Republicans, Get Assessed!

Every Republican should call in person on the Assessor in his election district and see if he has been assessed for 1898, and if not, have the Assessor register him.

It is definitely settled that the Pacific Ocean will not be an anti-American lake.

MANILA is ours, and fairly won at the cannon's mouth. The title is one not to be shaken by Spanish diplomacy.

The Spanish at Manila gave us one battle on sea and one on land, and then dropped the subject as unprofitable from any point of view.

OLD GLORY flies over the capital of the Philippines, and there it has a right to float on the strength of one of the most brilliant feats of arms in all history.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY was not expected to be a war President when nominated, but events have proved that he was equally the right choice for war or peace.

DAWSON is said to have a larger proportion of unemployed men than any other city in the world. The Klondike boom is about the most disastrous on record.

It is hard to conceive that Emperor William I. would have caused Bismarck's house to be searched after the statesman's death. But the world is aware that William II. differs from his grandfather.

The national House of Representatives to be elected in November ought to be of the same politics as President McKinley. Problems of the war should be settled by the successful war President without pull-back embarrassments.

The city imposed on wearing apparel bought in by European tourists at New York the past year amounted to $343,518, or at the rate of $3.99 a head. Before the Dingley law went into effect, the proceeds were $27,425, or 94 cents per capita. The increase would about pay for one torpedo boat each year.

WITHOUT counting recent additions of territory, there are in the United States twenty-three persons to the square mile. The figure in England is 370, in Belgium 571, and in Germany 270. If the population in this country were as dense as that in Belgium the aggregate would exceed the present population of the earth.

Practical Object Lesson.

American tin plate, which has been made possible by a Protective Tariff, as at last come to supply all our home trade. It was asserted that tin could not be manufactured in this country and that a duty on that commodity was only a direct tax upon the consumer.

This is a practical object lesson of the benefits of Protective Tariffs to many other products.

Brief War Capitulation.

Here is a brief capitulation of the war between Spain and the United States, which came to an end Friday, Aug 12, 1898:

April 22—War was begun by a blockade of the ports of Cuba.

May 1—Commodore Dewey attacked and sunk the Spanish fleet in the harbor of Manila.

May 24—Commodore Schley's squadron blockaded Admiral Cervera's fleet in Santiago harbor.

June 20—Gen. Stafter's army arrived off Santiago.

July 1-2—The American troops attacked the Spanish, drove them into Santiago and captured El Caney and San Juan.

July 3—Admiral Cervera made a dash out of Santiago harbor and everyone of his ships was sunk.

July 14—Gen. Toral surrenders Santiago, the eastern end of the island of Cuba and 22,000 Spanish prisoners.

July 26—First landing of United States troops made in Porto Rico at Guayama.

August 12—Spain signs the protocol and the war comes to an end.

NEWSY NOTES.

—Thirty-one million dollars have been paid out by the state of Pennsylvania for the support of charitable and penal institutions in 34 years.

—If, on a clear evening, the reader will cast his eye on the western horizon, he will notice a bright star before most others are visible.

—Why pay $6.00 to $8.00 for suits when $4.00 buys an all-wool one at Miles & Armstrong's.

—The largest flag in the world will be flung to the breeze, suspended on a wire cable stretched from the summit of two mountains, at the eastern side of Tyrona, on Saturday of this week, August 20.

—Hopkins has a few of those half-price shoes left. Every pair will be sold at half price.

—An exchange says that when the news of the destruction of Cervera's fleet reached camp, one of the nurses commenced to read it aloud in the hospital.

—The manner in which the shirt-waist preserves its rounded front expansion on so many slim figures has been a puzzle to masculine eyes of an investigating turn.

—Hopkins sells the clothing and shoes. The Shoe and Leather Gazette says: "It takes as much courage and conviction sometimes to stick to your advertising through the dull season as it would take to face an army."

—Until October 1st the W. N. Y. & P. Ry. will run a regular Sunday train between Oil City and Tionesta, under the following time schedule:

Leave Oil City at 8:00, arrive at Tionesta at 8:45 a. m.; leave Tionesta at 10:00, arrive at Oil City at 10:45 a. m.

—The following appeared in "Gossip's" column in the Harrisburg Telegraph a few days since, and will be fully appreciated by every editor in the land:

—More than twenty million samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers.

—When you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve the great pile cure, don't accept anything else. Don't be talked into accepting a substitute, for piles, for sores, for burns.

Jenks Was Too General.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, Aug. 23.—Candidate George A. Jenks' speech at Bedford, accepting the Democratic nomination for governor, has decidedly fallen indistinctly flat.

As a keynote of an aggressive campaign, it is a note that has already gone to protest. Of course, everybody knows that Republican defeat in Pennsylvania cannot be accomplished by Democratic votes.

None but Republicans can defeat Republican candidates in this state, and a Democratic candidate, at the beginning of a hopeful candidacy, must somehow appeal to a certain element of the dominant party.

This Pattison was cunning enough to do in 1882 and in 1890, and this Mr. Jenks, with all his skill and experience in pleading before a jury, has conspicuously failed to do in 1898.

The dissatisfied element among Republicans here, so far as it exists, which represents the disappointed ambitions of men to whom the very name of any successful Republican leader is as a red rag to a bull, hailed the speech with instant resentment.

It was simply a reiteration in general terms of old charges which had been threshed over and forgotten, and said nothing specific, and nothing personally offensive, against Senator Quay.

While they were sore and disappointed, straight backed Republicans were pleased that even so skillful an advocate could make no better case against them. A prominent public man from the northwestern part of the state put the feeling very pointedly in the following words:

"I have read Mr. Jenks' speech of acceptance with much interest naturally. Even if it had no relation to the campaign, I should have been interested, because his reputation as an adroit and skillful lawyer, cunning before a jury in making the best possible plea in the face of adverse evidence, is celebrated wherever he is known."

