

ELKIN POINTS TO SOLID FACTS

The Attorney General Reviews the Defeats of the Pennsylvania Insurgents.

Eighteen Stalwart Gains.

Plans For the Republican State Convention at Harrisburg This Month With Regulars in Complete Control.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, April 3.—Attorney General John P. Elkin has given the insurgents of Pennsylvania something to talk about in a review of the results of the voting by Republicans of the several counties of the state in the matter of selecting candidates for the legislature. He has made it quite clear that the caucus bolters and party wreckers are not popular with the men who are in touch with the Republican organization throughout the commonwealth. He points out where they have been repudiated in clean cut contests, and he predicts the success of the nominee of the Republican caucus for the United States senatorship in the next legislature.

This is what Mr. Elkin had to say: "I have no doubt that the next legislature in both branches will be organized by the friends of the regular organization. From present appearances there can be no doubt about the re-election of Senator Quay. The contest for nomination of members between the regulars and the insurgent forces throughout the state has been decided in favor of the candidates of the regular organization in every instance where the issue was fairly made. Up to this time 20 counties have nominated candidates for the senate and members of the house. The stalwart Republicans have made a gain of 18 members in the nominations thus far made. We have made a gain of one in the city of Erie, a gain of three in the county of Crawford, two in Delaware, two in Mercer, two in Butler, two in Cambria, two in Blair, one in Juniata, one in Union and three in Fayette; that is to say, in each of the counties named there have been nominated by the stalwart Republicans the number just indicated in addition to the regular members nominated and elected in those districts in 1898.

"In 1898 the city of Erie was represented by a Democrat, elected by the insurgents and Democrats. Crawford county was represented by three Democrats. Mercer by two Republicans, two of whom voted against Senator Quay during the entire session; Butler county, in 1898, was represented by two of the most active insurgents of that term. This year two stalwart Republicans have been nominated. Cambria county was represented in 1898 by two Democrats, elected by Democrats and anti-Quay Republicans. This year two stalwart Republicans have been nominated and will be elected. Blair county was represented in the session of 1898 by an insurgent Republican and a Democrat, elected on a fusion ticket. This year two stalwart Republicans are nominated and will be elected. Juniata was represented by a Democrat. This year a stalwart Republican has already been nominated and he will be elected. The same is true of Union county. In 1898 Fayette county was represented by three Democrats. This year three stalwart Republicans will be elected. In the senatorial contests, so far held, the stalwarts have nominated their friends in every instance. In Delaware county one member and a senator voted with insurgents. This year political differences have been adjusted, and all the members and the senator will support the regular organization. This makes a gain of two votes in Delaware county.

MAJORITY RULE THE ISSUE.

"The campaign throughout the state have been made on the direct issue of majority rule, the right of the decision of the caucus and the support of party organization. Large amounts of money have been expended by the insurgents to nominate their friends in almost every county where primaries have been held. It is evident that a great majority of Republicans favor the caucus rule, by the friends of Senator Quay during the legislative session. The prevailing sentiment among the Republicans of the state is in favor of majority rule and the re-election of Senator Quay. It is not true, as has been stated in the papers, that the members nominated in Franklin county are opposed to Senator Quay. Neither is it true that the defeat of Senator Farr in his district is due to the Quay issue in the state. That was purely a local fight, and the Quay and the anti-Quay issue did not enter into it.

AS TO ARMSTRONG.

"The only other instance where the insurgents have made any gain up to this time is in Armstrong county, where one insurgent was nominated. In that county the anti-Quay people won one member. The friends of Senator Quay insisted on running, and thus the vote was divided, so that the insurgents, concentrating their efforts in behalf of one candidate, succeeded in placing him in nomination. If the Quay people had concentrated on two candidates they would have won in the contest in that county by ten or twelve hundred majority.

"Whatever strength the insurgent forces have in Allegheny county, but in that county Senator Quay had only three votes in 1898 that remained with him to the end of the struggle. This year he will have not less than three and in all probability four or five. The contest in the First legislative district is not being made on the lines of Quay and anti-Quay. The four candidates there are all friendly to Senator Quay, and he will receive their votes, no matter who is nominated at the primaries.

REGULARS WILL CONTROL.

"The regular Republicans have every reason to congratulate themselves upon the results of the primaries up to this time. I am satisfied that the regulars will not only nominate their friends at the primaries, but will elect a sufficient number to control the organization of both the senate and the house and re-elect Senator Quay at the next session. There is no doubt that the loyal Republicans will not be satisfied with anything but the election of a stalwart to a seat in the upper branch of the national congress. Those who rely on the election of a Democrat to represent us at Washington will be sorely disappointed when the legislature meets."

Arrangements are progressing for the Republican state convention, which will meet in this city this month. The delegates have been elected in a majority of the counties, and there is no doubt that the friends of Colonel Quay will control the convention by a large majority. The insurgents have not ventured to meet the regulars in an open contest for state delegates but, in a few instances, of course, the regular delegation from Pittsburgh will be there with the Filian leadership, but their Philadelphia allies of the Martin school will be in a small minority from Philadelphia, where the friends of Colonel Quay, under the leadership of former Senator Durham, are now in absolute control of the organization. They are co-operating with the regulars in their efforts to abridge in city councils, and are giving the mayor full support in all his plans to improve the city's water supply and to advance the commercial interests of the municipality.

Not only will they make a better showing than ever in the delegation to the state convention, but they will succeed in their purpose to nominate and elect a large contingent of the members of the next legislature. They are invading the old Martin strongholds and are making accessions every day from his lieutenants, who see the handwriting on the wall, and who want to get in line with the regular organization in the state.

The contest for the nomination for auditor general lies between Senator Harndenburgh of Wayne, and Senator Meredith of Armstrong. For congressmen-at-large Mr. Grow is a candidate for renomination and Dr. Flood, of Crawford, and Mr. Oliver, of Allegheny, are also prominently mentioned. There is a movement in Philadelphia in favor of the nomination of a Republican from the Quaker City for one of the places for congressman-at-large. The leaders of this movement insist that Philadelphia, with her increased population, is not receiving proper consideration at the hands of the leaders of the state organization. They say that Philadelphia should be given one of the nominations for congressman-at-large. No one from the Quaker City has been agreed upon for this place, although there are several aspirants. This matter will probably take definite shape within the next ten days. No one can, however, predict the outcome.

"I had bronchitis every winter for years and no medicine gave me permanent relief until I began to take One Minute Cure. I know it is the best cough medicine made." says J. Conroy, Corry, Pa. It quickly cures coughs, colds, croup, asthma, grippe and throat and lung troubles. It is the children's favorite remedy. Cures quickly. Heath & Killmer.

—No finer line of wash goods ever came to town than Hopkins has this spring.

Geo. Barba, Mendota, VI, says, "No thing did me so much good as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. One dose relieved me, a few bottles cured me." It digests what you eat and always cures dyspepsia, heart & Killmer.

"After doctors failed to cure me of pneumonia I used One Minute Cough Cure and three bottles of it cured me. It is also the best remedy on earth for whooping cough. It cured my grandchildren of the worst cases," writes John Berry, Logansport, Pa. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. Cures coughs, colds, croup, and throat and lung troubles. It prevents consumption. Children always like it. Mothers endorse it. Heath & Killmer.
