

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11.

The coming of Spring is associated in the minds of most people with house-cleaning and the general renovating that makes the immortal words of Payne—"There's no place like home"—a hollow mockery and burlesque. True, there is no place like home, at such times, and we are very glad of it. But after order has come out of chaos and a man ceases to run the risk of death by lock-jaw from coming in contact with the business end of a tack while hunting the coffee bottle in the deal of a dark night, "There is no place like home" again means something to humanity, and man decides that after all house-cleaning pays.

It is wonderful what a lot of beauty can be gotten out of a few dollars' worth of paint and paper properly applied. And it doesn't take many dollars' worth either, when one can buy paper as low as 6 cents a single bolt. Good paper, too. We have as good a line of paper as can be seen elsewhere in Tionesta, perhaps better, but we'll let you judge for yourself as to that.

A word about paint:—Unlike wall paper, low-priced paint isn't cheap. In wall paper you get good value for what you pay—little or much, but there is only one kind of paint that is cheap and that is the best that can be bought. John Lucas & Co. have been making paint for a great many years. It may not be the only good paint made but there is none better and you're not taking chances when you buy it, as you are in purchasing paints made by comparatively new and obscure manufacturers. It is the only brand we keep. Color cards can be had for the asking.

Marshall was defeated for re-nomination to the Assembly in Warren county by L. C. Baker, W. H. Corrin of Oil City, and John P. Emery of Franklin, were nominated in Venango county for Assembly.

—George Raab, who is serving Uncle Sam in the effort to put down the Philip pine insurrection, sends us copies of The Tribune, a daily paper published in Manila. They are real curiosities in their way, yet give evidence of considerable enterprise on the part of the publishers, considering the disadvantages under which they are obliged to labor. George is a member of Co. D, 41 Inf., U. S. V.

—Mrs. Ida Stewart Ball, the beloved wife of Homer, brother of our townman, Will N. Ball, died at her home in Oil City Tuesday evening, April 3, aged about 39 years, after a three weeks' illness from dropsy. She was a loving wife and mother, and an ardent member of the Free Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ball of this place attended the funeral, which was held in Oil City last Friday.

—"A little fellow," says the Kennebec Journal, "the oldest in a family of little ones, whose father worked away from home winters, had occasion to visit his grandparents for a few days. On his return he found another little member. His remarks will show that he was both surprised and indignant. 'Well, if you haven't gone and got another gosh darned kid! Won't my father be mad when he hears of it!'"

—Commencing last Friday the employees of the Wyanap railway will be paid the same wages as previous to the 10 per cent. cut made by the company in 1894. Five per cent. of this cut was returned to the employees last July, and a promise made that the remainder would be restored in July, 1900. By restoring the men's wages April 1, three months ahead of the specified time, the company has been even better than its word.

—Why is it that in a case of sickness, regardless of the nature of the disease or the condition of the patient, there is a general influx of usually idle curiosity seekers, who, without respect of deportment or the probable results to the sick person, make unwelcome intrusions on domestic rights and sick-room privacy? The practice in any aspect by that class who have no reasonable purpose for good is deplorable and uncharitable, if not unchristian.

—A case of smallpox has developed in Titusville within the past week. Frank Thomas, a colored man, came home from Youngstown, Ohio, last Thursday and immediately took to his bed, having a thorough attack of the disease. Every precaution has been taken to prevent its spread. The World says: "It would appear that some one was responsible for gross neglect of duty, when a person suffering with smallpox is allowed to travel nearly a hundred miles on a railroad, thereby exposing whole communities to the dangers of contagion from this dread disease."

—Gladdis Shaw, a 6-year-old daughter of Sheridan Shaw, at Kellettsville, has been suffering from purulent effusion in the left pleural cavity. On Wednesday, March 28, Dr. Morrow of Tionesta was called to assist Dr. Detar, and they took from the chest by aspiration 1 1/2 pints of pus. The cavity refilled and the Drs. met again on the following Wednesday, April 4, and they performed the delicate operation of removing a portion of one of the ribs, and thereby giving free drainage. The little patient has been improving nicely since and the family and their physician are in great hopes of a speedy recovery.

