—Meadville last week was called upon to pay a sum of $1,875 personal damages to a citizen who sustained quite serious injuries through a fall upon a defective piece of sidewalk.
—Mrs. Mary Warton of Bradford has instituted suit against the city for damages, claiming that her two children died from typhoid fever contracted by drinking the water furnished by the city.

—The woman who is always bewailing the fact around the 21st of December that she didn't begin to save up for Christmas soon enough, had better start now; it is less than three months off.—Ex.
—Mr. Sirois will be at his Tionesta studio every Saturday until further notice ready to attend the wants of those wishing work in his line. Don't delay your visit on account of a cloudy day.

—John Paul & Son, of Corry, the gravel-paving pavement layers are again in town and have contracts for quite a number of walks and other improvements to our streets. Let the good work go on.

—Following is a list of letters remaining un-called for in the Tionesta, Pa., post-office for the week ending Oct. 3, 1900: Mr. Arthur Fuller, Mr. C. Reedy, Mr. E. A. Reedy. D. S. KNOX, P. M.

—Hopkins sells the clothing and shoes

Pumpkin pie and apple cider? Cut for loose and open wider? A w't no time like fruitful autumn—Hickory nuts in river bottom? Who said fall was melancholy? Just the time to be real jolly! Stir that steaming apple butter; Fry totem doughnuts, hear 'em sputter. See them trees with apples laden! See the luxur country maiden! Senses of plenty, bliss Arcadia. Sparkling eyes and rosy features! Joyous, blessed, happy creatures! Apple slices and pumpkin slices—Eggs and butter bring good prices! Gran'ries full and runnin' over; Builtin hay-mows, sweet with clover. Country sausage! Goodness, landcapers! Harry up them buckwheat pancakes! My, oh, my! but don't we pity Poor folks livin' in the city?

—"It is dangerous for a woman to try to throw dirt in a man's eyes," remarks an up-to-date novel; "but if the dust happens to be there she should let it fall without a word, and thank heaven for it."
—Particulars of the massacre of missionaries and Christian natives in China by the Boxers are now being received and they are tales of terror and death. Thousands of converts were killed and their property destroyed.
—Remember this, Mrs. Lynch, of Endeavor, kept a millinery store for 10 years near New York City, and is thoroughly acquainted with the business; and can make you a hat to order, that will astonish you for quality and price.

—This is a reasonable hint for the housewife: It is said that four or five common marbles dropped in the bottom of a kettle of boiling fruit juice will by their continued motion make unnecessary constant stirring to prevent scorching.
—An exchange says that the curfew bell does not cause the average mother as much concern as the 11 o'clock bells, who persists in sitting on the front porch with her hand clasped in that of some young man with a yellow belt and a cackle for a laugh.

—The Pennsylvania railroad company will run excursions to Pittsburg and return over its Buffalo and Allegheny division, on account of the Pittsburg exposition, Sept. 27-Oct. 4, 11, and 18, the round rate, including the admission to the exposition being from Oil City, $3.75.

—There was a game of ball over on the knob in Venango county that is designated as Pleasantville. A team from Pleasantville went against the self-styled champions, and when the dust cleared away that "champion" team looked like a Japanese sen. Score 18 to 5 in favor of Pleasantville.

—The water is so low in the Spartansburg dam that the fish are perishing. Eighteen bushel baskets full of bass were placed in the sluiceway at the mill, where they will be kept until the water rises. The fish are nearly starved and one man took out 70 pounds of bass one day last week.—Ex.

—The fall opening of millinery at the store of F. Walters & Co. will be held in a short time and it promises to be a treat for the ladies. The firm requests all who contemplate buying a new hat for fall or winter to wait until their goods are ready. The date of the opening will be announced in a short time.

—At Inber's Museum, in New York, a man has placed himself on exhibition to be raffled off as the husband to the woman drawing the lucky number. The contest, which is to be settled within the coming four weeks, is spirited, one elderly maiden of uncertain age having already secured seventy-three chances.

—C. F. Cropp has our thanks for another supply of the extra nice crude oil produced from his wells, which comes mighty handy about the print shop for various purposes. Mr. Cropp gets a nice production from the store and untillable portion of his farm, which pays better than raising corn, potatoes and such.

—A farmer in a nearby town was in a store the other day and someone asked him to listen to a photograph on exhibition there. The operator handed him the tubes, fixed them in shape and started the machine. The farmer dropped the tubes hurriedly, saying, "Good, there comes a brass band, and I bet the mules' united."

