Our Cloting Department

Sounds the Death Knell of the High Price Cred-We are Liberal Truthful and Proit System. gressive.

BUT FOR CASH ONLY.

A word about our Spot Cash Policy. It's self evident that buying and selling for Cash avoids some very considerable expense items, such as losses through bad accounts, expenses of bookkeeping, collecting and the carrying of many accounts on the books for many months at a loss of interest. You do not suppose for a moment that the store keeper can afford to do all these things unless be provides for it and his only way of providing is tacking a big price on to his merchandise. So you see all this you are paying for when you buy on credit. Who else is to pay for it? Why should you pay for what you do not get? Is it not better to pay cash, get just what you pay for and all that you pay for?

Our Golden Rulecox

FOR THE PRESENT WINTER

Our Clothing is made specially for us by the Makers of the Famous "VITALS" Brand Clothing -the Largest and Best Manufacturers of fine clothing in the world. The chief superiority of our clothing over the ordinary kind is the inside—the "VITALS—tailoring. The insides of a garment is the very foundation-it's the life of a garment and requir s as much care and thought as the outside tailoring. This being done right guarantees the garme..t to fit perfectly and gives lasting satisfaction. If you will pay us a visit we will more than prove the strength of our statements. Remember, all these advantages and you will pay less money than ever before. If you are wise you will investigate.

CAUCUS CALLED ON SENATORSHIP

Stalwart Republicans Select the First Day of the Legislative Session.

INSURGENT BLUFF CALLED.

Party Men Declare That to Ignore the Custom of Years and Bolt the Caueus Means Political Suicide For (Special Correspondence.) Harrisburg, Dec. 18.-Another bluff of the insurgents of Pennsylvania has just been called by friends of Col. M. S. Quay. A short time ago it was announced by the Martin-Flinn insurgent organs that the supporters of Col. Quay were afraid to have a caucus of the Republican members elect of the legislature, as they knew that such a caucus would show that Col. Quay had not enough votes to elect him to the United States senate. Following out their usual custom of claiming everything, these insurgent newspapers have been day after day declaring that they have "Quey licked," but they never could give a list of names of Republican members of the senate and house who would remain out of the caucus and co-operate with the Democrats, as did the insurgents in the last session of the legislature.

After their boasts that the regulars dared not have a caucus, the insurgents were completely taken back when Senator John C. Grady and Representative William H. Keyser, the oldest Republican members of the respective branches of the legislature, met in accordance with custom and decided that the Republican members of the general assembly shall be called in caucus or Jan. 1 next at 8 p. m., in the hall of the house of representatives at Harrisburg, to agree upon a candidate to be supported by the Republican members of the legislature for United States sen-

This action, following so quickly after the claims of the insurgents, may be taken as a challenge from the regulars and indicating that they are entirely satisfied with their position, and that they have absolute confidence in the election of Col. Quay to succeed himself.

EARLIEST DAY CHOSEN. The legislature meets for organization on Tuesday, Jan. 1, and on the evening of that day the friends of Col. Quay say they will be prepared to meet the issue on the United States senatorship, and that they are satisfied that there will be more than the necessary number of votes to elect recorded in favor of the Beaver states-

So confident are the admirers of the former national chairman of the victory which is due him that already there are a number of clubs and dele gations preparing to go to Harrisburg and participate in a great demonstration in honor of his victory on the first of the year. It is declared that with the adjournment of the Republican caucus on the senatorship the fight will be over and the so-called insurgent movement will go to pieces.

There has been considerable discussion of the question of the duty of Republicans to recognize their organization in the matter of the party caucus and submitting to the will of the majority An interesting declaration on this issue comes from Livy S. Richards, editor of the Scranton Tribune.

AS TO THE CAUCUS. "A general discussion of the nature and binding force of a party caucus, particularly of a caucus of Republican members of the legislature to select a oraince for United States senator, says Mr. Richards, "is proceeding in the press of the state, with opinions varying in reflection of every hue of factional prejudice. Let us, therefore, examine this interesting and timely subject judicially.

To begin with it may be set down as generally conceded that political parties are necessary to the orderly and sustained operation of government. There is no limit, and should be no limit to the number of these parties. The right of a citizen to join with other citizens in formation of a new party is unchallengable and new party is unchallengeable and wholesome as a means of expressing

"But where sharp differences of opinion or of personal choice exists within the membership of a political party and recourse to a new party is not adopted, it is plain that methods of reaching a conclusion must be taken and these, by custom, are clearly defined. If the difference is over the choice for nominee for an elective office the party primary is utilized and the choice of the largest number is legally entitled to have his name apnear on the official ballot as the regular party nominee. The law does not compel those who in the primaries favored minority candidates to vote at the ensuing election for the plurality's choice, but it recognizes the right of a plurality to determine party credentials, and there is a widely observed custom of viewing unfavorably the citizen who, after participating in a primary and being fairly outvoted, thereupon proceeds to attack the plu-

"Where the office to be filled is elective by a legislature, as in the case of the United States senatorship, the law is entirely silent as to preliminary methods of arriving at a concurrence of party support, but long established custom has ordained the party caucus, which is a concurrence of the members nominees placed before it one name | party is to open wide the door to polity and ligans

"This issue in importance rises far

"In their efforts to manufacture new "Those who, as in Pennsylvania at thunder, by submitting a preposterous this time, denounce the caucus because knowing it to be in the control gents yesterday received a jolt which of their opponents, offer in lieu of it staggered them," says the editor of the no plan of unifying party choice save Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette "Speaking as the head of the state organization, the colonel said:

"Democrats will be Democrats, and will do just as they did two years ago-support their own cau-cus nominee for United States senator, from start to finish." "Isn't that an appetizing morsel for party organization. All organization the nondescript aggregation which recof party effort rests upon the theory ognizes neither party nor caucus? Mr. of majority rule. > Ants' Sense of Smell. Ants recognize one another easily.

When an ant enters a colony which is not its own, it is put to death almost im mediately. A German naturalist has discovered that it is by the sense of smell that this subtle recognition takes place. If an ant touches water, it invariably is attacked by its sisters on its return to the colony, the water having removed from the ant the special property on which depended the recognition

Experiment proved the statement. Some ants were crushed, and with the mess an ant was smeared and placed in a colony. If the ant had the odor of this colony, it was well received; if not, it was attacked at once. An ant washed with alcohol at 39 degrees was returned to its nest and was attacked as a stranger.

On the contrary, put at one side 24 hours before being returned to the colony, e Re- ing enough for the restoration of its fam