His Bedford speech is worthy of his reputation. It skillfully avoids specific statements. The word 'Democratic' does not appear in it at all, and the word 'Republican' only once, and to one who reads it without thinking the impression might be conveyed that these parties had in some miraculous manner been swept beyond the borders of the state.

"The fatal weakness of his speech is not in the pleader, but in the case. He probably put it as shrewdly as anybody could. But when even the most cunning master of language is forced to appear as the hopeless spokesman of a party which has no record in public affairs to point to, and a record in internal affairs which it is compelled to point away from, he is at a great disadvantage."

"The gist of Mr. Jenks' speech is the special plea that it is quite consistent for anybody to go him and his associates Democratic candidates upon the state ticket and at the same time to vote for Republicans for congress. If this were so it would include, of course, in the list of candidates eligible for Democratic votes the two Republican candidates for congressmen at large and the Republican candidates for members of the legislature, who will elect a United States senator."

"It would be absurd to vote one way for members of the one branch of congress and vote the opposite way for members of the other, especially when the United States senate is as close as it is now."

"This theory, that the record and purposes of the Republican and Democratic parties can be conveniently hung up behind the door, the meaning of the vote this year forgotten, and the campaign narrowed down to a promiscuous guerrilla conflict, will not, I think, commend itself to the Democratic party any more than to the Republicans. It would mean disaster to any organization. One cannot follow one flag on one wing of the battle and carry a hostile banner on the other, any more than he can serve in the American army and the Spanish navy at the same time. The line must be kept consistent and intact. The man who attempts to ride two horses going in opposite directions will go nowhere but to fall, and he who tries to belong to two churches of different creeds will probably lose his standing in both. It is before all things the party creeds which are in issue in this campaign. Aside from their personal friends, the greater part of the people of Pennsylvania do not much care which of them, Mr. Jenks or Colonel Stone, is elected governor, so far as either of them is individually concerned. But the people of Pennsylvania are deeply interested and determined, if we can judge the tone of their personal conversation, to see to it that the principles and purposes of the Republican party shall not be repudiated and set aside to give place to those which Mr. Jenks' candidacy undeniably represents before the state and the country, however cunningly he may seek to disguise the fact. Like a good lawyer, he has made the best of a bad case, but the jury in this trial has time to think before the verdict, and I have no notion that it will be misled."

THERE never was a more striking illustration of the fallacy of the claim of the Democrats that unless we opened our markets freely to foreigners they would not buy of us. It has been demonstrated that the hypothesis of the Republican party is sound—namely, that commerce is selfish and it will buy in the cheapest market. The balance of trade in our favor is more than double that of any previous year and nearly equal to that of the past five years combined.

General Greely's 278 Days of Death. The true story of those 278 days of suffering by Greely's heroic little band of explorers in the Arctic regions has been told by General Greely himself, for the first time, for the October Ladies Home Journal.

For years General Greely has kept an unbroken silence about his fearful experience and that of his companions, as they dropped dead one by one at his side, and it was only after the greatest persuasion that the famous explorer was induced to write the story.

D. 1898, at 1 o'clock p. m., the following described real estate, to-wit:

ROBERT POWERS vs. D. D. REID, alias Fieri Facias, No. 19, August Term, 1898. Reid & Maffett, Attorneys.

All the defendant's right, title, interest and claim of, in and to that piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the village of Mariaville, Jenks Township, Forest County, Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows, to-wit:—

Beginning at a point in the north margin line of the right-of-way of the Pittsburg & Western Railroad Company, where the east margin line of South Forest Street intersects the same; thence along the east margin of said South Forest street northwesterly to a point where a line running parallel with the north side of the two-story frame shingle roof building, known as the "Hotel Marlen," would strike the southeastern corner of the tract situate, lying and being in said hotel, and used in connection therewith; thence on said proposed line northerly to a point where a line run at right angles would clear east side of a frame ice house now erected, northwestern corner of said hotel, and used in connection therewith; thence on said proposed line northerly to a point where a line run at right angles would clear the northern side of said ice house; thence along said proposed line easterly to the line of land now or formerly belonging to P. P. Blood, and being the eastern line of land hereby sold; thence along the line of said Blood's land southeasterly to the north line of said Pittsburg and Western Railroad Company Right-of-Way; thence along said Right-of-Way westerly to the place of beginning. On which is erected one two-story frame building 40x38, known as the Hotel Marlen, one out-house 12x12, one ice house 12x16, with an addition 10x16. The public road passes in front of said property, which is situate close to the station of the Pittsburg & Western Railway.

TERMS OF SALE. The following must be strictly complied with when the property is stricken down: 1. When the plaintiff or other lien creditors become the purchaser, the costs on the writ must be paid, and a list of the liens including mortgage searches on the property sold, together with such lien creditor's receipts for the proceeds of the sale or such portions thereof as he may claim, must be furnished to the Sheriff.

2. All bids must be paid in full. 3. All sales not settled immediately will be continued until 2 o'clock p. m., of the same day of the sale, at which time all property not settled for will again be put up and sold at the expense and risk of the person to whom first sold.

Bizarre Designs in Wall Paper are very effective when used in large rooms. In the average room, a rich design of solid color, with maybe a sprinkling of little figures in contrasting color, is the proper thing. This is not the place where you come in and say, "I've got a room, eight by ten feet and ten feet high. How much wall paper will I need, and how much will it cost?" Before we sell you a wall paper we want to find out several things. It is a more particular way, a better way and in the end a cheaper way.
