-A camp meeting, beginning August 15th, will be held near New Castle, Pa., by the Free Methodist society.

-A fine line of groceries, canned goods, cigars and tobacco is always to be had at Amsler's. No stale goods of any kind, and prices that are right. 24

-The Free Methodists will hold Quartorly Meeting services at German Hill, Aug. 11 to 13, instead of Newmansville, as previously announced. All are cordially invited.

-A band of eight instruments was discoursing music on our streets last evening. They are from Coalglen, near Pittsburg, and represent the striking miners of that place.

-F. Walters & Co. invite the ladies to come and examine their line of vacation hats. There is a large variety in both color and shape and they are very pretty and becoming.

-Dr. Boyard now drives a very handsome chestnut sorrel, which he secured last week over in Venango county. The new mag gets up in about the handsomest style of any in the burg.

-Over $11,000 from tees derived from permits to sell oleomargarine have been caid into the State treasury by the Department of Agriculture since the license went into effect on June 1.

-This is the meteoric shower season, and star-gazers may enjoy a nice free show for the next two or three nights watching the "shooting stars," provided the evenings are clear.

Will Wolcott, Kory Heath and Geo, Killmer, has become the owner of what promises a good paying lease at Fauncenaturally about four barrels a day, and are putting down another as fast as they can get it there.

-The premium list of the Clarion County Fair is at hand. It is a pamphlet of 100 pages gotten out at the Clarion Republican office, and is a job of which that or any other printery can be proud of. If the fair itself is proportionately meritorious in all its features, the people who patronize it will be abundantly repaid for their trouble and expense.

-The machinery is being placed in the Lanson Bros, flouring mill as fast as possible, and there will scarcely be any question about their having everything in condition for turning out flour at the time fixed upon, Sept. 1st. Meanwhile they can supply every demand for the finest grades of flour and feed from their large stock on hand. Call when in need. -The experiment of rural free delivery of the mails is being tried in Washington county, Pa. Eleven carriers, each of whom is expected to travel 21 miles per day, are traversing the county delivering and collecting the mail, and if the experiment is a success it will spread over the country and reduce the number of postoffices to one-seventh the present number.

-The Blizzard evidently thinks it no longer necessary to "remember the Maine" but the "Great Oil City Fair," which is to be Sept. 12, 13, 14, and 15. It's to be as much more of a hummer than the last year's event as can be imagined, and that is enough said. Up to this writing there are no flies on the Oil City Fair, and if the coming event is as lively as the former one it will take a very frisk fly to light on it. Everybody go. -A private letter from aa old friend, Willis Brace, who moved with his family, Drs. Nothing new in this tragedy has develaped since the first reports were given to the public, and all efforts to discover clue to the murdorers have failed, the authorities being as much at sea as ever, Suspicions rest on several parties as being implicated, but no evidence has thus far appeared that would justify an arrest.

Secret of Mind Reading.

"The mind-reading trick of finding oncealed articles is absurdly easy," de clared a New Orleans newspaper man. "It can be done by almost anybody of ordinary intelligence. The way to go about it is this: Let six or eight people seat themselves about a room not too lose together, and have somebody, selected as assistant, blindfold you with a handkerchief and lead you to another apartment. But the merriest boy is likely to be the hardest on his clothes and it is with regard for his tendency to wear out whatever he puts on that we put especial thought and care into making his clothes so they will stand the inevitable wear and tear.
