

PHARISEES IN POLITICS.

A Conspicuous Element in the Campaigns in This Commonwealth.

THE PEOPLE NOT DECEIVED.

Motives of the so-called Business League and Other Types That Republicanism Has Had to Contend With Thoroughly Exposed.

(Special Correspondence.)

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—The Pharisee is becoming a conspicuous personage in Pennsylvania politics. Not all of the so-called Pharisees can fairly be styled Pharisees, though all of the Pharisees would like it to be known that they are Pharisees. It is, of course, in accordance with their time-worn custom for the Democrats to lay claim to every virtue and to pose as the embodiment of all that is good and proper, but then they as a party are not to be taken seriously. The Democrats have gotten into power time and again upon glowing promises of great reforms they were going to introduce and they have just as often gone out of power through failure to keep their promises.

IN TWO CAMPAIGNS.

The Pharisees were conspicuous in the last two state campaigns in Pennsylvania. They were deep in the conspiracy to elect a Democrat to the governorship, and did all in their power to help along the canvass of that eminent citizen, but Bourbon Democrat, George A. Jenks. The Pharisees over reached themselves in that campaign, and Colonel William A. Stone was triumphantly elected by the stalwart Republicans of the old Keystone state. While still professing to be Republicans, the Pharisees came to the front in the contest this fall. The Republican state convention had no sooner picked its candidates in the field than the Pharisees appeared, lined up with the Bryanite Democrats, determined to defeat the Republican ticket, because, forsooth, they had not been permitted to dictate the action of the convention. With the issues fairly defined, the Republican primaries had been held throughout the state and the insurgents were beaten five to one in the election of delegates to the state convention. There was no reason why any good Republican should not have accepted this result and abide by the will of the majority. If matters did not suit them their opportunity to even matters up should come at the next primary election.

SO-CALLED BUSINESS LEAGUE.

Conspicuous among these disgruntled and desperate party wreckers are members of the so-called Business Men's League of Philadelphia. The mark of the Pharisee is upon this organization. Its course in this fall's canvass has accentuated this fact. It is a body of very limited membership, but in it is the embodiment of Wanamakerism and everything that implies selfish and personal politics of the most pronounced type. While it has but few members it has a corps of what are known in the circus business as "backers," or in the realms of queer literature, "promoters," or "promoters." Their business is to keep the name of the league before the public, to issue manifestos and to annoy and harass the regular Republican organization of Pennsylvania and the stalwart Republican leaders as much as possible. To do this they have practically made the league an arm of the Guffey Democratic state committee. The agents of both these organizations work together, though not entirely for the same end. Guffey's men are seeking to disrupt the Republican party, so that Millionaire Guffey may be elected to the United States senate. The league agents are busy assailing and maligning the Republican leaders and the Republican organization, so that a condition of affairs shall be brought about which will enable Millionaire Wanamaker to go to the United States senate. Neither of these contingencies is likely to happen. The people of Pennsylvania prefer the stalwart Republican sentiment of this state shall be represented in the upper house of congress by a stalwart Republican, and not by a Democrat or a man who would wreck the Republican organization to satisfy his personal ambition to figure in official life in Washington.

PEOPLE KNOW THE GAME.

The people of Pennsylvania have seen through the game that is being played in the politics of this state. They recognize the work of the Pharisee in the assaults that were made upon Colonel Stone when he ran for governor, and the attacks that were made upon Colonel Barnett during his canvass for state treasurer just closed, and which were the most contemptible and cowardly witnessed in this state since the civil war.

From New Zealand.

Repton, New Zealand, Nov. 23, 1896. I am very pleased to state that since I took the agency of Chamberlain's medicine the sales have been very large, more especially of the Cough Remedy. In two years I have sold more of this particular remedy than of all other makes for the previous five years. As to its efficacy, I have been informed by scores of persons of the good results they have received from it, and know its value from the use of it in my own household. It is so pleasant to take that we have placed the bottle beyond the reach of the children.

men's ticket to the county commissioners, which ticket getting on the ballot resulted in the election of Alexander Brown, the reform candidate for sheriff. They let the impression go out that by this action thousands of votes were lost to President McKinley for president. The fact was that the printing of this column on the ballot was to the direct advantage of the polling of a large McKinley vote, as it gave the independent citizens an opportunity to vote for the reform candidate for sheriff and by the same marking of the ballot put in a vote for the McKinley electors. This circular is regarded as the silliest document ever gotten out in a political campaign.

THE PRESS BUREAU.

While the Business Men's League was co-operating with the Democracy the Wanamaker newspaper influence, embodied in the Wanamaker owned and the Wanamaker advertising controlled papers in the city and vicinity, had their columns filled with syndicate political matter designed to discredit the Republican candidates and help along the Democracy. They attempted to put in a vote for the McKinley electors. This circular is regarded as the silliest document ever gotten out in a political campaign.