—Word was received here by friends of the death of Miss Emma Ahlers, in Denver, Colorado, on Saturday night last. Miss Ahlers went to Colorado about three weeks ago, hoping to get relief from tubercular trouble in the change of climate, but grew rapidly worse until death relieved her of suffering. The deceased was aged about 20 years, and leaves a mother and one brother, living on German Hill, besides a large circle of friends to mourn her death. She was very popular in the community in which she was born and reared, and her demise will be most sincerely regretted by all who know her. The remains will be brought home for burial.

—Allan, the little son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Norman Davies, met with a painful accident Thursday. The little fellow, who is unusually bright, was investigating the merits of a clothes wringer, with the unfortunate result that a finger was caught between the rollers, the nail torn out and the finger nearly severed.—Warren Times.

—A special from Erie states that after lying at the bottom of Erie bay for almost a century, uncarved for and a profitable field for relic hunters, there is a probability that the Federal Government will take steps to preserve the hull of the old Niagara, which finished the battle of Lake Erie as the immortal Commodore Perry's flagship.

—Tionesta Lodge, No. 389, I. O. O. F., held their annual election of officers Tuesday evening of last week and chose the following: Noble Grand, F. P. Amster; Vice Grand, L. Agnew; Treas., T. F. Ritchey; Asst. Secy., C. M. Arner; Trustee, Jesse Dawson; Representative to Grand Lodge, which will be held at Gettysburg this year, J. R. Osgood.

—The Wheeler & Dusenbury mill at Endeavor, has shut down for a few days to give the employees a vacation and to make a number of improvements in and about the mill, among which is the digging of a large canal from the creek to the mill in order to facilitate the transportation of logs. D. W. Clark of this place is in charge of the excavations.

—Etta, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Patch of Endeavor, Pa., died on Sunday night last at 11:30 o'clock, of membranous croup. She was aged 4 years 1 month and 3 days. The interment took place in East Hickory cemetery yesterday afternoon. The stricken parents have the sympathy of their neighbors in this sad affliction.

—"Men's Dress: What, When, and How to Wear It," a handsome, illustrated booklet by the highest authority on correct clothes in this country, giving the proper things for all occasions in a correct dress chart and a review of the recent fall and winter styles. It will be mailed free to any address on request by its publishers, The McCuen Company, Oil City, Penna.

—On our fourth page will be found a perfect likeness of Joseph Besolino, the slayer of Antonio Marino, for which crime he was convicted of murder in the second degree last week. We also give fairly good pictures of the civie's attorneys, Messrs. Shawkey & Munn, of Warren. These cuts are from the Oil City Review, which gave a good report of the trial during its progress.

—The annual inspection of Stow Post was held in the Post room on Monday night of this week. The inspecting officer was Commander W. A. Burns of East Hickory. There was a large turnout and at the close of the exercises the doors were thrown open and the Women's Relief Co. admitted and after entertaining exercises consisting of instrumental and vocal music and speaking a bounteous luncheon was served.

—The unusual low condition of the water in the river has been the cause of considerable comment and it has been asserted by several that the stage is the lowest now on record. Last Saturday J. D. W. Reek and Jas. G. Carson went down to the river bridge and unearched the "low water mark" made on one of the piers on Sept. 6, 1894. At that time "Uncle" Benjamin May, the late Judge J. G. Dale and other pioneer residents declared that the water was the lowest ever known. On last Friday it lacked one inch of being as low as in '94.

—"Trix" Anderson, one of our popular young benefactors, who makes a livelihood by "putting people's whiskers on paper," is all puffed up over his picarescal abilities. Just for a little recreation last Friday Trix shouldered a rod and line, went down to the river bridge, anchored himself to one of the pilings there and after a struggle which lasted 3 hours, 30 minutes and 4 seconds landed a string of 19 bass which weighed 31 pounds. He now offers to wager $1,000 on any agreed time that he can catch more fish than any man between here and the planet Mars. Offer open as long as the season.

—Messrs. Bowen and Rathbun of the Blizzard spent a day of last week in this vicinity in the pursuit of happiness and a string of fish, and succeed in landing both in a fine measure. They carried with them a line outfit of fishing tackle and their bait must have been of the right sort, for they were loaded with fish when they boarded the train for home.

—As Jack would have it they selected the very day on which we had an important errand elsewhere, hence our inability to give details of their day's sport, which would no doubt make an exciting reading, if we heard the story right.