—Everybody can have beautiful Easter lilies next Sunday without charge, for the great Philadelphia Sunday Press announces that every reader of the Easter number will receive free a splendid picture of Easter lilies. The picture is by a famous artist in ten colors and is 14x30 inches in size. It will not be creased by folding, so that every person who gets next Sunday's Press will get a perfect picture fit to adorn any home. And in addition to the picture there will be a finely illustrated booklet containing a remarkable love story—the kind you will sit up all night to read. This will also be free with next Sunday's Press.

—We apologize for mistakes made in all former issues and say that they were inexcusable, says the Sank Rapids (Mich.) Sentinel, as all an editor has to do is hunt news, and clean the rollers, and set type, and sweep the floor, and pen short items, and fold papers, and write wrappers, and make the paste, and mail the papers, and talk to visitors, and distribute type, and carry water, and saw wood, and read the proofs, and correct the mistakes, and hunt the shears to run delinquents, and take censures from the whole force, and tell subscribers that we need money. We say that we've no business to make mistakes while attending to these little matters, and getting our living on gopher-tail soup flavored with imaginations, and wearing old shoes and no collar, and a patch on our pants, obliged to turn a smiling countenance to the man who tells us our paper isn't worth a $1 anyhow, and that he could print a better one with his eyes shut.

—The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will give an Easter supper in the Killmer building, Friday, April 13, beginning at half past five o'clock. Price, 25 cents for adults; 15 cents for children. Proceeds of the supper to be used for the benefit of the church.

—Come gentle spring! ethereal mildness, come! and put old winter out, that lousy bum. Back to your realms, ye frosty winds, that play and make sad havoc of a sunny day. Go, winter, go—nor wait to take a nap. For spring don't want you lingering in her lap.

—Fresh vegetables, as soon as they are in market anywhere, can always be had at Amster's. He will handle garden seeds in bulk as usual, or in packages as you may desire. They have already arrived, including nice onion sets. Groceries always the best and in every variety.

—Are you planning a berry patch? Don't think of doing it until you have read Judge Biggle's little Berry Book. It contains the experience of thirty of the leading berry growers of the country. Experience has a cash value. Send 50 cents to Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia, for a copy.

—Don't forget the grand Easter millinery opening at F. Walters & Co.'s up-to-date establishment next Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14. The ladies of the firm are putting forth every effort to make their opening this year the premier of all previous efforts. Don't fail to attend the opening whether you desire to purchase or not.

—If interested in horses, cows or sheep, take the Farm Journal. It is wonderfully good little paper and you ought to take it. We can send the REPUBLICAN one year and the Farm Journal nearly 5 years (remainder of 1900, and all of 1901, 1902, 1903, and 1904, all for $1. This only to new and old subscribers who pay in advance. Pay up.

—A woman's idea of tact, says an exchange, is to kick her husband's feet under the table when they have company and she is afraid he is going to say something. As she does the same thing when she wishes to impress upon his mind that he is to "say no more about it," the poor cuss is sometimes at a loss to understand the footicographic signals.

—Mrs. A. C. Urey, at her residence in the Dunt & Propy dwelling, next door to Killmer's drug store, has just opened a new millinery establishment and is ready to receive customers and show the ladies of Tionesta a full line of trimmed hats, bonnets, sailors, walking hats, children's hats and lace caps. Also a nice line of flowers, ribbons, and laces. Everything strictly up-to-date and at very reasonable prices. Ladies are invited to call and see goods before buying elsewhere. Opening days, Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14.

Oil Well Workers Union.