BEACON IN THE OPEN.

"I want to face the people," said Treasurer Beacom. "I want to go among them and discuss the state finances; tell just what sums I have on deposit, where the money is, and show them that the interest on every penny is collected regularly and that the state gets it all. I want the people to know that the Republican party passed the laws which require the payment of interest on state funds and that the Republican party is prepared, through me, its representative, to make an exact accounting of every dollar that has been received and that has been paid out since I came into the office. I think we have spiked the guns of the Democrats who have been making so much noise about state issues."

GOVERNOR STONE POPULAR.

Governor Stone, who from a poor boy working on his father's farm ran away and enlisted in the Union army, is making a most satisfactory chief executive officer. He is in touch with the people. He does not show any change in his manner of treating callers or in giving those little personal attentions to visitors which are expected from a public official. He is the same today as he was before he became governor. Governor Stone is now engaged in the encouragement of the project to protect the forest of Pennsylvania. As one who followed a plow, he can appreciate the importance of saving the forests of the state.

THE SEATING OF QUAY.

The next move on the political checker-board will probably be over the seating of Colonel Quay in the United States senate upon the certificate issued to him by Governor Stone. Upon this subject the Washington correspondent, recently said: "Matthew S. Quay will be seated by the United States senate. Senator Quay's credentials, given by the governor of Pennsylvania, will be acceptable to the United States senate by a safe majority."

A Simple Water Test.

All drinking water should be tested in town or country frequently, as there are other impurities besides sewage which are quite as deadly, and every cistern of water is liable to be a source of blood poisoning. Mice, rats and other pests must have water, and many a case of typhoid is set up by such as falling into the cistern and remaining there for months in a decomposed state.

A Nose For Tobacco.

Lord Deas, a Scotch judge, was once hearing a case when the smell of tobacco permeated the room, and, being in opposition to the rules, search was made to trace the offender, without avail. Finally the jurors said it must come from the retiring room of the lawyers. This his lordship scouted, saying: "No, my dear gentlemen, the bar smoke comes from Limerick twist." Strange to say, shortly after an Irishman in court discovered the pipe he had placed in his pocket had set fire to the lining, and it was loaded with Limerick twist. The judge had a good nose and knew what he was talking about.—Kansas City Times.

THE GOVERNOR'S POPULARITY.

Colonel Stone, the Same as He Always Was, Is Making a Good Executive.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Nov. 7.—A fact that was brought out conspicuously in the state campaign just closed is that the Republican administration of the state treasury has been such that Treasurer Beacom can defy the critics of his conduct of the office to make them substantiate any statement they may make derogatory of his management of the office. It has been a familiar campaign cry of the Democracy that the state treasury will not bear investigation. They were met upon this issue before, when the Republicans in the legislature had a committee appointed and had the books of the office gone over carefully and they found the balances correct to a penny. The same old story was raised this fall. Treasurer Beacom went upon the stump and declared that he had the books of his office ready for immediate inspection and he challenged the Democratic nominee for state treasurer to come to his office and go over all the records.

"I want to face the people," said Treasurer Beacom. "I want to go among them and discuss the state finances; tell just what sums I have on deposit, where the money is, and show them that the interest on every penny is collected regularly and that the state gets it all. I want the people to know that the Republican party passed the laws which require the payment of interest on state funds and that the Republican party is prepared, through me, its representative, to make an exact accounting of every dollar that has been received and that has been paid out since I came into the office. I think we have spiked the guns of the Democrats who have been making so much noise about state issues."

As with the state treasury, the several other departments on the "hill" are being conducted upon the strictest business principles. Reforms have been instituted and the men who are in charge of the departments are all men of character and standing; most of them are old soldiers, men who served their country in its hours of peril, and who have been rewarded by the Republican party and the people at large with positions of honor and trust.

GOVERNOR STONE POPULAR.

Governor Stone, who from a poor boy working on his father's farm ran away and enlisted in the Union army, is making a most satisfactory chief executive officer. He is in touch with the people. He does not show any change in his manner of treating callers or in giving those little personal attentions to visitors which are expected from a public official. He is the same today as he was before he became governor.

Governor Stone is now engaged in the encouragement of the project to protect the forest of Pennsylvania. As one who followed a plow, he can appreciate the importance of saving the forests of the state. Major McCaskey, the auditor general, has introduced a number of innovations since he took hold of that office and they declare that there is not a similar department in the country that is operated upon more careful lines for the protection of the interests of the taxpayers.

THE SEATING OF QUAY.

The next move on the political checker-board will probably be over the seating of Colonel Quay in the United States senate upon the certificate issued to him by Governor Stone. Upon this subject the Washington correspondent, recently said: "Matthew S. Quay will be seated by the United States senate.
