of the legislature, and has been signed by Governor Stone, authorizing county commissioners and county treasurers to withhold fees, mileage and other moneys claimed by persons indebted to the county for fines, costs, damages, penalties, or unpaid taxes. This is an effort to compel men to be honest.

After a world of vexatious delays and vicissitudes, Lanson, Bros. are in a fair way to get their mill started again, and expect by next week to be in the grind once more, when they will be in shape to attend to every want in the line of feed milling. But if you want first class home ground feed call on them; they have it, as well as an abundant stock of choicest brands of flour.

Last Wednesday, at Golenza, a horse driven by Mrs. John Daubenspeck became frightened at an approaching locomotive and backed over a bridge. The carriage contained a number of the younger members of the family, one of whom, Leah, a thirteen-year-old daughter, was severely injured, having her collar bone broken. The other occupants were also slightly injured.

The Christian Endeavor society re-organized and elected the following officers on Wednesday evening for the ensuing six months: Pres., Dr. F. J. Boward; V. P., Laura Lawrence; Secy., Christine Agnew; Cor. Sec., O. F. Miles; Treas., Mrs. G. G. Gaston. Misses Christine Agnew and Sarah Morrow were elected delegates to the convention at Pleasantville on June 23, 1899.

The editor of the Farm Journal asks: "Why have a mortgage on the farm, poor crops, rheumatism, sour bread, grip, leak in the roof, hole in the pocket, skeleton in the closet, or any other pain or trouble when you can get the Farm Journal for the balance of 1899 and all of 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903, nearly five years, by paying a year in advance for the REPUBLICAN? This you can do if you are not too late."

The great success of the first series of prize pictures has caused the publishers of the great Philadelphia "Sunday Press" to announce another competition in which prizes worth $500.00 will be given to the successful boys and girls. There are over 100 prizes, and any boy or girl can compete. The contest will begin next Sunday, June 18. Everybody should get the Philadelphia "Sunday Press" of that date.

Jacob Olmstead was sentenced last Friday, by Judge Mayer of the Elk-Cameron-Clarion district, to fifteen months in the penitentiary for cruelty to animals. Olmstead's crime consisted of pulling a cow's tail out by the roots. Judge Mayer is talked of as the probable nominee of the Democrats for Supreme Judge. We think, after such a display of even-handed justice, the Judge should be honored by nomination and election.

The Biggle Books have been written by a practical man for practical men and women. They give the main and important facts and discard the husks and padding. Busy sleeves-rolled-up people will find them invaluable. The chapters on disease and remedies in each volume will enable many a farmer to save the life of his suffering live stock. See the publishers' card in this issue. The price is 50 cents, free by mail; address the publishers, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.

A well on Little Hickory creek, owned by a company of Tionesta capitalists, who have styled themselves the Conversation Oil Co., doubtless because of their willingness to "tell all about it," was shot last Saturday. One of the company informed us, with a knowing twinkle, that it would make about a three-barrel pumper. This, of course, is fairly good, but it's getting dangerously near the point where the boys may have to change their name to "Mumm's Extra Dry."

The line which is to furnish the new county home with pure mountain water was finished to the reservoir and the water turned on last week one day. The reservoir is not yet completed but will be ample for domestic use and for fire protection when finished. The pressure at the buildings will be 45 to 50 pounds to the square inch. It is expected the foundation for the large building will be completed this week. Brick making is progressing rapidly, a very good quality of clay being had on the farm.

Excavating for the foundation of the new bank building was begun yesterday morning, and contractor Nixon will keep a sufficient force of men at work from this on to make rapid progress in the construction of the building. One of the sorrowful features connected with this enterprise was the necessity created for cutting down one of the beautiful maples which has furnished such ample shade in that quarter for so many years. But these things are among the penalties we are obliged to bear in the interest of progress and enterprise.

The Derrick says that a find was made by the drillers employed on the Fisher property on Deep Hollow, between Oil City and Franklin, on Saturday that seems to substantiate the claim that is being made that at one time Deep Hollow was the bed of the Allegheny river or some stream of a like size. From a depth of 100 feet the sand pump brought to the surface a quantity of wood and it is believed that this wood comes from what was centuries ago the bottom of the river or stream. The find is one that will prove interesting to geologists.

