The exemplification of the secret work by the visiting team was a revelation not only to the candidates but to the old members as well, and will undoubtedly prove a benefit and stimulous in the acquisition of new blood in the order here. A rising vote of thanks was given to the team for their kindness in coming so far, and the splendid manner in which the initiations were conducted. The work occupied the greater portion of two hours in its completion, and after a few speeches by the visitors, who were profuse in their conratulations on the growth of the lodge, and fraternal greetings all around, the entire body repaired to Hotel Agnew, where the genial landlord, Charlie Weaver, had prepared a most elegant spread, to which full justice was done by the

At a hearing before Alderman J. A. F. Boyard last night William Nellis, of this city, charged with dynamiting fish in the Allegheny river at Henry's Bend on the night of August 26, was bound over in the sum of $200 for his appearance at court and three of his witnesses were bound in the sum of $100 for their appearance at that time. Harry McVeigh, of the south side, was the principal witness for the prosecution. His testimony was to the effect that he had seen the defendant and the three witnesses come past the boat house in a flat soat, fill some cans and then pass on up the river. He followed, heard remarks that indicated that some member of the party had dropped a dynamite or some other explosive cartridge overboard and he had heard an explosion tollowed by remarks from the party indicating their disaypointment that the shot had killed no fish.
