Our line of underwear has been replenished. We have all sizes and kinds now. Hopkins.
As to "the cause of divorces," a New York paper suggests that perhaps marriage has something to do with it.
And then there's vegetables and fruits. Amster keeps the finest in town and wants everybody to know it.
A business and literary meeting of the Epworth League will be held in the M. E. church next Monday evening. Everybody is invited.
Following is list of letters remaining unclaimed for in the Tionesta, Pa., post office for the week ending Nov. 22, 1890: P. M. Clark, (3). D. S. Knox P. M.
The fall term of the Clarion State Normal School will close in a few weeks. The students have done exceptionally good work and shown a commendable spirit.
The well on Hopkins' island, three miles above here has reached the sand at about 320 feet, and was showing up for a well all right, but of what capacity will develop later on.
Amster's groceries take the cake for purity and freshness, but it don't take a great deal of cash to buy a whole lot of them. Try him on this score. You'll be surprised at the quality and price.
A fine flood on the Clarion the first of this week let the Clarion, Elk and Forest lumbermen get out all their boats and lumber in good shape. We understand that the river is practically cleaned out.—Jacksonian.
The Emmenton Herald has been enlarged to an eight page sheet. It is one of the prettiest papers that comes to this office, and is always brim full of good things served up in entertaining style. Long life and success to it.
One of the army of slick swindlers has been doing up a fair quota of victims in Bradford. He was selling "real swell $18 gowns" to gullible women at $6 each. His game consisted in collecting in advance payment of $2 on the dresses which he was to deliver before collecting the additional $4. The operator closes the transaction by just retaining the $2.
Attention is directed to the Davis Pharmacy ad., one of our new customers this week. Mr. Davis has opened as fine a drug store as one would find anywhere, and not only the large airy room itself, but everything in it has a fresh, clean and inviting appearance about it. Mr. Davis invites the patronage of the public, assuring all that they will receive a most cordial welcome and his best attention.
See those new Jackets at Hopkins'. They are beautiful and the price is not very high either.

It may seem strange, but is a fact, that we can send you the Forest Republican 5 years, all of 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903 and 1904, if you will pay for the Republican one year ahead—both papers for $1.00. This applies alike to new and old subscribers. Pay up.
There is hope for school boys, whether they are bright or dull. George Dewey barely got through the Naval Academy at the foot of his class, while Capt. Oberlin Carter passed West Point with the highest honors ever given to a cadet. Both achieved distinction, but in widely different directions. Dewey is an Admiral and the husband of a millionaire. Carter succeeded in embezzling about $1,500,000 and is now undergoing imprisonment in the penitentiary.
At a meeting of those interested in securing a course of lectures for this place during the approaching winter held last Wednesday evening a committee was appointed to look the matter up and ascertain whether sufficient number of subscribers could be secured to guarantee success. This committee has had in circulation a paper for that purpose, and has met with fair success. It remains for the citizens to say whether they want the entertainment or not, and the way to do it is to subscribe when the opportunity is presented.
After all the meteoric shower didn't happen last week. At any rate no man hereabouts got even a glimpse of anything resembling a shooting star that anybody has heard of, and the probabilities are that the show was a fake. The wiseacres tell us now that the affair was billed too far ahead, and that next year is the one when they will make their appearance. That may be the case but this journal refuses to advertise any more snide performances. They must come with better recommendations next time. Ordinary testimonials won't go.
There are many persons who do not know how to talk over a telephone. Some people fancy they cannot hear the wee small voice that comes over the wires and allow themselves to become excited over the matter and call on another who has better perceptive faculties, to receive the message. Another class talk in so low a tone that they cannot be understood. Others again talk in a loud, fierce voice as if they imagined they were shouting to some one without telephone aid. The natural conversational tone of voice with distinct enunciation, is what is required.
The story is told of a Mercer county man who worked the following scheme to have his wife dig the potatoes. He sallied forth with a spading fork, and after digging around a while came in to wash the dirt off a nickle and a dime; he had struck it rich he said. Back to the garden he went whistling "Sweet Marie." Directly he came in showing a quarter, saying he could afford to take a nap, having made enough for one day, anyhow. When he awoke his wife had the whole plot dug up, but she hadn't found a nickle. She doesn't know yet that the mine was salted.
The last of the summer's output of barges at the Lawrence & Smearbarugh yards at Hialeck were started for Pittsburgh last Saturday. There were five of them and there were fifteen men aboard. The extras were not river hands, but barge builders in charge of Mr. Carson, the contractor, who had taken the men along to finish this particular fleet of barges, they being of a special design to be used in the local transportation of coal about Pittsburgh. They are longer and narrower than the common barge and will be decked over as they are afloat, the owners not caring to take the risk of holding them here till this work was done.
The full story of the capture of Frank Major, now in the Meadville jail for complicity in the Titusville robberies and shooting, and which has not yet been told in print, is worthy of publication, says the Meadville Tribune. It also indicates the man who waited on Major when he called at Wood & Co.'s store at Grand Valley, as possessed of considerable nerve and what is ordinarily termed "horse sense." Major was bare headed and said he had lost his hat. He wanted to buy one. The clerk suspecting he was one of the escaped burglars, managed to get a look to the young man who was lounging in the store that was understood, and the young man, watching his opportunity, went out for help. To kill time the clerk showed Major several hats that were too large for him, then took him up stairs, where he had "something that would suit him." By the time the right hat had been found several men were standing curiously about the front of the store. They parted as Major passed out, and grabbed him so quick that his revolver was rendered useless, although he had his hand on it in his coat pocket.
Hopkins sells the clothing and shoes.