—What might very easily have resulted in a very serious runaway occurred last Thursday a short distance below the county home. A party of ladies composed of Mrs. L. J. Hopkins, Mrs. Wm. Smearbaugh, M. S. J. H. Robertson and Mrs. J. F. Fraper were out riding in a one-horse trap and started to drive down to see the new oil well on the island opposite the Hopkins farm. The horse became "cranky" and ran away, overturning the rig. Fortunately for the occupants the horse stopped when the trap started over, and while all of the party were more or less bruised and shaken up, Mrs. Hopkins was the only one who received very serious injury. She was so badly bruised about the body and limbs that she was confined to her bed for several days, but is now able to sit up.

—C. V. Culver, of Reno, last Thursday filed a petition in bankruptcy in Pittsburg. His liabilities are $329,575, which his assets are $29. This step will recall to the minds of old residents the failure in 1893 of the numerous banks owned by Mr. Culver. Mr. Culver's banks were located in Franklin, Oil City, Titusville, Meadville, Pleasantville and Potrosolone Centre and some of them were depositors for the U. S. Government, which then collected a war tax. Many of them were also heavy depositors. On March 24th the banking house of Culver, Penn & Co., in New York City, failed along with all those in this vicinity. The loss to depositors was estimated at between one and two million dollars. Charges of embezzlement were brought against Mr. Culver and he was lodged in jail, but being a member of Congress at the time, his release was secured by the Sergeant-at-Arms, who came here from Washington for that purpose.—Pennsylvania Citizen Press.

—An exchange gets off the following in a request to send in the news. It says: "If you know of an item, kindly tell us about it. Every week we know that you know things that we don't know. And we know that you know that we don't know it, and still you don't tell us. Now if you tell us what you know, then we will tell you what we know, also what you know, and then our readers will know what they know and what we know, and also what we know that you know we know, you know."

—Our sincerest congratulations and best wishes are extended to our young friend Harry Felt, head clerk at Hopkins big store, on a matter the details of which are briefly told in a paragraph under the head of marriages, in this issue. Harry and his accomplished bride came home last evening and received a glad welcome at the hands of his many friends. The happy couple will begin housekeeping in a short time and be "at home" to their friends. The REPUBLICAN joins in the hearty good wishes which are extended to the bride and groom on this occasion.

—An untold amount of real illumination and suffering is inflicted upon men and women striving to serve God in the church by a lack of appreciation of their point of view. Put yourself in their places. Would not you resent being an object of disapproval, or, when the case is bettered, an object of charity? Would you enjoy feeling that your hat, your coat, your dress and your children's clothes were matters of comment, and that the parish felt that the money paid your husband must be spent to please it and not yourself?—"A Minister's Wife."

—Detective W. J. Flinn, of Pittsburg, and two assistants have captured five counterfeiters and confiscated their factory and spurious coin at Penfield, near DuBois. The prisoners are Marcus Friedman, James N. Wilson, C. W. Biggle, Verd Wilson and James Wynop. In the house where the latter was living, a very elaborate counterfeiters' outfit for making spurious coins was found, and about $200 in dollars and fractional pieces were found. A quantity of this had not yet been plated, but the work up to that stage was fine. The inventory of the factory constituted, besides the completed and partly finished coin, a milling machine, moulds, plating outfit, a quantity of metal and some appliances for use in making the coin which were yet in process of manufacture.—Derrick.

—Pennsylvania sportsmen and people should fully understand that it is unlawful to purchase or sell in this State any deer, pheasant, quail, wild turkey or woodcock. The State act of 1897, forbidding the sale of the game above enumerated, simply covered the game within the State. Under the Inter-State Commerce law such game could be brought in from other States and sold. The Lacey bill, passed by Congress and approved by the President, changes all this and makes it unlawful to sell deer, pheasant quail or woodcock no difference where they come from. Dr. Kalbass, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, calls public attention to these facts and gives notice that the law will be enforced. The law is too plain to admit of mistakes. Sportsmen may regret it, but they can't better get an order filled at hotel or restaurant for quail on toast, woodcock or venison, unless they have themselves killed the game.—Ex.

Oil Notes.
A new well has been started by contractor Wasson on the Overlander farm on Jughandle. The company is composed of Tionesta people.

Mrs. Margaret Walton Dead.
Mrs. Margaret Walton died Friday morning at her home in this place, aged sixty-two years. She had been in poor health for some months past, and her friends knew for some time that the end was near.

Mrs. Walton was born and lived for some years in Philadelphia, coming to this place with her husband about thirty-five years ago. She was a jolly kind-hearted woman, good neighbor, and while her strength permitted her services were much sought after by the sick and afflicted. She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian church since her youth.

She is survived by a daughter and two sons, her husband having died some years ago. The funeral services were held at the house Sabbath afternoon, conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. P. Earsman, assisted by Rev. W. E. Frampton of the M. E. church.—Ma Jendish Express.
