Steamer Rio De Janeiro Ban on Hidden Rocks White Entering Harbor In a Dense Fog and Vessel Sank Pefore Those Below Could Reach the Deck-Captain

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.-The wreck of the steamer Rio de Janeiro while trying to make this harbor in a dense for last Friday morning was the worst marine disaster that has visited the Pacific coast in many years, both in the number of lives lost and in the other features of the sinking. It seems that most of those who perished did not have a chance for life, as the boat sank within 15 minutes after striking on the rocks and most of the passengers in the steer age were caught before they could reach

The officers of the Pacific Mail con The officers of the Pacific Man com-pany have given it out that they consider Captain Ward responsible for the disnster, innsumed as he gave the order to go ahead while a dense fog hung over the harbor entrance. Pilot Jordan says he was leath to go in, but the captain told him to go nhead under a slow head. At they entered the Golden Gate the fog be came thicker, and finally the Fort Pollights could not be seen. The steamer

All went well until 5 40 o'clock when she struck. Most of the passengers were below at the time and it is believed many of them were drowned in their berths From all accounts it appears that the officers were cool and gave the necessary rders with the least possible excitement. But Captain Ward, with the instinct of long experience, knew the gravest danger threatened the 200 souls in his charge and he gave orders to lower the lifebonts and life rafts. There was not much confusion until 15 minutes after striking, the bow of the reusel anddealy plunged under water, Then there was a wild rush for the boats, Two boats had already been lowered and others were getting away as rapidly as the trained discipline of the crew could prepare them. A thick for enveloped everything, and as yet no sign had come from the life saving stations. Darkness ens all about, and with this added horror

he people on the Rio had to cope, One beat got clear of the vessel. This contained the following persons: Mrs. West, Mrs. Ripley, Chief Engineer Her-liney, Second Officer Coghian, Frank Cramp, J. R. A number of Italian fishermen who were just starting out in the morning saw the sinking of the Rio and at once hastened to render every assistance in their power.*

While all this was going on Captain War1 was directing the passengers and trying to keep them from panic. He succceded only partially, as many of the ter-rified people rushed to the railings and Jumped overboard. Some of these were picked up; others were drowned. The Chinese crew, to the number of more than 100, was terrorized. Some of them huddled in little groups, Captain Ward remained on deck until vessel had settled to such an extent that the water was engulfing him. There are several conflicting stories concerning the fats of Captain Ward.

The steward of the Rio says that he stood beside the captain when the vessel went down. Two other survivors say they also saw the captuin to the last, but Frederick Lindstrom, the quarter-master of the Rio, emphatically declared that Captain Ward emulated Admiral Tryon of her British majesty's ship Victorin, in going down to his cabin whe he met his doom behind a locked door.

J., Feb. 22.—One of the worst collisions in the history of the Amboy division of the Pennsylvania railroad occurred at Rusling's siding, near Bordertown, and about eight miles south of Trenton. The "Nellic Bly" express from New York for Atlantic City, collided with passenger train No. 330, run-ning from Canaden to Treaton. The number of dead is 10 and the number of injured 25. The railroad officials put the blame or he erew of the local train which was in charge of Conductor E. S. Sapp and Engineer B. F. Thompson, both of Camden. The railroad authorities say the crew of this train had been given orders to "meet" the express at Bordentown—that is, to wait on a siding at that point un-til the express shall have passed. In-stead of doing this, however, they kept on up the road and met the express at Rusling's siding above Bordentown and a headon collision occurred. The road was badly blocked and passengers were transferred at the scene of the wreck.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Bradstreet's Report on Conditions of Business Throughout the Country. NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Bradstreet's review of trade says:

Trade as a whole has shown further expansion this week, despite severe weather tending to check trade at some orthorn and western markets and in the face of very unsatisfactory conditions in the cotton manufacturing trade brought about by dullness in cotton goods at first hands. Foremost among the lines showing improvement this week is the dry-goods trade, which is reported active on spring account by jobbers. The boot and shoe industry has likewise continued in a satisfactory shape and some varie-ties of leather reflect recent activity in advances at eastern markets. Iron and steel cruder froms have been very strong at central and eastern markets, and considerable advances are successful. siderable advances are reported in pla iron and steel billets.

The strength of the building materials of all kinds, particularly of white and yellow pine and builders' hardware, has been rotable, and from many cities comes the report that a large amount of building will be done the coming spring. Cof-fee seems to have borne out the predictions in these columns some weeks ago, and has still further strengthened on better consumptive demand. Tea has met with better sale, as the prospects for any immediate change in the present tariff by congress becomes less probable. Tin is higher, in sympathy with speculative activity abroad.

The cereals show little definite move-ment, taking the week as a whole, ex-cepting in flour, which is 10 to 20 ceats a barrel higher. Wheat is fractionally higher, and corn and oats are unchanged, but the corn situation is notable in view of this being a season of increasing

In general industry it is to be noted that the winter now passing has been one of the quietest and most satisfactory ever
