Ir you want a clear case of clear conscience, yote for Clearwater.

Many a man may wear the Hall button for policy's sake, but he may vote the other way when the time comes.

EVEN the Democrats think Clearwater is all right-for a chaser! If they don't now, they will after the campaign closes.

THE silver Republicans who have returned to their party will cause a big change in the election footings, especially in the states west of the Mississippi.

This Republicans have been making a clean sweep in the town elections in Conneeticut. This, in one sense, is of no national importance. Not even the most benighted Bryanite has been claiming Connecticut this year. The days when Connecticut was a Democratic or a doubtfui State have passed. Connectient's Republican victory in the town elections last week, however, are of some consequence as showing the strength of the forces which are arrayed against Bryanism all over the Eastern States. The same forces it is well to say, are working in the same direction in the majority of the Western States.

WRITING of the battle of Port Hudson, Col. Alfred Neafie, at that time Captain of Company D, says of Alfred A. Clearwater, his drummer boy, "He was in the thickest of the fight and rendered the most efficient service. His bravery and efficiency were remarked and applanded by all. He did his whole duty when others qualled before the thick and deadly fire. He is a brave and noble boy!" The "Little Defender" as he was affectionately called by his comrades, was only 14 years old and weighed but 96 pounds. He has done his "whole duty" ever since, and would certainly do his duty honestly and patriotically if sent to

A GALLANT LEADER.

Col. A. A. Clearwater The Republican Candidate for Congress in the 28th District---Heroic Drummer Boy Who "Was in the Thickest of the Fight and Never Quailed."

Sail on, sail on, O ship of State, Sail on, O Union! strong and great! Humanity, with all its fears, With all her hopes of future years Is hanging breathless on thy fate! We know what master laid thy keel What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel Who made each mast and sail and rope, What anvils rang, what hammers best, In what a forge and what a heat Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!"

A Republican majority in Congress is just as important as the Presidency, and we must bend every nerve to hold our majority there. There is an effort now on foot to increase the Pennsylvania district have been very fortunate in securing for their candidate a man who is the very jewel to adora the chair of this discrict in the House. Col. has it pasted inside the lid of the Bible. Alfred A. Clearwater, of Wilcox, Elk county, was given a harmonious and enthuslastic nomination at the District Conference in DuBois on Soptember 20th, It was a very wise and eminently proper ments of strength to make a winning be could not get back into the army. fight, but is well fitted to make a very officient and popular Representative. He never sought the nomination for one moment. He has a luxurous home, a happy family, and all the fortunate environmants necessary to make his evening of life one free from strife or struggle of any kind. He had no need to go to Congress to raise him in the estimation of those who know him best, and he had not the superintendency of a tannery at Herrick slightest desire to thrust himself upon the voters. The office truly cought the man and he was drafted into the service just as was the gallant General Roosevelt at the Republican National convention in Philadelphia. When he had been nominsted by the unanimous vote of the conference, in spite of himself, he was called into the conference room and notified of his nomination in a most eloquent and complimentary speech by the Chairman, W. C. Miller, Esq. His warmest friends held their breath till they hourd his dedecision, for they feared his natural modesty might cause him to decline. There was an awful silence for a few seconds, but when Col, Clearwater said, "It seems to me I can do nothing but accept this as a call to duty for my country and my party," the restrained feelings of his friends burst forth in tremendous applause. There was enthusiasm on all sides and representatives from every county endorsed the nomination in the most cordial and enthusiastic terms. It seemed as though a great crisis in the history of the party had been passed and a victorious leader lind been found. Alfred A. Clearwater was born in Ultter county, N. Y., on March 21, 1848. His mander of Hiram Warner Post, No. 594, almost at a glance, the time at any place parents, Richard and Rachel (Osterhous) Clearwater were also natives of that county. He served an apprenticeship for four years and then took the Center for four years, after which, in are cheap. T, C. S. connection with two partners, he purchased the Glenwood tannery. After two years he purchased the interest of one of his parmers, and two years later became sole owner of the same, which he conducted for seven years. He then, in company with W. H. Osterhout, began operations at Penfield, Clearfield county, Pa., while the continued for one year. In 1883 he accepted the position of superintendent of the great tannery at Wilcox, Elk county, and moved to that place, where he still resides, though he resigned his position in the lannery about two years ign, to take a well carned rest. Col. Clearwater met with remarkable success as superintendent of the Wilcox tannery, making that great outerprise pay better than it ever had in all its history. He is thorough in everything be undertakes, putting his whole life and energy into his work. He used brain as well as brawn, and has patented several laborsaving devices, which are monuments to his genius,

FULL LINE SHOES AND RUBBERS.

After the war, during his residence in Susquehanna county, he was a promment member of the Seven Counties Veterans' Association and they elected him Colonel and he commanded one of their regiments at the annual re-unions, and the title has stuck to him ever since. It was the custom of these survivors of the great struggle to camp out after harvest every fall for three days. They had sham battles and all the hilarities and refreshments of war times, and it was a great occasion with the old soldiers.

The Republican party presents such a man to represent the 28th district in Congress, and he should certainly be elected by a large majority. He is worthy and most competent -- a man who would represent us all with signal ability, and there can be no doubt that he would look after the interests of his old comrades much better than the man who never smelled powder, and can have no influence with the administration. Let every patriot in the district vote for Col. A. A. Clearwater for Congress. He will "do his whole duty" and always stand by the flag.
