

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23

The Christmas trade this year was phenomenal, every merchant doing a larger business than he did the year previous, which up to that time was a record breaker. But Christmas buying is only an incident of business. It is your every-day trade of the rest of the year that counts. That is what we want to get and shall continue to offer you the very best service and prices possible in our line which is DRUGS, MEDICINES and Sundries, exclusively.

Sundries in this case means combs and brushes, toilet accessories, pocket books, fine stationery, perfumery, books, toys, etc., and the famous LOWNEY candies.

-Charles Klinefister, of Nebraska, came home from Jamestown, N. Y., last Saturday, where he spent the last two months receiving treatment for his old complaint. Except that he was just getting over a tussle with the grip, Charlie was feeling pretty well.
-Miss Ivy Marion Findley of Kittanning, died suddenly of pneumonia at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. E. Findly, on Thursday last, aged 18 years. The deceased was a niece of Mrs. William Lawrence of this place and had visited her cousins, Misses Laura and Emma Lawrence, making a number of acquaintances who will be saddened by the news of her demise.
-The editor of the Advocate is indebted to Miss Bessie Glass, the talented teacher of stenography and typewriting in this place, for a present that is quite a novelty and shows much skill and patience. It is a picture of a church, and the entire picture is created by the use of a few of the characters found on the celebrated Smith Premier typewriter. Miss Glass is likely to win great success in her chosen profession.-Ridgely Advocate.

BENJAMIN MAY.

Benjamin May, in his 83rd year, and probably the oldest resident of Western Pennsylvania, died at the home of A. B. Kelley, this place, at 9:15 o'clock on Saturday morning, Jan. 19, 1901. The name of this pioneer will be remembered by all the older residents of the Allegheny valley, as in his day he was one of the best known lumbermen on the Allegheny river.

He was born at Bangor, Me., September 3, 1818, and was the son of Rev. Hezekiah May and Margaret White May, the latter a direct descendant of Peregrine White, the first child born in New England of white parents, at Plymouth, 1620. His father, Rev. Hezekiah May, was graduated from Yale college in 1798, and received a commission from the society for propagating the gospel among the Indians, and settled in the province of Maine and other points. Later the May family settled successively at Marblehead, Mass.; Owego, N. Y., and Painted Post, N. Y. From the last named point they removed to Franklin, where the Rev. May preached for a couple of years, and Benjamin then being a young man engaged as a clerk for the late William Raymond, of that place. He remained in that capacity in Franklin for three or four years and then followed his family to Tionesta, where his father had obtained a farm and a tract of timber land about three miles from the mouth of Tionesta creek and above the present borough, and which his father termed "Oldtown" from the fact that the farm was the site of an ancient Indian village, of which there are traces to this day.

Benjamin and his two brothers, H. H. and Seldon T. May (deceased), established and built a fine saw mill in the forest tract owned by their father, which was known as "Oldtown mill." His brothers some time thereafter started and operated larger mills on the same stream, Minister run and the Buck mills. About this time Benjamin married Ann Sturdevant Holmes, of Boston, Mass., a widow, the mother of three children, all of whom are now dead. He removed to Tionesta and erected a beautiful home, which is now the property of Hon. John A. Proyer. Just before the war of the rebellion Mr. May and family removed to Warren, Pa., where he lived a few years, and then returned to his old home in Tionesta, and from there migrated to Norristown, Pa., where he lived until the death of his wife in 1880. Having lost by death his stepchildren he again returned to Tionesta and made his home with his brother, H. H. May.

