

Republican Ticket.

NATIONAL. President—WILLIAM MCKINLEY. Vice President—THEODORE ROOSEVELT. STATE. Auditor General—E. B. HARDENBERG, Wayne County. Congressmen-at-Large—GALUSHA A. GROW, of Susquehanna County, ROBERT H. FOERDERER, of Philadelphia County. COUNTY. For Congress—COL. ALFRED A. CLEARWATER, of Elk County. Assembly—A. M. DOUTT, Tionesta Borough. Associate Judge—W. H. H. DOTTERER, Kingsley Twp. District Attorney—SAMUEL D. IRWIN, Tionesta Borough. Coroner—DR. J. W. MORROW, Tionesta Borough.

GET out the vote. CLEARWATER is the winner. VOTE for McKinley and the full dinner pail. NEXT Tuesday, from 7 till 7. Get out the vote.

LET us have no stay-at-home Republicans this year. CLEARWATER is the winner.

CLEARWATER will be elected. Get into the band wagon. REPUBLICAN control of the next House is very important.

A VOTE for Bryan is a vote to close our mills and factories.

A VOTE for the Republican ticket is a vote to continue prosperity.

BETTER keep the mills open than to open the soup-kitchens.

KEEP in mind that Clearwater will be the next Congressman from this district.

COL. BRYAN finds it necessary to return to Chicago occasionally to reconvert the backsliding voter.

CLEARWATER is the winner.

* VOTE for your Republican Congressman so as to sustain the President in his policies for good government.

THE disturbers in New York are beginning to complain because Gov. Roosevelt is so explicit in his answers.

IF Gen. Wood shall insist upon raising the wreck of the Main in Havana harbor he will be accused by somebody of reviving the memories of the war.

BRYAN is apparently getting ready for defeat. In a recent speech in Indiana he said: "A wise man gets an idea in his head; a foolish man gets it in the neck."

MR. ROOSEVELT may be a little out of practice as a rough rider, but he has unquestionably got the "drop" on the expansive, liberty-loving, loyal Western vote.

MCKINLEY will want a Republican Congress to back up his splendid administration. See that the 28th district furnishes a member. Col. Clearwater is the man.

WHEN Bryan declared in 1896 that under a continuance of the gold standard the common people would not be able to wear shoes, he must have been anticipating an epidemic of gout.

IT is alleged that Mr. Bryan has an assistant who mixes with his audiences and asks questions for which he has prepared answers. This smacks strongly of the vaudeville mode of entertainment.

CLEARWATER is the coming man.

ONE of Bryan's policies, that of free trade, produced the distress experienced in 1894-5. What, then, would be the amount of suffering produced by a combination of both free trade and free silver?

THE Democratic test of loyalty is that one must be willing to starve and stagnate under Democratic mismanagement, rather than endorse by his vote one of the most magnificent administrations ever enjoyed by the American people.

THE change of tariff policy which upset and demoralized every business and industry in '93 was had enough. But now it is proposed to couple with it another change which would multiply its disturbing and destructive power upon business and every industry. Bryan proposes to change Sound Money for Cheap Money—a Hundred-Cent Dollar for a Fifty-Cent Dollar. Do you want it? It is, vote for Bryan and you will get it.

WE'VE got the winner, and his name is Clearwater.

WHAT a bit of consistency there is in the Democracy of Clearfield county, under the leadership of Sanguine Barclay, crying "down with the trusts," and hounding a man for Congress who voted for the continuation of the trusts in the last Congress. Why don't some of Mr. Hall's organs explain his attitude on the trust question? Vote for Col. Clearwater and we will guarantee that he will vote as his party voted in Congress, against trusts.—Clearfield Journal.

REMEMBER the panic, the depression, the idleness and want of 1893-96. That was the result of a change of policy in only one great factor of our national welfare. The election of Bryan would mean a return to all the causes which led to that panic. It would also add to them two other equally potent causes for panic—a change of currency and a change in our foreign policy. Do you want these changes? Do you want a panic in 1901-4 far worse than that of 1893-96? Do you want idleness and starvation and millions subsisting on charity just as they did in 1897? If so, vote for Bryan and you will get it.

VOTE the straight Republican ticket.

McKinley's Election Certain.

