WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30

The Christmas trade this year was phenomenal, every merchant doing a larger business than he did the year previous, which up to that time was a record breaker. But Christmas buying is only an incident of business. It is your every-day trade of the rest of the year that counts. That is what we want to get and shall continue to offer you the very best service and prices possible in our line which is DRUGS, MEDICINES and Sundries, exclusively.

Sundries in this case means combs and brushes, toilet accessories, pocket books, fine stationery, perfumery, books, toys, etc., and the famous LOWNEY candies.

The death of Hugh McCrea, of Eagle Rock, a station on the Penna. R. R., eight miles south of Tionesta, remove perhaps the oldest settler of this region of country. His demise occurred shortly after midnight of Saturday, Feb. 3d, 1901. He was born June 24th, 1813, on the McCrea farm, where he continued to reside till the day of his death, with the exception of two years spent at Williamsport, Pa., from '64 to '66. Some ten years ago the editor of the Oil City Blissard, while enjoying a little recreation at Eagle Rock, met Mr. McCrea, and finding him in a reminiscent mood drew from him a very entertaining story of his long life on the banks of the Allegheny river. Patrick McCrea, father of the subject of this sketch, immigrated to America way back in the 18th century, not so very long after the close of the Revolutionary war

"My father came Lere in 1797," said Mr. McCrea. "Then there was not another white man on the river between Franklin and Warren At that time the age of my father was forty years, so you see he was born in 1757. He had served in the British army as Lieutenant for five years, was born in Ireland and studied medicine there for some time. After serving in the army the length of time mentioned, he deserted and located at Richmond, Va., where he taught school and kept a store. He became aware of the presence of several British officers in Richmond, and, becoming suspicious that they were after him, he left and settled in the wilderness here at Eagle Rock and was here five years before

"I was born here in 1813, and have alwas born here in 1813, and have al-ways lived here, with the exception of two years that I resided in Williamsport, Pa. I made my living partly by hunt-ing and fishing, but principally by farm-ing and rafting on the Allegheny."

"In those early days settlers bought State land," said Mr. McCrea, "but my father never bought his land. He settled on it, and stayed on it until he died. Land jobbers tried to take it away from Land jobbers tried to take it away from him, but they couldn't do it. According to the law at that time, a man to own land had to live on it for five years before he could get a title. My father owned 383 or 393 acres, which he had surveyed. Could have had a good deal more if he had wanted it, but he did not want any more. If I had been in his place at that time I would not have wanted as much as he had. After father died I got a patent to the land, and paid twenty cents an acre for it.'

Mr. McCrea during all these years has Mr. McCrea during all these years has been a most interesting figure to all the generations that have com- and gone, and his memory will long be cherished by those who were acquainted with hi. His wife, Patience McCrea preceded him in death less than two months, aged 82 years. Of the culdren surviving there are Mrs. C. Masterson, Warren; Mrs. Anna O'Brien, Franklin; Mrs. Margaret Dykins, Raymilton; John McCrea, Tionesta, and Samuel McCrea, Eagle Rock. Funeral services were held at the late home of the deceased yesterday afternoon.

Funeral services were held at the late tome of the deceased yesterday afternoon, the remains being laid to rest beside those of his wife, in the family burial ground, near the old homestead. Mr. McCrea had no disease—simply a wearing out of the constitution, and his end was pain-less and peaceful. He had never been confined to his bed but a single day in all his long life.

H. KILLWER.

No ifs or buts.

You can have your money back, if the clothes don't suit, You can have it because that's the way we deal. It's a safe place to trade where they "swap back." A merchant would nnver make such an offer unless he knew his prices were as low or less than his neighbors. We know our prices are less for same quality than elsewhere—sometimes $1.00, perhaps $2.00, more often 'tis $3.00 or $4.00 less. We are not so greedy as some-our way of doing business doesn't demand the profit some stores have to make, We've hammered away for years on the one idea, good clothing cheap. The cloth and work are the best—no better in the world. We give the best we can for the least we can. That's our clothing principle.