Biggie Poultry Book is the most comprehensive and helpful poultry book ever gotten out. In addition to the vast amount of helpful information covered in its seventeen chapters, there are six-teen beautiful colored plates, showing, true to color and shape, twenty-three varieties of poultry. Chickens, ducks, turkeys and geese are all shown in their proper plumage, and with comb, wattle and shanks as true to nature as it is possible to produce. Also, forty-two handsome engravings in half-tone and six-ty-one other helpful illustrations of houses, nests, drinking vessels, etc. The price is 50 cents, free by mail; address the publishers, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.
There was a large turnout at the meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps last Wednesday evening, when Mrs. F. S. Hanchett, of Tidoute inspected the Corps. The inspecting officer complimented the ladies very highly at the close of the meeting on the excellence of their work. Provision had been made for a late lunch at the Central House, where pretty menu cards told of the excellent spread prepared under the direction of the hostesses, and those who were fortunate enough to be there were delighted with the evening's entertainment. It was exclusively an affair for the ladies, no gentlemen being present. Visitors present from Tidoute were, Mrs. DeRocher, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Jones.
Editor Smith of the Punkstaway Spirit announces in his last issue that within a week or two a daily paper will be issued from that office. He also intimates that its success and permanency will depend largely upon how the people will appreciate and patronize the new venture. So far as the editorial and business management go the success of the daily will be assured from the start, but whether the long felt want exists or not remains to be demonstrated. Bro. Smith has few equals and no superiors in this section as a writer, barring neither prose nor poetry, and the infusion of his elegant style into the pages of a daily publication ought to make it "go" whether or no. It is also noted that the Colonel has "sworn off" smoking, but this we think is a bluff. He'll find that the successful launching of a new daily paper is mere boy's play compared to lopping off the succulent "Blue Point" or the muscular "Wheeling." Don't undertake both at the same time.
The Allegheny River Improvement Association will hold a meeting in Pittsburgh, November 27, at which time officers will be elected and committees appointed to go to Washington during the next session of Congress to urge appropriations for the contemplated work. The Dispatch of Sunday says: "This meeting was to have been held last Monday, but on account of notes not being sent out the date was made a little later. Much interest in the proposed improvements is taken by men concerned in manufacturing enterprises along the Allegheny, and their ultimate aim is to have the river dammed, up as far as Oil City, so that it will insure navigation at all times sufficient to float logs down to Pittsburgh. It is believed that members of Congress will look favorably on the matter if it is properly put before them, and as so much depends on this work being done, a strong committee is desired to urge the claims of the district that will be affected." In view of the fact that it has been some time since Oil City ceased to be a logging camp, we would suggest to the Association the necessity for damming the Allegheny considerably further towards its source, says the Blizzard, and in which conclusion we heartily concur.

