

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3.

There are some things like drugs that you can get better and cheaper at a drug store than anywhere else. One of them is soap—we mean toilet soap, of course.

Do you remember the old original white castle soap that used to strike terror to our youthful hearts when Saturday evening came round, marking the time for the weekly "scrub." We've got that kind (the oldest and best castle) at 20c per lb.—6 1/2 or 3 1/2 lb cakes for 25c.

A dozen different kinds of good toilet and bath soaps at 5 and 10 cents a cake.

Packers, Cuticura and other special purpose soaps—a full line.

Williams' famous Yankee Shaving Soaps—mug soap and shaving stick. The shaving stick, by the way makes shaving a pleasure, to those who are their own barbers.

Pear's—the kind Henry Ward Beecher used—unscented 15c, the scented costs 20c.

Those who know and want the highest priced soaps, can get White Rose Glycerine No. 4711, Cashmere Balm and Rogers & Gallet's soaps. There are no better.

The best and purest drugs and chemicals in stock.

—Jury Commissioners Reynolds and Yonck were engaged in filling the wheel for 1900, Monday and Tuesday, assisted by Judge Lindsey.

—At argument court last Thursday Judge Lindsey rendered a decision refusing a new trial in the case of Proper et al vs. Peters et al.

—W. C. Brown of Marienville has been appointed mercantile appraiser of Forest county for the ensuing year. A very good selection.

—Twelve couples of young people from this place took advantage of the sleighing and went to Tidoute to take in the home talent entertainment Monday evening.

—Special attention is directed to the professional card of Dr. Howard in this issue. The doctor has taken the place of Dr. Bowman, and his practice is extending daily.

—The Clarion State Normal School affords the best training for teachers. Among the most successful College students have received their preparatory training at Clarion.

—A lady writer says: "No married man can be a dude." A sensible contemporary replies: "Of course not. No man, married or single, can be a dude any more than a dude can be a man."

—Isn't it strange how mean with all the world it makes a young man feel when some fellow from a neighboring city comes to town and monopolizes his best girl for two or three days.—Eve.

—Erie will now require $200 a month from all "fire" and "bankrupt" sales that are opened in that city, the ordinance having been signed by the mayor. This is a good ordinance for any town to have.

—Every discriminating person will say that "The Biggie Books advertised in this issue of the REPUBLICAN contain a greater amount of condensed, common sense, well arranged information than any books they have seen relating to these important branches of farm industry. The price of each is 50 cents, free by mail; address the publishers, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.

—The Russians tell a story of the late Czar Alexander III that upon the rare occasions when it was incumbent upon him to pay a call he would take a gold coin bearing his "image and superscription" and twisting it between thumb and finger leave it in lieu of a card.—The only man in Russia who had strength for the feat.—January Ladies' Home Journal.

—John DeWalt, who has been engaged during the past summer at the county farm, departed for Vandergrift last week where he expects to locate in a short time. John has invented and had patented a very useful article in the shape of a bake-pan, which will undoubtedly bring him a snug sum as soon as he can arrange for its manufacture and introduction. Its simplicity and utility is apparent at a glance.

—The Philadelphia Inquirer Almanac for 1900 is at hand and fully maintains the high reputation of former Inquirer year books. It is impossible to enumerate the many subjects treated and the wonder is that so much timely information could have been condensed within its one hundred and thirty-two pages. Inquirer readers are to be congratulated on their New Year's gift, for the almanac is presented free to every subscriber.

—C. F. Cropp, one of Forest county's successful farmers and fruit growers, left us a sample of the corn raised on his farm last season, which, while not so overly large in ears, is about as well filled, regular and symmetrical as you'll find anywhere. Chris. owns a fine, well-kept farm up on Cropp hill, and while not raising good crops turns his attention to producing oil, a nice little yield of which he gets off the stoney and untillable portion of his place.

