Teachers' Institute.

The teachers' institute will be held in the Court House, Tionesta, Dec. 12-16. The date fixed for our institute this year is somewhat earlier than usual, but when it becomes understood that this date was selected because some of the talent could not be gotten at any other time, we belisve it will give general satisfaction, Sometimes it is possible to select a date and get talent to suit: at other times it becomes necessary to adjust the date to fit the talent. The latter was our condition this year. Our institutes, during the past two years, at least, have been first-class. In arranging for the coming institute, no effort has been spared to make on improvement upon the past by giving the people editor. In Memory of Lewis Williams.

Lewis Williams, whose death occurred at Kellettville, from injuries received while working on Salmon Creek mill, Oct. 29, '98, was born in Wisconsin, April 13, 1873. After the death of his parents, while yet a small child, he was brought to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Henry Smith, of near East Hickory, Pa., where he lived until six years of age, at which time he was taken to the home of Elias Albaugh, where he grew to manhood, Here he had a good home and was considered as one of the family. He was a generous, kind hearted young man, and had been a professor of religion for about two years. He was married Sept. 24, 1897, to Miss Maggie Platner, of East Hickory. Immediately after their marriage Mr.and Mrs. Williams began housekeeping at Salmon Creek, where they lived until recently, when they moved to Kellettville, where the accident occurred which caused his death, the account of which was given in the county papers at the time. Suffice it to say that after the accident he realized the end was near and asked those about him, who were praying people, to tion in April, 1899. The car will seat 60 pray for him, and in this critical hour he people and have standing room in the felt the sustaining grace of God, and exhorted all those who were present to meet him in heaven, nearly his last words being: "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

Mrs. Williams, in her bereavement, has the heartfelt sympathy of the people of "Death comes equally to us all,

And makes us all equal when it come."

Late to bed and early to rise prepares a man for his home in the skies.