Killed By a Log Jam.

Wednesday afternoon a crew of men were engaged breaking a log pile on the job of the Millstone Manufacturing Co., on Millstone, when the logs started unexpectedly. There were five men on the pile, and all but one Hoghey McCloskey, succeeded in getting off, but he was carried to the bottom of the hill, about one hundred feet, with the logs. By jumping from one log to another he kept his feet until he reached the bottom, when he tripped and fell, being caught between two logs. He was taken to his boarding place and a physician sent for. No bones were broken and for a time he thought he would recover, but he had received internal injuries and died about 3 o'clock this morning. He was married and leaves a wife and six children. A week ago Monday, Hoghey McCloskey, Sr., was buried from the home of his son, Hoghey, Jr., and at that time the entire family then living, three sons and two daughters, were present.—Marienville Express.

South American Railroad.

F. F. Whittekin, chief engineer and General manager of the government railway of the United States of Columbia, South America, is at the Seventh Avenue hotel, on his way to his former home at Tionesta, Forest county, where he will remain for several weeks, says the Pittsburgh Times of last Friday. Speaking of railroad building in South America, he said: "The road now under construction runs from Puerto Berrio, on the Magdalena river, westwardly through the main range of the Andes mountains to the city of Popayan. Work has been going on for four years, and 100 miles are now completed and trains running. About 1,500 natives have been employed on this part of the road, which was the most difficult piece of construction I have ever undertaken. The cost of construction of the 100 miles averaged about $75,000 per mile. The highest point above sea level is 6,200 feet. We have had a great many things to contend with, but the greatest barrier of all is the dense growth of vegetation. It is next to impossible to keep down the underbrush and vines. Ever since we began the construction of the road it has required a force of men to do nothing else but battle with vegetation." While in the United States, Mr. Whittekin will plan orders for considerable material. He said: "I come with the express purpose of placing orders for four locomotives and 200 freight cars, but so far I have been unable to find an establishment that will book an order ahead. The best they can do is to promise to go to work on orders about September, 1900. Steel rails cannot be purchased, either, and I doubt if manufacturers will be ahead of their orders in a year from now. We are not kept back on this account, however, as all rails for the road are being purchased in Belgium.

Mrs. M. Hepler spent Sunday with friends in Youngville, Pa.
Misses Adda and Lucy Huling were visitors to Oil City Monday.

Mrs. Catherine Augusta McSweeney, wife of Henry McSweeney, Esq., died at her home in Oil City, at midnight last Saturday, after a brief illness, from a blood clot in her lower limbs. She was aged 21 years, and besides the stricken husband leaves one child. Mr. McSweeney is well known to many of our Tionesta people, all of whom will be pained to hear of his awful bereavement.
John Conrad, Esq., of Brookville, Pa., died at his home on the 11th inst., aged nearly 68 years. The older citizens of "Old Forest" will doubtless remember Mr. Conrad as one of the county's first resident lawyers, he having begun the practice of law at Marienville, when that village was the county seat, where he also taught school. This was back in the 50's, and it was during this time that he was appointed District Attorney, being Forest County's first incumbent of that office.
Miss Minnie Clark, daughter of J. R. Clark, of State street was married to Mr. A. M. Ross of East Hickory, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's grandfather, George Berlin of Turkey City, and was attended only by a few relatives of the bride and groom. Rev. Reiter, pastor of the Monroeville German Reformed church, officiated. After the congratulations of the assembled friends, and a sumptuous wedding dinner had been served, the young people left for a short wedding trip, and a portion of their honeymoon will be spent in this city as the guests of the bride's father. From here the young couple will go to East Hickory, which is to be their future home, and where the groom holds a responsible position in charge of the National Transit company's pump station.—Derrick.
Rev. A. J. Merchant, D. D., died at his home in Meadville on Sunday last, after an illness of several weeks, aged nearly 68 years. The deceased was born December 7, 1821, at Napoli, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., and received his education at Allegheny College, Meadville. He was at one time Presiding Elder of the Meadville district of the Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. Merchant held charges all over Western Pennsylvania and was well known in church circles. He was pastor of the M. E. church of Tionesta 21 years ago, in 1868, and is well remembered by many of our citizens as a man of sterling qualities and a power for good. He is survived by his wife and four children: Mrs. J. M. Thoburn, wife of Rev. J. M. Thoburn, Jr., pastor of the First M. E. church, of Detroit, Mich.; Misses Gertrude and Jessie, residing at home, and F. W. Merchant, of Pittsburgh.