The New York Herald, which for the past four Presidential elections has made a forecast of the result based upon a thorough canvass, which proved to be remarkably accurate, has just printed the results of a similar canvass for this year. According to the Herald's forecast McKinley will have 281 and Bryan 161 electoral votes out of a total of 447. It places the plurality for McKinley in New York at 115,000; New Jersey 44,000; Ohio 33,000; Illinois 30,000; West Virginia, 21,000; California, 15,000; Kansas, 12,000; Maryland, 5,000; Kentucky, 2,500; Delaware, 2,000. It also places Indiana in the Republican column, as well as a number of other Western States which are regarded as somewhat doubtful. Kentucky is generally conceded to be very doubtful, with the chances in favor of Bryan. But South Dakota, Kansas, Washington and Wyoming, which went for Bryan in 1896, are regarded as sure for McKinley this time.

The chances are that the Republicans will have a larger majority in the next Congress than they have in this. In the present House there are 185 Republicans and 162 Democrats. The next House is likely to be Republican by a stronger majority than the present one.

The betting is four to one on McKinley, and very few bets can be secured at those odds.

Test Vote on Truism.

The rulings of the Supreme Court having shown that, as the constitution now stands, Congress can only regulate trusts engaged in interstate commerce, the following amendment was introduced in the House of Representatives and pressed to a vote on June 1:

Section 1. All powers conferred by this article shall extend to the several states, the territories, the District of Columbia, and all territory under the sovereignty and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Section 2. "Congress shall have power to define, regulate, control, prohibit, or dissolve trusts, monopolies or combinations, whether existing in the form of a combination or otherwise. The several states may continue to exercise such power in any manner not in conflict with the laws of the United States."

Section 3. Congress shall have power to enforce the provisions of this article by appropriate legislation.

The clause saving all rights of states was inserted in the hope of getting States Rights Democrats to support the amendment. Nevertheless the vote stood 148 Republicans for and 130 Democrats against, and the measure failed of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Loudly as the Democrats talked when it came to a vote they echoed Bryan's declaration at the Chicago conference: "We have not met here to destroy the trusts."

Women and the Ballot.

The sage of the Painesville Spirit, after a deep study of the question, finds himself of this opinion regarding woman suffrage:

There is only one thing seriously in the way of female suffrage, and that is the fact that women do not want to vote. That the majority of them would vote just as intelligently as men—providing they took sufficient interest in public affairs to put themselves, is also beyond question. But politics is positively distasteful to women, especially the kind of politics which admits of universal suffrage, government by the people. If the ladies managed affairs they would want Kings and Queens, and Princes and Lords and Dukes, and magnificent courts—something to dazzle. There is not enough dress parade about a republic, where everybody is a part of the sovereign power, to suit the ladies. In a number of Western states women were given the right to vote within the past decade. At first a number of them took a slight interest. The interest declined rapidly every year, until now their right to vote is almost wholly unexercised. There may occasionally a question arise that will interest them sufficiently to cause them to register, but such occasions will be rare. French women, during the reign of the Bourbon kings, proved themselves to be subtle politicians, skilled in all the arts of intrigue, but they were attracted to it by the pomp and glitter of royalty, and bothered themselves little about political principles. To the vast majority of women politics is a bore.

An Industrial Leader.

The Germantown Telegraph, one of the oldest agricultural and family newspapers in the State, speaks very flatteringly of one of the Republican nominees for Congress-at-large, Hon. Robert H. Foerderer, in the following language:

American business life is full of inspiring examples, showing what ability, industry and perseverance may do. Philadelphia is distinguished for the number of its strong men in all lines of trade, but it is doubtful if among these is to be found more than one having the remarkable traits so thoroughly developed and which characterize the young giant in the leather industry, the story of whose achievements reads like a fairy tale. Robert H. Foerderer is in very truth the architect of his own fortune. He began his career as an apprentice and from the start made it a point, never to be overlooked or forgotten, to master every department of the work in which he was engaged. He gave attention to every detail and to-day, the employer of over four thousand men he makes it a rule constantly to keep in the closest personal touch with all the vast mechanical appliances of his extensive establishment. He may be seen in workman's garb inspecting, criticizing, directing, instructing, like a bird superintendent, and all the while his personal relations with employees is of the kindest character. It is no wonder Mr. Foerderer has succeeded, and no wonder that those nearest to him are his best friends and the warmest supporters of his candidacy for high public place. His workmen know him and value his friendship, and their significant testimony should lead their fellows throughout this great city and State to give him the largest vote for Congressman-at-Large ever received by any nominee of the Republican party in this or any other State. Mr. Foerderer is of the type of men who command private and public respect because of their true character. As a representative at Washington he will be sacrificing his personal interests in order to effectively serve the whole people.

