Brilliant Dedication Speech By Vice President Roosevelt.

United Effort Nation's Hope-Countries of Western Hemisphere Should Come Into Close Communion With Each Other to Promote the Welfare of All, Individually and Collectively.

BUFFALO, May 20.-The following is the speech of Vice President Roosevelt. delivered in the Temple of Music at the Pau-American exposition, during the dedication exercises:

"Today we formally open this great exosition by the shores of the mightly inland seas of the north, where all the peoples of the Western Hemisphere have joined to show what they have done in art, science and industrial invention, what they have been able to accomplish with their manifold resources and their infinitely varied individual and national qualities. Such an exposition, held at the opening of this new century, inevitably suggests two trains of thought. It should make us think seriously and solemuly of our several duties to one au-other as citizens of the different nations of this Western Hemisphere; and also of our duties each to the nation to which he personally belongs.

"The century upon which we have just entered must inevitably be one of tre-mendous triumph or of tremendous failure for the whole human race; because, to an infinitely greater extent than ever before humanity is knit together in all its parts, for weal or for wee. All about us there are innumerable tendencies that tell for good and innumerable tendencies that tell for evil. It is of course a mere that tell for evil. It is of course a mere truism to say that our own acts must de-termine which set of tendencies shall overcome the other. In order to act wisely we must first see clearly. There is no place among us for the mere pes-simist; no man who looks at life with a vision that sees all things black or gray can do aught healthful in moulding the destiny of a mighty and vigorous people But there is just as little use for the fool-ish optimist who refuses to face the many and real evils that exist and who fails to see that the only way to insure the triumph of righteousness in the fu-ture is to war against all that is base, weak and unlovely in the present. "There are certain things so obvious as to seem commonplace, which, never-theless, must be kept constantly before ns if we are to preserve our just sense of proportion. This Twentieth Century is big with the fate of the nations of mankind, because the fate of each is now interwoeven approached in any previous stage of history. No better proof could be given than by this very exposition. A century ago no such exposition could have even been thought of. The larger nations of the territory represented here today by so many free nations was not even mapped, and very much of it was anknown to the hardiest explorer. The influence of America upon old world af-fairs was imponderable. World politics still meant European politics.

SAMUEL C. CALHOUN,
ATTOKNEY-AT-LAW,
Office at Carson's jewelry store, Tionosta, Pa. All legal business and collections promptly and faithfully attended to,
is not necessary for us here to consider is not necessary for us here to consider the giant changes which have come else-where in the globe; to treat of the rise in the south seas of the great free common-wealths of Australia and New Zealand; of the way a which Japan has been reju-venated and has advanced by leaps and bounds to a position among the leading civilized powers; of the problems affecting the major portion of mankind, which call imperiously for solution in parts of the old world which a century ago were barely known to Europe even by rumor. Our present concern is not with the old world, but with out own Western Hemisphere. America. We meet today, representing the peoples of this hemisphere, from the dominion of Canada in the north to Chile and the Argentine in the south; representing peoples who have iraveled far and fast in the past century, because in them has been practically shown that it is the spirit of adventure which is the maker of commonwealth; eoples who are learning and striving to put in practice the vital truth that freedom is the necessary first step, but only the first step, in successful free govern-

Prompt attention given to mending, and prices reasonable. we, the men of the two Americas, have been conquering the wilderness, carving it into state and province, and seeking to build up in state and province govern-ments which shall combine industrial prosperity and moral well-being. Let us ever most vividly remember the falsity of the belief that any one of us is to be permanently benefitted by the hurt of another. Let us strive to have our public men treat as axiomatic the truth that it is for the interest of every commonwealth in the Western Hemisphere to see every other commonwealth grow in riches and in happiness, in material wealth and in the sober, strong self-respecting manliness without which material wealth ness without which material wealth avails so little.

Benefit For One; Benefit For All.

"Today, on behalf of the United States I welcome you here; you, our brothers of the North, and you, our brothers of the South; we wish you well; we wish you all prosperity; and we say to you that we earnestly hope for your wellbeing, not only for your own sake, but also for our own; for it is a benefit to each of us to have the others do well. The relations between os now are these of cordial friendship, and it is to the interest of all allike that this friendship should ever remain unbroken.

"Nor is there the least chance of its being broken provided only that all of Scentor Henry Cabot Lodge.

ns alike act with full recognition of the vital need that each should realize that his own true interests can best be served by serving the interests of others.

"You, men of Canada, are doing sub-stantially the same work that we of this republic are doing, and face substantially the same problem that we also face Yours is the world of the merchant, the manufacturer and mechanic, the farmer the ranchman, and the miner; you are subduing the prairie and the forest, till-ing farm land, building cities, striving to raise ever higher the standard of right to bring ever nearer the day when true justice shall obtain between man and man; and we wish Godspeed to you and yours, and may the kindliest ties of good will always exist between us. "To you of the republics south of us I wish to say a special word. I believe with all my heart in the Monroe doctrine. This doctrine is not to be invoked for the aggrandizement of any one of us here on this continent at the expense of anyone else on this continent. It should be regarded simply as a great international Pan-American policy, and ought to have, and must ever have, only the desire to see her sister republics in the Western Hemisphere continue to flourish, and the determination that no one world power shall acquire new territory here on this western continent.

