. Every one is at once taken in but not after the usual seaside resort style. They are "all of one accord in one place," and the main topic of conversation everywhere is religion. The services are all intensely spiritual and entirely free from all bigotry, lip-sided notions, and all national, denominational or sectional prejudices.
Among the speakers are four men from London, Eng. Mr. Smith has been speaking to the children. Rev. Henry Varley preached a few times, but Revs. Morgan and McGregor are the principle speakers of the conference,—preaching every day at from 10 to 12 o'clock, the one following immediately after the other. There are also services at 3, 4:30, 6:30, and 7:30 regularly each day, and on Sunday the services are almost continuous from 6 a. m. to 10 at night. Mr. Moody does not expect us to attend all these services and warned the people against the danger of spiritual drowsiness. The English brethren have given very strong expression of their sympathy for our nation in this war, one of them speaking at considerable length in a way that would meet with hearty approval anywhere. Spain has been prayed for very earnestly. Mr. Moody believes it a christian duty and brings it up every day. He has been very actively engaged in the Y. M. C. A. work among our soldiers and sailors since they have been called into service and has been instrumental in getting several of the best christian workers to engage in this. Last Sunday Major Whittle, so well known as an evangelist, gave an account of this work as it comes under his own observation. This report was thrilling and was listened to with deepest interest. A wonderful work of grace has been accomplished already. An offering was taken up on Sunday for this work which amounted to about $2,700.
Everybody seems to enjoy these meetings and evidently God is using them for the spiritual blessing of not only those who attend, but through them to the whole land. Mr. Moody is today doing a greater work perhaps than ever before in his life, though not by the same method. J. V. Mc.

The Best Remedy For Flux.
Mr. John Mathias, a well known stock dealer of Pulaski, Ky., says, "After suffering for over a week with flux, and my physician having failed to relieve me, I was advised to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, and have the pleasure of stating that the half of one bottle cured me." For sale by G. W. Bovard.

Hopkins sells the clothing and shoes, Dewitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any other salve in the world. This fact and its merits has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for Dewitt's Witch Hazel Salve the great pile cure. Health & Killmer.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumpton, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by G. W. Bovard.
