Jacob Simon, Oil City's well known merchant tailor, was very severely injured here yesterday. He arrived from Oil City on the morning train, and had started for Mr. Lawrence's pleace, across the creek, on a business errand, crossing in the swinging bridge. At the west end he slipped and fell backward off toe bridge, a distance of about ten feet, striking on the back of his neck and shoulders rendering him unconscious. In this condition he was discovered by Albert Lawrence shortly afterward, and conveyed by him and his father to the house and Dr. Morrow summoned. Public Installation at Endeavor.

The installation of the newly elected officers of Eli Berlin Post, which occurred at Endeavor recently was a perfect success in every way. A series of meetings being in progress in the church, the boys in a body marched from the hall over Wheeler & Dusenbury's store to the church, where they were greeted kindly and listened to a beautiful song service followed by an able sermon delivered by Rev. J. V. McAninch of Tionesta, His theme was "The Prodigal's Return." The discourse was from a bible standpoint and eloquently delivered. At the conclusion of the services at the church all marched to the hall which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. No time was lost and the installing of officers was rapidly gone through without a missing note in the whole affair. P. P. midway between Newmansville and C., W. E. Witherell, was installing officer. After the services and while Comrade Witherell was explaing how he became we believe to all others present, this was

JOHN W. WILES. John W. Wiles, whose serious illness: his home on Smoky Hill, on Friday evening at 11 o'clock, from a series of seemed to baffle medical skill and the very best of home treatment. Mr. Wiles was born in Clorion county, May 10, 1851. The death by accident of his father soon after his birth and the poor health of his mother, compelled a breaking up of the home, and little John was adopted into the family of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Robb, with whom he remained until he became of age. On January 9, 1877 he was joined in marriage with Miss Mary Black, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Black. Four children were born as a result of this union, viz: John D., M. Blanche, James M., and Frank C. Wiles, who with the mother are left to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father, Mr. Wiles was one of our most industrious and highly respected citizens and as a result of his thrift and economy he leaves a well equipped farm and comfortable home as a heritage to his family. His death will be generally regretted by all who knew him. The family have the sympathy of all in their bereavement. The burial took ptace at the Wilderness church near Crown on Monday afternoon. Besides his family he is survived by one brother, E. W. Wiles of Tylersburg and a sister, Mrs. Cathrine Porter, of Cedar Springs, Michigan. JAMES MCMILLEN.

James McMillen died at his home near Newmansville, Pa., on Thursday, Feb. 1st, 1900, aged about 61 years. The deceased had moved to this section from Butler county about seven years ago and purchased the farm which he occupied at the time of his death. Many years ago he had resided at Oldtown, about three miles from this place, on Tionesta creek, and during that time had become well and favorably known to most of our citizens. He was a veteran of the civil war, being a member of the 4th Pa. cavalry. He is survived by his wife, mother and ed him to the grave. The funeral was held the Walters church cemetery, near Newmansville.

Mystery of a Big Egg.

A hen's egg came into the possession of the writer the other day that challenges the neighborhood to produce a like win-ter-month fruit tual will knock the spurs off of it. Its dimentions are: Diameter, 34 inches and 21 inches; clrcumference, -Delos Hunter, who has lived on the Proper farm, at the top of German Hill, LICAN. It will be noted that it is clearly give rise to the natural query: "Wh should the means by which the egg cam into the possession of the writer be ap-parently so carefully concealed, or held back?" Again, would it not be the fair and proper thing to do to give the name of the chicken raiser, through whose ef-forts, combined with those of the hen, i was made po-sible for such an egg to be laid before the public? This would be but common justice. But, aside from this consideration, and blushing at the bare suggestion,—which is not harbored for an instant—that there might be a hen roost in close proximity to the REPUBLI-Incidental" Man in Oil City Blizzard.

Last week while lying on our back with a big batch of cold on hand, the egg item was slipped into the columns of the REPUBLICAN by "one of the boys." We do now frankly admit the peculiar manner in which the writer became possessed of the "fruit" is somewhat obscure, but we just as frankly submit it does not call for such rank inuendo from one whom we have always held in highest reverence as a friend, neighbor and scholar, However, we forgive him, for he knoweth not what he doeth. Were we to "a tale unfold"-but we won't. We can say this, however, without violating any confidence: There are mysteries and mysteries, but the egg mystery is not the greatest of them, and if our good friendwe still call him that-the "Merely Incidental" man of the Bluzzard, ever cracks another egg at our expense, or moves the previous question when we are not about, as sure as guns he'll have to explain his mysterious possession of a certain game bird he so proudly flaunted in the face of a confiding companion on the occasion of a little hunting expelition up here where hens lay big eggs which now and then are found in the possession of the printer. Does the gentleman still insist on his motion that the main question be now put?

Oil Notes.

The Oil City Derrick's monthly oil report shows that during the month of January there were 1,045 wells completed in the Pennsylvania and Trenton rock oil districts; there were 182 dry holes and a new production of 14,788 barreis. Compared with December, this is a decrease of 213 completed wells and 891 barrels of new production. In the Pennsylvania field alone, 633 new wells were completed, with 140 dry holes and a new production of 8,198 barrels. This is a d cline from December of 180 completed wells, 376 barrels new production and 54 dry holes. In the various sections producing Pennsylvania oil 813 new wells were completed, with a production of 8,-574 barrels, and the dry 94. This was a decrease from December of 82 wells, 2,145 barrels new production and 6 dry holes. The new work at the close of January shows 459 rigs and 653 wells drilling, which is a gain of 15 rigs and a loss of 12 wells over the beginning of January. The average production of the January wells in all fields was 159 barrels; in December the average was 201 oarrels.

In Forest county 10 new wells were completed in January, with an aggregate production of 34 barrels per day. Four were dry holes and one a gasser. Four-
