THE EX-CONSUL ARRIVED IN WASH-

Asked For Leave to Visit His Home In Ohio, Which Was Granted-Gave No. Reason For Wanting to Leave His Post at Pretoria.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.-After a call by Congressman Tayler, on Assistant Secretary Hill, Mr. Macrum, ex-consul at Pretoria, made a call and had a conference with Hill, Secretary Hay having left the department for the day.

His stay was short, only about 20 minutes perhaps, and he left Dr. Hill as much in the dark as he had been before as to Mr. Macram's motive for leaving Pretoria. Nor did it develop whether or not Mr. Macrum was the bearer of any message from Kruger. He did not mention the subject to Dr. Hille. He said he was tired, very tired; he had been five weeks on the sea and coad traveling constantly and begged for time in which to prepare himself to report. He said nothing as to the reasons for appearing in Washington, hut asked that he be permitted to go to his home in East Liverpool, O., for a few days to attend to some matters of business, which were pressing, and to rest. Dr. Hill had no objection. Mr. Macrum promised to be back here soon, perhaps before the end of the present week, and said he then would make a formal report to the state department. Leaving Dr. Hill, Mr. Macrum went to the consular bureau and secured the assent of Acting Chief Carr to a postponement of the settlement of his accounts until his next visit to Washington. To Mr. Carr, also, Mr. Macrum said nothing to throw light ou his motives. As he left the state department he assured the newspaper men who stopped him that if he had any statement at all to make to the press (and he was not sure that he would have), he probably would make it public upon his return to Washington. Some of the persons here who were familiar with his appearance when he first went out to the Transvaal, said that he looked very much broken, and lacked the vim that formerly character-

Bigelow was placed in an ambulance and conveyed to the military hospital. At first his condition was considered very critical, but he was better the next fay. The bullet has not yet been lorated.

First they said the war was unjust and condemned the government for that, then they turned around, and now blame the government for not prosecuting the war vigorously enough.

Chamberlain admitted that mistakes had been made, but the government had honestly hoped for a settlement until the last moment. These mistakes are now being rectified. Soon the country would have 200,000 men of all arms, including as many mounted infantry as the Boers had. Of the whole for ie, that of the Colonials would soon be nearly one-fourth.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the goverument forces would soon assume the original plan of campaign which gave every promise of success. As to the settlement of the trouble in South Africa, he promised that there would never again be a Majuba settlement never again would British supremacy in South Africa be threatened; never again would Englishmen there be treated as an inferior race. The war has taught both sides to re spect each other, and he believed the wounds would heal in time and that a permanent peace would be secured. Chamberlain's remarks were vigorously applauded by the government sup
