STILL FLOODING MINES.

Several Days Before Bodies of Victims Can Be Reached.

For Distressed Families—Premier Dunsmuir Orders Storekeepers to Give Them Whatever Supplies They Need. Cause of Explosion Will Never Be Known.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 18.—The terrible accident at Union mines, Vancouver island, which has plumed the town of Cumberland and the entire province into mourning continues to engross public attention. The greatest excitement in the Canadian Pacific Railway company's steamers arrived at Vancouver yesterday afternoon from the coasting station at Union, 21 miles from Cumberland. She brought two passengers, H. Raymond and George Bennett, both coal miners. Neither had any theory as to the cause of the explosion in No. 6 shaft, in which the accident occurred. They say the cause is not known and that it will never be known.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE.

Searchers Within 100 Yards of Where Bodies Are Expected to Be Found. VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 19.—Splendid progress was made yesterday by the men who are searching for the bodies of the unfortunate men killed by the explosion at the Union mines. The first have been put out and the inspectors have penetrated through No. 5 mine to No. 6, expelling the gas as they proceeded, and at last reports were within 100 yards of where they expect to find the first bodies.

Story of the Disaster.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 16.—A special to The Post-Intelligencer from Victoria says: What is feared will prove to be one of the most horrible mine accidents in the history not only of the province, but of the dominion, took place Friday at the Union mines, owned by the Welling Colliery company, of which James Dunsmuir, premier of the province, is the principal shareholder. The telegraphic advice received so far give no complete story of the accident.

GIFTS OF SAENGERBUND.

President McKinley and Emperor William Each Receive an Album. WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Major Carl Lentz, president, and 22 directors of the Northeastern Saengerbund of America, called in a body at the White House yesterday and presented to the president an album bound in red leather and containing the songs sung by the society at its last meeting in 1900. On the fly leaf of the album is inscribed in illuminated letters the words:

"William McKinley, president of the United States of America, in commemoration of the festival in honor of the 50th anniversary of the Northeastern Saengerbund, Brooklyn, N. Y., June 20-July 4, 1900."

The directors also presented to Emperor William, through the German ambassador, an album of rare beauty, said to have cost $1,200. This is an acknowledgment of the emperor's courtesy in offering a prize at the last Saengerfest.

The ambassador received a cablegram from Emperor William, authorizing him to receive, in his name, the souvenir of the Saengerbund. After the presentation of the album and the delegation drank the health of Emperor William.

The album is of American manufacture and a masterpiece of art. It consists of two silver plates, weighing 40 pounds, bound in leather richly embellished with scrolls and silver mountings. Upon the face of the first plate is engraved the American and German flags and coats of arms, while on the back is a resolution of thanks for the emperor's prize.

On the face of the second plate is inscribed the song that won the prize at the last Saengerfest, and on the back is an engraved resolution of the "Wandering Minstrel," the emperor's prize.

SPELLBINDING TRAMP.

Invaded a Music Teacher's Home and Mesmerized Her With the Piano. NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—A tramp who refused to give his name or any information about himself was sent Wednesday to the county jail for 60 days by Recorder Hegeman of North Bergen. The tramp called at the home of Henry Richcock and asked for money from Mrs. Richcock. She refused to give him any, and pushing her aside he walked into the house and began to wreck the furniture.

The sight of him aroused his detestation, and he began to play, Mrs. Richcock, who is a music teacher, was thoroughly frightened; but fear gave way to admiration when the tramp began playing selections from operas and classical music.

Mrs. Richcock is a pianist. She said she sat spellbound while the man played. When he stopped he gave the piano keys a vicious pound and walked out of the house. When Mr. Richcock came home his wife told him of her experience and described her visitor. Richcock notified the police and the tramp was arrested.

ENGLAND IS INTERESTED.

Inclined to Take the Russian Side in Tariff War With United States.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—There is considerable interest here in the outcome of the tariff difficulties between the United States and Russia. The advocates of a change in the British fiscal system hope to find in them some support of their contentions that retaliatory duties should be imposed on countries taxing British products. The St. James Gazette says: "Some Americans, including Secretary Gage, appear to think the United States have the monopoly of the protection policy, but they have been sharply reminded by Russia that two can play at the game of hostile tariffs, as the import of Russian sugar is a trifle compared with the exports to Russia. The present game of retaliation is one in which Russia holds the best cards. Therefore she will win most of the tricks."

MRS. NATION RAMPANT.

Caused All Kinds of Excitement at Topeka, Kan. TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 18.—Mrs. Carrie Nation put in a busy Sunday in Topeka and as a result the capital city has experienced more genuine excitement than can be remembered by the oldest inhabitant. The last time that the law laid its hands upon her was when Mrs. Nation emerged from the church where the mass meeting had been held. Last night Mrs. Nation announced that she would rest until all the joints in Topeka had been closed.

KRUGER'S FINAL PLEA.

"Will No One Arbitrate?" Cries Heartbroken Boer.

Regrets He Is Too Old to Fight—Thirty-One Sons and Grandsons He Has in the Field, Fighting a War Unjustly Thrust Upon Them, but He Says Heers Will Win Yet.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Pall Mall Magazine will publish, Feb. 15, an interview with Mr. Kruger in part as follows: "Will no one arbitrate? Will no one give us a chance of defending ourselves? We may have done wrongly. We have our faults and our weaknesses. We declared war, but our hands were forced and we can prove it. Get someone to judge between this England and ourselves."