Pine Bolts Wanted.

The undersigned will pay $2.50 per cord for sap pine bolts (round) at least four feet long, delivered at Turner's mill, West Hickory, Pa.
JAMES G. CARSON.

Nothing of a startling or even of a commonplace nature has developed in the Titusville robbery and murder during the past week. The funeral of Chief of Police Daniel McGrath took place on Saturday last, and was the most notable affair of the kind ever held in the Queen City, where the deceased was very popular.
During the week scouting parties have been scouring the country in every direction for the third member of the gang, but without results. Many suspects have been "held up," because they tallied pretty well with the description given of the robber, but all to no purpose, the suspects being able in each instance to prove themselves clear of any connection with the bloody work of the morning of the 11th inst. It was at one time supposed the fellow had crossed the river near Tidoute and was in hiding in the big forests of this county, but that theory has been abandoned, and the opinion of most people is now that he has made good his escape from this section of the country and may never be apprehended, though the $2,500 reward that is now placed on his head will prove quite a stimulus to those who delight in a hunt of that kind.
The last man to be arrested is one James Wilson, a noted tough who was seen with the gang, about Titusville several times before the robbery. He was bound over to court by the justice and will be tried as an accessory to the crime.
Up to the present the identity of the dead burglar has not been established though hundreds from all sections of the surrounding country, and some from other States even, have viewed the remains for that purpose. The captured member of the gang has not even been identified. He gave his name as Frank Major at the hearing, but no one seems to know where he hails from or anything whatever about him. The Crawford county grand jury has indicted him on four counts, three for burglary and one for murder.
James Meabon, who was one of a pursuing party at Grand Valley, and who accidentally discharged his shotgun, the contents entering "his side, was getting along quite well at last accounts, and his physicians believe he will recover from his serious wounds.
NEW INFORMATION.
The Derrick's Titusville correspondent, writing under date of the 20th, says the identity of the missing third burglar has been established beyond doubt. A citizen of Titusville has been doing a little detective work while others have been scouring the country. He went to Olean, thence to Buffalo, where he found traces of a tough character called Frederick Adams, but whose real name is Frank Woodard. In the rogues' gallery he obtained two photographs of the man, which a certain Titusville woman instantly recognized as those of Woodard, whom she had seen on the streets of Titusville on the Friday preceding the robbery, and had talked with him. The fellow has "done time" for several offenses, and is quite well known to the Buffalo officials. The description of the man is given as follows:
Frank Woodard, alias Frederick Adams, is 5 feet 7 1/2 inches in height; forehead high and of medium width; from a profile view, the nose is slightly concave and slightly flattened on end, giving the appearance of being turned up.
The eyes brown and small, with peculiar squinting appearance.
Hair is chestnut brown in color and his mustache reddish brown and slightly curled at the ends.
His complexion is very florid. He is medium heavy in build and weighed, in Sept., 1886, 150 pounds. On his left middle forearm is a woman's figure tattooed. There is a rectilinear scar five-eighths of an inch long at the third joint of the middle finger. On the right arm is a ragged scar one and one-half inches long by a half-inch wide at the bend of the arm.
It is believed with this description detectives will have little trouble in running the culprit down. At last accounts the condition of Officer Sheehy, whose wound was at first considered the most serious of the two injured policemen, was very encouraging, and his physicians regard him as practically out of danger.