He was the last survivor of the large May family, the oldest son, yet he survived them all being blessed with a robust, excellent constitution. His brothers were

See hand bills at T. C. S. -I. N. Patterson finished his 31st well, a duster, Monday, down near Hunter Station. -The last day for filing nomination papers for cities is Jan. 22, for boroughs and townships, Feb. 1. -Free rural delivery service is gained by petitioning the postoffice department and is not forced upon a community. -Captain L. W. Gifford, of the famous "Bucktail" regiment, died at his home at Washington, D. C., on Saturday, Jan. 12, of pneumonia. -The W. C. T. U. will hold their regular service at the County Home next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. All are invited to attend. -The Odd Fellows of Western Pennsylvania are now discussing the question of establishing a home for aged and infirm members of the order. -The first issue of W. J. Bryan's paper, the "Commoner," was printed yesterday, says an enthusiastic exchange. Did anybody feel the earth tremble? -There are three holidays next month, viz: Lincoln's Birthday, February 12th; Election day, February 19th, and Washington's Birthday, February 22d. -Scott Smathers, who was so badly injured in a railroad wreck near Kinzua last summer, is visiting his sisters, Mrs. H. E. Moody and Mrs. Joseph Morgan. -Carlos Heath of Starr has been having quite a time with a slight cut on his right hand for some days past, having been threatened with blood poison, but the hurt is getting better now. -Following is a list of letters remaining unclaimed for in the Tionesta, Pa., postoffice for the week ending Jan. 23, 1901: Mr. August W. Johnson, Mr. William Kelly. D. S. Knox, P. M. -An Indian may not vote so long as he remains a member of a tribe, but if he gives up his tribal relationship and becomes a citizen he may vote (or sell his vote) under the same conditions as any other citizen. -The meetings at the Presbyterian church are still in progress and will probably continue this week. The attendance is good and the interest increasing, quite a number having taken the first step toward a better life. -George Culmer, while at work in the woods near Scotch Hill, had one of his legs very seriously fractured by a falling tree last Wednesday morning. It was thought amputation of the leg would be necessary to save his life. -The Warren Evening Press has now changed hands and is controlled by a number of politicians of the insurgent stripe. Just what the future policy of that paper will be it is hard to determine, but if it follows the tactics pursued by its owners during the last campaign it will endeavor to create a split in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans and attempt to tear down the hitherto splendid majorities of the party in that county.

-Persons who start newspapers for the glory of the thing are sometimes reminded of the small boy who stuck his finger into the Atlantic Ocean, and pulling it out looked for the hole.-Warren Times. Those who start them with an axe to grind are also in the same boat.-Franklin News. -The new three-cent piece, recently authorized by Congress, will be somewhat on the order of the Chinese metal coins, inasmuch as it will have a hole in it. The hole will be round, on a fourth of an inch in diameter and the coin will be of nickel, making it readily recognized by sight or touch. -This morning while ex-Commissioner Herman Blum and Henry Weingard were driving through town their buggy in some unaccountable manner parted in the center, throwing both violently to the hard frozen ground. Mr. Blum's left leg was considerably hurt about the knee. Mr. Weingard was not very much hurt. -If reports are true it won't be so funny going to York State to have the nuptial knot tied as heretofore, as a license law, much more stringent than that of the Keystone State, has gone into effect there, and the clergy of Salamanca and Jamestown will probably suffer considerable pecuniary loss from the new law. -To get the best and freshest for the least money is what the average householder is after, in groceries especially. It is scarcely necessary to point the way to Amster's in this case, as he handles only the choicest in that line. Vegetables and tropical fruits are also among his specialties. Phone orders are promptly attended to. -Kery Heath, of the firm of Heath & Felt, claims the shoe-trade belt, having sold 47 pairs in a little less than two hours last Saturday. However, Harry Feit, the other member of the firm claims it's no great shakes considering the price at which they go. And yet they have a number of the same excellent grades left which will go at a similar low figure. But come early. -The first question a man asks when he sees a girl flirting is whether she is respectable or not, says an exchange. It raises a doubt at once, no modest, virtuous girl can afford to indulge in such pastime. When the dowry is brushed from the peach its beauty is marred. It can never be restored, and when a young girl throws lightly aside that sweet and modest reserve so becoming and which so elevates her to the command and respect of all, she loses her charm. -A young man, a cripple, who arrived from Tionesta on the noon train, Friday, with a considerable jag on board, was arrested during the afternoon by Officer Kaon. He was very stubborn, used much foul language and it became necessary to load him into a wagon on the way to police headquarters. A local hotel man appeared against him this morning. He was fined five dollars or ten days to jail, and accepted the latter.-Blizzard. Since Tionesta has no young men cripples, and has missed none of its uncrippled population, young or old, of late, it will be necessary to locate the obstreperous young man some where else. -Learn to laugh, advises a philosopher. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well told story is as wholesome as a sunbeam in a sick room. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to stop croaking. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under a pleasant smile. No one cares to hear whether you have the earache; headache or rheumatism. Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but they are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. The good humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and he is a nuisance as well. -Mr. A. S. Hayes was recently elected chief clerk of the Arkansas house of representatives. He is a son of the late David Hayes, who is well remembered by all our older class of citizens as a former resident of Tionesta, where he married his wife, Miss Ella Dale. Of the newly elected chief clerk the Arkansas Daily Democrat, of Little Rock, says: "Hon. Steele Hayes, who will be chief clerk of the house, will be the youngest man who ever held that position. He is 28 years old, and has been a resident of the state since he was 6 years old. His home is at Atkins, where he is universally respected and esteemed. He was journal clerk of the last house, and made a most capable official. He is a good reader, a most affable gentleman and in every sense fitted for the place he will occupy. He is receiving the congratulations of friends to-day on his success, which is now assured."

