In death it was lovelier than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the ravages of disease was visible. The servants having retired, Queen Alexandra, the princesses and the children were re-called, and with lingering steps and stified sobs they passed slowly before this white-robed and peaceful figure.

At the foot, never moving, stood the king, and when the mourning crowd had passed there remained only the son and grandson of the dead Emperor Willinu, wept even more bitterly than the royal ladies. Finally he also retired and the king was left alone. Str James Reid, beckening to the servants with the coffin lid, asked the king's instructions.

For a few seconds the king stood speechless, stricken with emotion at the last farewell. Then he said quickly: "Close it finally. It must not be pened ngain."

Thus the remains of England's great est ruler were forever closed from human view. Reverently the coffin was borne into the dining room. Officers and men from the royal yachts took their stand around the come, over which the king, queen and kaiser gently laid the robes of a knight of the garter, placing at the head a diamond crown. #### OUR FORE GN TRADE. Dotsestic Expert Forty Times Larger

Than a Century Ano, WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.-Frank H. Hitchcock, chief of the section of foreign markets of the agricultural departeign markets of the arrow ment, has just issued his annual review of the trade of the United States in agricultural products. His report says

"The fiscal year 1900 brought to a close a century of marvelous development in the history of the United States commerce. In 1800, a century ago, the total value of the merchandise imported and exported in our trade with foreign countries was considerably less than a quar-ter of a billion dollars. The value of the goods exchanged during the past fiscal year reached nearly two and a quarter billions, for exceeding all previous rec ords. Since the opening of the century our commerce with the rest of the

has increased more than twelvefold. "It was chiefly in the export trade that the enormous growth of the century oc curred. Our demestic exports during 1900, with a recorded value of $1.370. 763,571, were over 40 times as large as in 1800. The total imports for 1900, on the other hand amounting in value to $849,041,184, were less than 10 times as large as in 1800. "Products of United States agriculture were marketed abroad in the fiscal year 1900 to the value of $844,616,530, forming about '2 per cent of the total domes-tic exports. With the single exception of 1898, the past year witnessed the largest annual export trade in farm produce on record. The value attained came within $15,000,000 of the phenomenal igures for 1898, and surpassed those for 1800 by more than $50,000,000. A considerable portion of the increase over 1870 was accounted for by the higher price of cotton. Aside from cotton the largest gains in value were those afforded by the exports of meat products and live-stock. Tobacco, fruits and nuts, vegetable oils, oil cake and oil cake meal, dairy products and seeds also furnished ex-mules of increase, "A comparison of the value of our agricultural exports for 1900 with that of our agricultural imports shows that the former exceeded the latter by $424,480,-Twenty wire repairers were attacked 149. The export value was slightly more than double the amount of the import

"Among the agricultural imports of the United States for the fiscal year 1900 the leading items, named in the order of values, were sugar, hides and skins, cof-fee, silk, vegetable fibres, wool, fruits and nuts, tobacco, tea, wines, vegetable oils and cocoa. These 12 items comprised in value nearly 90 per cent of the entire import trade in the products of foreign agriculture during the year.
"Our principal agricultural exports

1900, as in previous years, were breadstuffs, cotton and ment products, those with live animals, tobacco oil cake, veg-etable oils, fruits and nuts, dairy products and seeds comprising over 95 per cent of our total exports of farm producduring 1900.

"The exports for 1808, amounting to $333.897,119, were by far the largest on record. In 1899 the export trade amounted to $273,999,699, this value being in excess of any previously reported excepthat just mentioned for 1808 and a reord of $209,363,117 attained in 1892. The shipments during 1900 were valued at $262,744,078, or $11,255,621 less than the figures returned for 1899."
