No measure to that end could be considered which was without the support of the leading commercial countries of the world. However firmly Republican legislation may seem to have secured the country against the peril of base and dis-credited currency, the election of a Democratic receiver, the election of a Demo-eratic president could not fail to im-pair the country's credit and to bring once more into question the intention of the American people to maintain upon the gold standard the parity of their money circulation. In accepting by the treaty of Paris the just esponsibility of our victories in the Spanish car, the president and the senate won the anoubted approval of the American people. No other course was possible than to destroy Spain's soveresignty throughout the Western Indies and in the Philippine islands. That course created our responsibility before the world and, with the unorganized population whom our intervention had freed from Spain, to provide for the maintenance of law and order, and for the establishment of good govrament and for the performance of interna-ional obligations. Our authority could not be less than our responsibility, and wherever sovereign rights were extended it became the high duty of the government to maintain its authority, to put down armed insurrection

The rail works are crowded far ahead, and the question in timplates depends largely upon wages. Eastern bar is reduced to 1.55 cents, and steel bars to 1.50 at Pittsburg, with a general shutting down of works expected July 1.