-Francis T. Moore and Elizabeth Volkstad, both of Marienville were granted a license to wed by Clerk Robertson, Monday. -I. E. "Farmer" Dean is the first to leave this immediate vicinity to inspect the big Beaumont, Texas, gusher, leaving for there Thursday.-Derwick. -Mesdames Claude Campbell and David Blum are in Youngsville, attending the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. A. Death of H. A. Zuendel.
On Saturday morning, Jan. 19, 1901, about three o'clock, Henry A. Zuendel, an aged citizen of this county residing at Starr, departed this life. Mr. Zuendel was born Dec. 18, 1821, at Rambsach, Germany. In 1840 he, with his father, mother, one brother and three sisters, came to this country, his other brother remaining until a few years later. In 1847 he and Anna C. Zuendel were united in marriage. This union was blessed with six sons and three daughters. One son and one daughter died in infancy. Those surviving are George, Henry, Conrad, Ernest, John, Elizabeth and Mary Zuendel, all of this county. He also survived by his wife, two brothers—Adam of Starr, and Conrad of Fairview, Erie county, Pa., and three sisters—Mrs. Elizabeth Root of Washington, Mrs. Anna White of Kansas, and Mrs. Catherine Gillespie of Whig Hill, this county, and fourteen grand-children. Mr. Zuendel was one of the early pioneers, moving to this part in 1841, when all for miles around was a vast wilderness. Here, by hard work and unceasing toil, he cleared up a farm which proved self-sustaining. He will be remembered as having served as County Commissioner, besides many local offices, such as school director, road commissioner, treasurer, postmaster, etc. In all these he proved himself to be a thoroughly interested and painstaking official, and in all matters showed a deep interest in the welfare of others. He was a consistent member of the Evangelical Association, for over forty years serving as class leader, superintendent of the Sunday school, besides holding the license of local minister. He was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and was entirely worthy of such esteem. The remains were laid to rest Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock in the Zuendel cemetery, the obsequies being conducted by Rev. Paul Gifford, assisted by Rev. Miller. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family. -Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold. Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No cure, no pay. Tionesta, Pa.

Dear Sir: James Aekley's house in Cairo, (Catskill Mountains), N. Y., a conspicuous one in the midst of the village, was painted 14 years ago with Devco; has not been painted since: and the paint is in good condition to-day. He is going to paint; but there's really no necessity of it. Devco has been sold in Cairo 18 years. Our agent is Gaston Wynkoop. House-owners there want Devco, and painters there paint Devco. It would be a hard job to persuade a Cairo man to paint lead and oil—of course a painter paints whatever his customer wants, even if it's buttermilk. Marian Van Hoesen, a Cairo painter has painted Devco for 15 years. There are two or three others: all for Devco, we are told—Don't know their names. It's the same wherever Devco gets into a town: it stays there and owns the whole business. Yours truly, F. W. Devco & Co.