"But the Lord will help us in the end. We shall win. I do not know how or when, but we shall win at last."

Mr. Kruger says the Transvaal offered more reforms in one week than an older country would make in 40 years, giving in on all points almost to the uttermost, but that the uttermost was seized upon as a stumbling block.

Referring to his reception in Europe Mr. Kruger says: "I care nothing for flowers; nothing for medals. The people who send them mean well, and I am grateful; but I care nothing for them. What I want is a fair hearing. If they will only give us a fair hearing and justice—I ask for justice."

"We are little folk, but we have made great steps." When asked why he came to Europe he said to the interviewer: "I could not go out with the command—'as Mr. Steyn said. I am too old, but I may be of some use here.'"

Regarding Mrs. Kruger, he said: "I am sorry for her, too. I have a deep sorrow for her, but I have far more sorrow for my country. My wife has her children. Six are still with her. They were left with her in her home. Two of my sons have died on the battlefield. Two were captured. I believe two more are dead also, as I have not heard from them for two months, and I know they were in the thick of the fight."

"Thirty-one sons and grandsons I have in the field yet, but I could not go on command. I have not heard from my wife for 16 days, but she has six children with her and she is not to be pitied."

NO FURTHER LENIENCY.

Foreign Envoys' Decision in Respect to Punishment of Guilty Is Irrevocable.

PEKIN, Feb. 16.—The Chinese plenipotentiaries have replied to the latest telegram from the imperial court that the decision of the foreign envoys with respect to the punishment of the guilty is irrevocable, although the sentence upon General Tung Fu Haiang can be suspended "until such time as it comes within the power of the court to place him in restraint, when his death will be demanded."

Although there has been no official communications on the subject between envoys and the Chinese plenipotentiaries there have been long unofficial consultations between the latter and M. Deligne and Sir Ernest Satow, the Russian and British ministers.

A definite reply from the court is not expected before the end of the new year celebrations, at least 10 days off; but the envoys believe that the court must yield.

Count Von Walderssee has issued a formal denial of the published statement that the German troops are leaving China. He says that he could not manage one without instructions from Berlin, and that these have not been received.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Bradstreet's Report on Conditions of Business Throughout the Country.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Bradstreet's review of trade says: Trade advices are rather more cheerful. Prices show exceptional strength, all things considered, the one weak spot being raw cotton, which shares the rather unsatisfactory tone manifested by the cotton goods and yarn markets.

Foreign demand for our breadstuffs has been rather better, and this is reflected in heavy exports, particularly of corn. Specially cheerful reports from the shoe and leather, the lumber and the iron trades, the strength of prices of the latter having been increased by the talk of pending consolidations, although the volume of business is restricted from the same cause. Failures are smaller than of late, and current railroad earnings show large gains over good returns a year ago.

Despite the check to new business given by the talk of consolidation, a fall in volume of trade is doing at all leading iron markets and the advances noted in these markets last week are firmly held.

Expectations of a favorable outcome in the negotiations for a combination of the principal steel companies caused the stocks of those concerns to show decided firmness and a readiness to advance. On certainty as to the terms of the deal, however, checked the development of speculation in them.

Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregate 4,514,878 bushels, against 4,567,818 bushels last week, 3,834,069 bushels in the corresponding week of 1900, 2,454,778 bushels in 1899 and 3,832,744 bushels in 1898.

Corn exports for the week aggregate 4,700,422 bushels, against 4,471,440 bushels (corrected) last week, 3,490,335 bushels in this week a year ago, 1,590,845 bushels in 1899 and 5,056,575 bushels in 1898.

Failures for the week number 226 as against 250 last week, 159 in this week a year ago, 109 in 1899, 269 in 1898 and 323 in 1897.

CURIOUS FISH FROM WELL.

They Had Neither Head Nor Tail and Could Swim Backward or Forward. GOSHEN, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Some time ago a driven well was sunk at the Howell creamery, Pine Island, to the depth of 250 feet. The supply of water obtained equalled only one-quarter of the amount necessary, and in order to obtain a greater supply two charges of dynamite, a new explosive, were discharged by William J. Brown, an expert in its use. Both an electric battery, and a column of water eight inches in diameter was thrown to a height of 300 feet.

Many curious things came up from the bottom of the well, including three curious fish. They were about eight inches long and had neither head nor tail, both ends being alike. They could swim as easily backward as forward and were not provided with eyes or mouth. There were several small orifices at each end of these curious fish. When they came down with a shower of stones from the top of the column of water they bounded repeatedly many feet in the air.

One was captured by a Poleander, who, curious to see its interior, struck it with a dull hatchet, but made no impression whatever upon the fish, although he killed it. One is still alive in captivity.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

ALBANY, Feb. 19.—The state commission in lunacy is investigating as to the truth of charges made by Patrick Coyle, the husband of Margaret Coyle, an insane woman, formerly employed as a domestic in Arvonale, N. J., who alleges that without notice to him the town authorities of Arvonale, finding his wife was insane and likely to fall as a charge upon the town, had her conveyed to New York city at night, where she was abandoned.

Pittsburg Is Threatened With One of Largest Riots.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 18.—Unless the master builders of this city comply with the demands of the building trades council a general strike will be declared which will involve at least 15,000 workmen.