Oil well workers of Bradford and vicinity have organized themselves into a protective union. A temporary organization has been effected by the election of John Wilson, the well-known driller and contractor of that city, as temporary chairman. Committees to draft a constitution and by-laws were appointed and at a second meeting to be held on Sunday next the temporary organization will be made permanent. The objects of the union are to advance the material welfare of the oil well workers. It is expected that when they are fully organized a request for higher wages will be made to companies and to contractors. Last year drillers received from $4 to $4.50 per day and tool-dressers $3. As there was no advance in the price of drilling last year, drillers and tool-dressers refrained from asking an advance in their wages. It is anticipated, however, that contractors will advance the price for drilling this spring, and the oil well workers naturally want to share in the increased profits.

Wreck on the P. & W.

L. S. Clough is confined to his home on Market street as the result of injuries received on a wreck on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad, Tuesday afternoon, says the Warren Mirror. He was returning from his mill at McCrays and when the train upon which he was a passenger reached a point about five miles south of Kane it was wrecked. These most severely injured were: W. W. Wright of the firm of Wright & Miller; Kane, contusions, several ribs broken; Mrs. H. H. Corson, Kane, head cut, hurt about the shoulder; unknown woman, injured about the head, taken to the Kane hospital unconscious; Brakeman Mock, Kane, face cut, and arms bruised. The train was made up of engine, baggage car and two day coaches. When nearing Laumont the rails spread and the two passenger cars left the track and overturned in the ditch. There were many people in the train and the unexpected accident caused the utmost consternation. Passengers were tossed about in the cars and all were more or less bruised. How so many escaped serious injury is a problem hard to solve. The engine and baggage car did not leave the track. Mr. Clough received a severe shaking up but otherwise was uninjured.

We clip the following from the Kane Republican's account of the wreck: The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Bowdish, of Dahring, who was with his mother, died Wednesday morning from the effects of injuries received. Mrs. Bowdish came to the residence of Mrs. T. L. Parsons where she remained over night. At that time she did not think the little one had been injured at all, but this morning the little fellow went into convulsions and upon examination it was found that the back of his head was badly bruised. Mrs. Bowdish was a former resident of Kane and the shock of her son's death has been very severe.

Honesty.

"The kind of honesty that won't actually steal, is a kind of fool honesty that is common enough; but the kind that keeps a fellow's mouth shut when he hasn't ought to talk, is about the sea-est thing going." There is a good deal of homely wisdom in this paragraph from David Harum.

The man who imagines he is strictly honest because he keeps his hand out of his neighbors' pockets, and pays his debts, does not have a very exalted comprehension of the meaning of the word. To misrepresent a man, either by giving too low or too high an estimate of his character, and thus deceive some one into putting more confidence in him than he deserves, or less than he merits, is a kind of dishonesty that does more real harm in this world than absolute stealing.

To be constantly blabbing about your neighbors, with a view to injuring their reputations, exaggerating their faults and carefully avoiding any reference to their good qualities, is an ugly species of dishonesty.

It is dishonest to disparage a candidate for office, whom you wish to see defeated, and attribute to him vices and mean characteristics which he does not possess, with a view to defeating him. An ordinary thief is a gentleman compared with the fellow who will deliberately rob a man of his good name.

It is equally dishonest to overpraise a poor sinner whom you have some selfish object in view in wanting to have elected to an office. If you succeed, you are robbing the people of competent public service.

The occupation of the highwayman, who waits for you in a dark corner, fells you with a bludgeon and takes your watch and pocket-book, is honorable in comparison with that of the prattling fool who delights in retelling slanderous stories about women.

It often injures a man more to whisper about that you have understood that his credit was shaky, than to burglarize his house.

A man may refrain from robbing hen roosts, and pay the grocer and baker, and even the printer, as a matter of policy, and still be a dishonest cuss. To be honest, he must think, act and talk like a man who has a high conception of duty toward his fellowmen, and must not try to palm himself off for what he is not.

When Robert Burns observed that "an honest man's the noblest work of God," he did not refer to the fellow who was honest because he believed in the old saw that "honesty is the best policy," but to the man who had a just comprehension of his duties toward his fellowmen, and who would not "wantonly set his foot upon a worm."—Penny Spirit.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