—Landlord Horner of the Central House returned last week from his trip to the Wisconsin forests, where he enjoyed nearly three months of the delightful sport of deer hunting. He says for once he got all the hunting he cared for, and if the number of his friends here who have been "remembered" is to be taken as the gauge of his success, Mr. Horner did not fail to find what he was hunting for. The editor's table was made aware of his return, and as a holiday delicacy, turkey stuffed with blue points, with cranberry sauce and Kalamazoo celery, "weren't in it" in comparison.

—Christmas-tide just past has proved one of the pleasantest in many years. Contrary to previous appearances the weather was of the most desirable kind for a holiday occasion, being crisp and cool, but not too stormy nor cold, and on Christmas day sleighs were out and the "going" was fairly good. At the M. E. church the Sabbath school had a tree and the exercises in connection were pretty and interesting. The Presbyterian Sabbath school gave the junior members a nice treat on Christmas morning. All the younger scholars receiving a present and an abundance of sweetmeats. Yes, it was one of the old-time Christmas events—a yule-tide such as we read about in ye bye-gone years in poem, song and art.

—Joseph Chudoba, the wood turner at the mantel works is certainly an artist in his line, and turns out some very neat articles in the shape of napkin rings, cigar stands, etc., some of them containing as high as 250 distinct pieces of different colored woods and they are very novel and pretty. One very difficult piece of lathe work which he does is to turn out a number of shells or hollow balls which fit, one inside the other. One specimen which we saw was composed of fourteen balls, ranging in size from about one-half an inch to two inches in diameter, each shell being composed of different colored woods, and when placed together fitted so compactly as to be noiseless when shaken. Mr. Chudoba is a German and speaks very little English, but he can make his little chisel and lathe "talk" in any old language.

—It affords us much pleasure to extend heartfelt congratulations to Bro. Muse of the "Indicator," who took advantage of the holiday season to make himself the happiest man in all the country, round, as will be noted by our list of marriages in this issue. The bride is one of Franklin's most charming and popular young ladies, whose circle of friends is limited only by the number of her acquaintances. The ceremony was entirely devoid of ostentation, the happy pair being united by the Rev. Mr. Hall at the parsonage, from whence they came direct to Tionesta, where James had newly furnished his pleasant new home for the reception of his bride. In union with all their many friends here the REPUBLICAN joins in extending heartfelt good wishes for the future, and bespeaks for them the blessings and joys of life that follow a union of hearts so congenial and happy.

—Monday night about half past ten o'clock while Charlie Bovard was driving the Doctor's horse around to his office, the sleigh, in turning the corner at Elm and Hilland streets, slipped round throwing Charles out. The horse, a spirited nag, finding himself free, ran away, and a first class job he made of it too. After covering the ground pretty thoroughly in town, he crossed the river bridge and sped down the railroad track to near Hunter station, three miles below town, where he got into the river. Parties in that vicinity managed to get the horse out of the water, when he broke away again and started back up the railroad track, this time going to Hickory seven miles above Tionesta, where he again crossed the river on the ice to the east side and came home. All told the animal must have covered a distance of twenty miles or over, and was none the worse for his trip, but the sleigh was slayed all right enough.

The Old and the New.