At Court.

Court is light this week in point attendance. The grand jury having been excused from attendance the petit jurors are all that are on hand, while the litigation is of such a nature as to require a but few witnesses from outside. Judge Lindsey, with Associates Nash and McCray are present.
The first case disposed of was that of John H. Swanson vs. Tionesta Manufacturing Co., resulting in a verdict for the defendant.
The case of Jennings vs. Bloomfield and others is on trial as we go to press.
The case of Clough and others against the Penn Tanning Co. and others has been continued.
It is thought all the cases on the calendar will be disposed of this week.
Ladies' underwear 25 cents and up at Miles & Armstrong's.

Ladies Winter Wraps

Not the kind you got on the ear, perhaps, when you went to school, or when your mother found you had been in the "preserves," but the kind you wear to keep you warm.

JACKETS,
JACKETS,
and JACKETS.

We have them in all sizes and colors (except yellow, they're too warm!), and the PRICES are lower than you can find elsewhere. If you do not like a Jacket, but still wish to "kape" warm, we will sell you a Cape. Here you can find them in Plush, Plain Cloth or Astrakhan. Prices on these are so low you might think they were not very "warm numbers" if we told you.
We also have a full line of MISSES and CHILDREN'S JACKETS. We start the price of these at $2.50. Don't fail to come in. We will be pleased to show you, whether you buy or not.

L. J. Hopkins.

A HAPPY HOME.

Furniture, Stoves, Bedding, Tin Ware, Iron Ware, Curtains, Shades, Rugs, Children's Carriages, Go Carts, Cutlery, Silver Plated Ware, Carpets, Oil Cloth, Linoleum, Matting, Crockery, China, Glassware, Lamps, Wooden Ware Baskets, Step Ladders, Etc., Etc.
Without doubt the desire to have a Happy Home is one of the dearest wishes of every human heart, especially in this free America, which is proverbially a Land of Homes.
The first requisite for a Happy Home is Love and Affection, for without these a gilded palace is but a prison cell to aching hearts starving for human sympathy and love.
The next great desideratum is to make the home (however humble it may be) as comfortable as possible.
In these days of a priced household goods, it is comparatively an easy thing to have a WELL FURNISHED HOUSE, even for the man whose daily wages are small. It only needs a well directed effort. To make this effort still easier, the system of selling goods on the EASY PAYMENT PLAN has within a few years been inaugurated, and has proved a blessing to many thousands of families.

What is the EASY PAYMENT PLAN?

1st. It enables people of small means to procure those needed articles which they could not get if Required to Pay Cash Down.
2d. It gives the use of the articles While you are Paying for Them.
3d. It Leads to Habits of Economy, for knowing that you have certain payments to meet at a certain time, you are more disposed to deny yourselves of some unnecessary expenditures in order to meet these payments promptly.
And What is there that gives more solid, every day comfort and happiness than a well furnished house?
And now one word in conclusion, I want it distinctly understood that my prices for goods on the easy payment plan are fully as low as you would have to pay cash down at other stores.
Look over the catalogue of goods for sale at my Mammoth Store, and you will see that it contains Everything Essential to Comfortable Housekeeping. It is my intention to keep on hand a full assortment of every article which a housekeeper may need. My stock is indeed enormous.
At my store you may always rest assured that you will receive kind and polite attention and every accommodation that it is in my power to give.
LET ME KNOW BY LETTER IF YOU NEED SOME GOODS, AND MY AGENT WILL CALL ON YOU
I remain, very truly yours