Publishing a newspaper is pretty good fun—sometimes. If a fellow goes down town to look around for a few stray news items, some one is sure to salute him with, "Hello, is loafing all you've got to do?" Or, if we are sitting in the office trying to read proof or get some idea of news out of our exchanges, someone comes in and ventures the remark, "I'd like to be a publisher and have nothing to do but sit around and read papers." O, it's easy to wrestle one's brain and one's think tank to write up a lot of news when there isn't any. No wonder publishers grow bald-headed and absent-minded and sometimes cranky.

townships old and highly esteemed citizens, passed away at his home, Trunkeyville station, last evening, at the ripe age of 81 years, 9 months and 10 days. The deceased came to Trunkeyville in 1876 and with his aged wife, who survives him, had since made that his home. He was an agreeable old gentleman with whom it was a pleasure to meet and converse, as he was a man of more than ordinary intelligence. We are not informed as to funeral arrangements.

Every Republican in Forest county should be a patron of his home paper; not a borrower, but a cash paying subscriber. THE REPUBLICAN is devoted to the interests of the party in the county, and also to the advancement of the local business of the county. Support the paper and assist in its endeavors. Its object is to furnish a complete and reliable report of all matters that concern the public, from day to day. Of its efforts in this direction you can judge from the past, as well as the present appearance of the paper. Now is the time to subscribe, or if you are already a subscriber to get your neighbor to become one.

Reliable shoes to fit all feet at Miles & Armstrong's.

Last Thursday evening, June 1, 1899, Rev. Robert J. Montgomery, pastor of the Clanton charge, M. E. church, was married to Miss Donna A. Rickard at the home of the bride, in East Brookville, says the Democrat. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. R. C. Smith, presiding elder of Clarion district. The parties will make their home at Clarion. The groom is a son of Joseph Montgomery, of Stanton, and was a teacher in the public schools of Jefferson county before he entered the ministry last year. The bride is a daughter of G. G. Rickard, and came to Brookville from Richardsville with her parents a few years ago.

Comfort is found in all shoes bought at Miles & Armstrong's.

It is remarkable to what extent vegetable life is diversified. On a piece of ground about six inches square the writer found thirteen distinct species of plant life, besides one or two very small varieties which he could not exactly distinguish from some of the larger plants, and within a radius of a few feet almost an equal number of other entirely distinct varieties were found. Like the minutiae which goes to make up every-day life, the vegetable kingdom is made up of things many and minute; and as the minutiae of life tends to character-building when moral principle is involved and is adhered to with integrity and inflexibility of purpose, so the many little and strange and wonderful things of vegetable life should tend to the same thing by inclining us to a due appreciation of the Creator and of our blessings and privileges in Him, for he who fails to see God in nature with his natural eyes is likely not fully to appreciate Him if he does see Him in a sense with his spiritual eyes.

Presbyterian Missionary Convention.

The twenty-second annual convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Clarion Presbyterian met in the beautiful new Presbyterian church at Edenburg, (Knox P. O.) Wednesday and Thursday of last week. More than eighty delegates were present, some driving more than forty miles to attend the convention, which is reported as being very interesting and deeply spiritual, by those who attended. The working condition of the several societies, and their interest in Foreign Missions, is shown in the $1,782.77 which was reported by the treasurer, Mrs. Capt. Craig, of Brookville, as the amount contributed by the local societies during the year. Of this amount, $82 was given by the Tionesta auxiliary, and $25 by the Tionesta Jr. C. E. The Sr. C. E. of this place, not having sent their annual amount through Mrs. Craig to the board of Foreign Missions, was not reported by her. Miss Katharine Flesoon of Laos, whose present address is 107 Fayette St., Allegheny, was present throughout the convention, and, in an earnest, pleasing manner, told what the Gospel is doing for the people of Laos through the Presbyterian church of North America. Miss Flesoon said that the good work that has been accomplished in that country is the extent to which the Presbyterian church is awake to her responsibility, and that the millions yet in darkness denote the extent to which this church is not awake to her responsibility. Miss Flesoon was a pioneer missionary to Laos, having gone to that field in 1887. She is a great-grand-daughter of Capt. Craig, who was the first commander of Ft. Pitt, and prior to her going to Laos, lived on Neville Island below Pittsburg.