The new officials of the county were inaugurated on Monday and took up the work of their several terms at noon. It is now Judge Crawford who takes the place of Judge J. A. Nash, who has filled the place with credit to himself and the county for the past five years, and in his retirement takes with him the good wishes of very many friends. Mr. Crawford, we feel safe in saying, will lose none of his popularity while on the bench, though at times it is a very trying position. Prothonotary Robertson made such a correct, painstaking and popular official that he was elected to succeed himself without a struggle. Sheriff John W. Jamieson takes the place vacated by Sheriff Walker, moving to his new quarters yesterday. Sheriff Walker made a very creditable record, being attentive to every duty and treating all with courtesy, and in his legal acts being correct, careful and always discrete. He retires with the good wishes of a large majority of our people regardless of party. Deputy Sheriff Sawyer, who has been continuously connected with the office either as principal or deputy for the past twelve years, retires with Mr. Walker, and with the good wishes of all. He never neglected a duty while in that office, and his services have been very valuable to his superiors throughout his long incumbency. Mr. Walker's successor, Mr. Jamieson, will prove himself an efficient and popular official, and when he he again lays off the official cloak we predict it will be said of him, he made a good Sheriff. In the Commissioners' office there is a complete change, the old board, Messrs. Coon, Whiteman and Blum retiring to make room for Messrs. Hergman, Carson and Morrison. The outgoing board has had much to contend with during the past year and a half in connection with the erection of a new county home. The office of County Commissioner is a difficult one to fill and retain friends, and when a work is thrown upon them outside of the ordinary it makes the position, delicate at best, still more irksome and trying. This has been the situation with the retiring board. They have had to contend with considerable unjust criticism, but having done their duty conscientiously and without favor, or affection, time will prove that they have acted wisely, economically and with the best interests of the taxpayers at heart. Forest county will have a beautiful county home when completed and to the old board of officials very much of the credit will be due. The new board is composed of men who have the welfare of the community in mind and whom we believe will administer its affairs with an eye single to the greatest good of all. They have the same difficult position to fill and we surely wish them a full measure of success in the unenviable task before them.

The board of Auditors has but one change in its composition, Mr. Abbott going out and George L. King coming in. Both the new and retiring officials are capable and efficient, and the accounts of the county will be carefully looked after. The new Jury Commissioners are Levi G. Reynolds and Peter Young. They will do their duty fairly and conscientiously, as did their predecessors, Mr. Shields and the late J. J. Carson Carpenter.

To both the old and the new officials the REPUBLICAN extends the compliments of the season, wishing them all the comfort and consolation that can come out of the reflection of a delicate duty conscientiously performed.

Sudden Death of Sidney Smith.
Sidney C. Smith one of West Hickory's oldest citizens, died very suddenly at his home on Thursday, Dec. 28, 1899. He had been affected somewhat with heart trouble, but of late had been in his usual good health, and a few minutes before his death had been chatting pleasantly with his family at the supper table. When the meal was finished the members of the family were sitting about the room in conversation when Mrs. Smith noted that her husband's head had dropped to one side. He breathed but once or twice after she reached and supported him in his chair. Dr. Morrow was quickly summoned, but all was over when he reached the house. Death came without warning and without a pain or struggle.

The deceased was born in Plattsburg, N. Y., Jan. 20, 1841, and was therefore aged 58 years, 11 months and 22 days. He came to West Hickory in April about the year 1867, and with the exception of a few years spent at Beaver Valley, had made that his home since. Jan. 7, 1874, he was united in marriage with Mary A. Kinstiver, who, with one son, Harry, and one daughter, Laura, are left to mourn the loss of an ever cheerful, kind and affectionate husband and father.

On July 20, 1871, under the pastorate of Rev. J. A. Hume, at Beaver Valley, Mr. Smith was baptized and admitted to full membership in the M. E. church, of which he had since remained a faithful and consistent member. As a citizen he was highly esteemed, always jovial and ever ready to lend helping hand to those in need of assistance, and he will be very greatly missed by all who knew him, and in the community where he had so long resided his loss will be deeply regretted.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. C. C. Rumberger, were held in the West Hickory M. E. church Sunday at 1 o'clock, the interment taking place in Riverside Cemetery, Tionesta, Sunday evening.

A Style That Stands for Comfort.

The double breasted Reefer Overcoat is the style of greatest satisfaction for a lively boy. It is short enough to let him run with complete freedom. In a word, it is the coat of coats for comfort during the cold, stormy weather that is here and that is coming

You may buy this style almost anywhere—but is it wise to? There's the rub. It is wise to trust to luck for quality? Anyway it is unnecessary.