A CONTEMPORARY announced in a headline that "few Republicans were found by Roosevelt in Bryan's wake." Republicans do not feel like intruding at Bryan's wake. It is conceded that Democrats have a right to conduct the ceremony.

A MIGHTY FORCE FOR MCKINLEY.

Young Republicans of Pennsylvania Will Labor at the Polls on Tuesday Next.

Thousands of Club Men Are Appointed to That the Democracy Shall Have No Opportunity to Rejoice When the Returns Come In.

Republicans everywhere throughout Pennsylvania are preparing for next Tuesday's election, so that they may perform a solemn duty to their families, to state and to their country to vote the whole Republican ticket.

There are many thousands of active, progressive young men who will not be content with merely casting their ballots for McKinley and Roosevelt and the entire Republican ticket, but they propose to labor all day to get others to do likewise. CLUB MEN ACTIVE.

In an address just issued to members of Republican clubs J. Hampton Moore, president of the State League of Republican Clubs, gives this timely notice:

"In the approaching election for president of the United States the forces of the Pennsylvania State League of Republican Clubs are expected to play a most important part. The recent convention held in Philadelphia demonstrated the enthusiasm and earnestness of the workers of the league, and justified the expectation that excellent results would be forthcoming in the interest of McKinley and Roosevelt, and the whole Republican ticket."

It is not my purpose as president of the league to enlarge upon the advantages of the Republican party policy. All good citizens should be united upon this point. It is my duty, however, to issue this final call to all Republican club members of the state to put their best foot forward in the fight which is to be determined on Nov. 6.

"Shall McKinley or Bryan rule this country? That is the question. If you are for McKinley, work for him; vote for him; urge your neighbors and friends to work and vote for him. Permit no citizen who is interested in the commercial and business life of the community to fall in his full duty as a citizen. Make him come out to vote; see that his vote is counted, and see that it is counted upon the right side."

"What you do for McKinley and Roosevelt do also for your own state candidates. Give your loyal support to E. B. Hardenbergh, the Republican nominee for auditor general, and to Galusha A. Grow and Robert H. Foerderer, the Republican nominees for congressmen-at-large. They are worthy and deserving men, who are entitled to and should receive the full Republican vote."

VOTE THE WHOLE TICKET.

"Do not be deceived in any of your congressional districts. Stand for the regular Republican nominees. If the president of the United States is to be William McKinley see that a congressman is elected who will support him. Mr. McKinley is the head and front of the Republican organization of the United States. His support comes from the organizing of the Republican party in the various states. Pennsylvania, the greatest of the Republican states, should be stalwart in its support, and should not elect a single congressman who is not in thorough sympathy with the Republican party, and with the president, who is its inspiration and fountain head."

"It is a safe rule to stand for the regularity of nominations. The State League stands not only for the maintenance of Republican principles, but it stands for the rule of the majority. Wherever a congressional candidate has been regularly nominated he should receive the support of all the members of the State League."

SHOULD BE NO CROSSING.

"The loss of one congressman in Pennsylvania may turn the next house of representatives. The president of the national executive committee and the chairman of the national congressional committee have each urged that there be no wavering on the part of the Republicans of Pennsylvania."

"Let us hope that the expectations of the leaders of the party in state and nation may be realized, and that the State League may be able, after the returns are in, to claim the honor of having swelled the majority to upwards of THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND VOTES."

"The only danger that confronts the party is inaction and apathy. The State League has never heretofore failed to do its part. Its enthusiasm has been a welcome factor in this campaign. Let us hope the result will justify its labor."

Remember from now until Nov. 6 the important question for you, your neighbors and friends is whether as may be prescribed by law. Proceed. That secrecy in voting be preserved. A true copy of the Joint Resolution. Secretary of the Commonwealth.