It was deeply regretted by those who attended the convention, that Mrs. Nannie Elder, wife of the late Rev. Dr. Elder of Clarion, who was president of the Presbyterian society for many years, could not be present. A very interesting letter was read from Mrs. Elder, written from her new home in Albuquerque, N. M. Mrs. M. J. Buzard of Brockwayville, was unanimously chosen president of the Presbyterian society. The next annual meeting will be held in Reynoldsville, Mrs. Martha Morrow was the delegate from the Tionesta society at Edenburg, and a report of the convention will be given in the Presbyterian church, Thursday evening.

West Hickory Band Supper.

A very pleasant event took place Friday at Green's Hall, West Hickory, Friday evening last, when supper, consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee were served, at which $21 was netted for the benefit of the silver cornet band of this place. We are very proud of our band and want to encourage the boys all we can. The promoters of the supper wish to extend thanks to W. P. Siggins and Will Cooper for the flags to decorate the hall, and to Mrs. Allender for flowers.

Charles and Will Hunter and their wives went to Mill Village, Erie county, last Saturday, to attend the funeral of their uncle, William Hunter, whose death occurred on the 9th inst. Mr. Hunter who was a brother of the late George S. Hunter, of this place, and of Mrs. Hannah McCray of Hunter Station, was born and reared in Tionesta, where he resided until past middle age, and the older residents of the community still will remember him. He was in the 78th year of his age and leaves a wife, four sons and three daughters to mourn his death. Mrs. McCray was also at his funeral.

The REPUBLICAN had a pleasant call yesterday from a former Forest county boy, "Johnny" Sibble, as we used to know him. He is a son of the late Peter Sibble, of German Hill, who lost his life in an accident on Tionesta creek. John was then but 6 years of age, and not many years afterward was thrown on his own resources, but he came out all right, and showed he was made of the good metal. After graduating from Edinboro Normal, he became principal of the Sheffield school, and from there he attended the University of Pennsylvania, from which high institution he will graduate next year, having chosen the law as his life work. And all by his own efforts and perseverance. As a Forest county production we are proud of our friend John.

George A. Percival, Esq., while on his way to New York, took time to stop off a few hours here and at Hickory to renew old acquaintanceships last Thursday and Friday. He is one of the well remembered Percival family which lived at Newtown Mills many years ago, and we believe this was his first return to see his friends since his departure in 1896. In company with Hon. N. P. Wheeler he visited the scene of his boyhood days at Newtown and found many old landmarks by which he could recognize the place, but the changes after all were very great, and none so striking to him as the absence of former friends and acquaintances. Mr. Percival has lately been in Michigan where his father and mother reside, still hale and hearty, at upwards of 80 years of age.

To the Point.

Recently the News received a long set of "resolutions of respect" from a society in a neighboring town, passed on the death of a member who no doubt was everything that mortal could be judging from the resolutions. The News replied that on account of an arrangement among the local papers here the society would have to pay for the publication of the resolutions and in reply to this the secretary of the society writes on a postal card: "Please return those resolutions as they will not pay for them as they are not in the habit of paying for work of that kind, and I will send them elsewhere."

Now that is just the trouble with most societies. "They are not in the habit of paying for work of that kind," and consequently get an idea that the publishers are not in the habit of paying their compositors for work of that kind. We do not comment on this to find fault with one society, but as a warning to others. There are a few societies that pay such bills, and they usually cut the "resolutions of respect" pretty short, to suit the amount to be expended probably and not according to the worth of the deceased member. To send the resolutions elsewhere will be to dump the unprofitable manuscript upon some poor printer who lives upon the charity of his neighbors, who by their tender mercies permit him to live and suffer. Our advice is, that if a member is worthy the passing of resolutions, the printing of the resolutions is worth paying for.