"Instead of any one of us com-mitting the criminal folly of trying to rise at the expense of our neighbors, we shall all strive upward in honest and manly brotherhood, shoulder to shoulder.

Reasons For American Pride. "A word now especially to my own fellow countrymen. I think that we have all of us reason to be satisfied with the showing made, in this exposition as in the other great expositions of the past, of the results of the enterprise, the shrewd during, the business energy and capacity, and the artistic, and, above all, the wonderful mechanical skill and inventiveness of our people. In all of this we have legitimate cause to feel a noble pride, and a still nobler pride in the showing made of what we have done in such matters as our system of widespread popular educa-tion, and in the field of philanthropy— especially in that best kind of philan-thropy which teaches each man to help lift both bimself and his neighbor by joining with that neighbor hand in hand a common effort for the common good. "It is easy to say what we ought to do, but it is hard to do it; and yet no scheme can be devised which will save us from the need of doing just this hard work. Not merely must each of us strive to do his duty, in addition it is imperatively necessary also to establish a strong and intelligent public opinion which will require each to do his duty. If any man here falls short he should not only fee ashamed himself, but in some way he ought also to be made conscious of the condengation of his fellows, and this no matter what form his shortcoming takes. Being our duty is of course incumbent on every one of us alike; yet the heaviest blame for dereliction should fail on the man who sins against the light, the man to whom much has been given and from whom, therefore, we have a right to expect much in return. We should hold to a peculiarly rigid accountability those men who in public life, or as editors of great papers, or as owners of vast for-times, or as leaders and moulders of opinion in the pulpit, or on the platform, or at the bar, are guilty of wrongdoing, no matter what form that wrongdoing may take.

"In addition, however, to the problems which under the Protean shapes are yet fundamentally the same for all nation and for all times, there are others which especially need our attention, because they are the especial productions of our uendous industrial development of the fineteenth century has not only conferred great benefits upon us of the twentieth, but it has also exposed us to grave dan-gers. This highly complex movement has had many sides, some good and some bad, and has produced an absolutely novel set of phenomena. To secure for them the best results will tax to the ut most the resources of the statesman, the economist and the social reformer. There has been an immense relative growth of urban population, and in conseimmense growth of the body of wageworkers, together with an accumulation of enormous fortunes which more and more tend to express their power through great corporations that are themselves guided by some mas ter mind of the business world. As a re-sult we are confronted by a formidable of perplexing problems, with which it is absolutely necessary to deal. and yet with which it is not merely use less but in the highest degree unwise and sight and self-restraint.

What the Nation Needs

"There are certain truths which are commonplace as to be axiomatic; and quite remarkable, as is the dispatch with yet so important that we cannot keep them too vividly before our minds. The true welfare of the nation is in farmer and the wageworker; of the man National Guard, has given me every pos-who tills the soil, and of the mechanic, sible aid in responding to every request the handicraftsman, the laborer. If we an insure the prosperity of these two classes, we need not trouble ourselves about the prosperity of the rest, for that will follow as a matter of course.

"While striving to prevent industrial injustice at home, we must not bring upon ourselves industrial weakness abroad. This is a task for which we need the fin-est abilities of the statesman, the stu-dent, the patriot and the far-seeing lover dent, the patriot and the far-seeing lover of mankind. It is a task in which we shall fail with absolute certainty if we approach it after having surrendered ourselves to the guidance of the demagogue or the doctrines of the well-meaning man who thinks feebly, or of the cruning self-seeker who endeavors to rise by committing that worst of crimes against our people—the crime of inflaming brother against bis fellow-Americans. My. fellow-countrymen, bad laws are evil things; good laws are necessary; and a clear, fearless, common-sense administration of the laws is even more necessary;

VICTIMS LAID TO REST

Albany Merchan's Killed by Soldiers Buried.

Cars Are Running as Usual-There Was a Rush of Passengers to Secure a Ride on the First Car For the Fake of Novelty - Streetcar Company Rewards Those Who Remained.

ALBANY, May 20,-The incidents of the first day of active operation of all the railway lines affected by the great strike were few because of the heavy fall of rain. The two men shot by National Guardsmen in defense of life and property were buried yesterday afternoon, but the pouring rain kept away the thousands of sightseers that otherwise would have marked the occasion with their presence. The departure of the Twenty-third regiment early yesterday morning was the second feature of the day and stirring sermons in many city pulpits aided in closing the incident.

The funeral of Leroy Smith, the prominent business man, which took place during the afternoon, was devoid of incident, except that it was attended by city officials and directors of the street railway company. At the funeral of V. Iliam Walsh, the second victim of the strike, there was very nearly a riot. While the services were proceeding in the church the crowd that had been unable to gain admission saw a uniformed soldier coming down the street. Instantly the people were in a state of ferment, for Walsh had been killed by National Guardsmen. A rush was made for the unlucky and unwise soldier, but a few wise heads held the surging crowd back for a minute while several others advised the man to run. Arguing that discretion was the better part of valor, he did run and trouble was avoided.

The starting out of the first car in the inter-city line shortly after noon was the cause of the demonstration. Pistols were fired, flags waved, torpedoes were placed on the track and exploded, the motormen and conductors were flags on their coats and fully 200 men and wome a fought for the privilege of the first ride. When the conductor got the car started and rang up the fares he found that ne had 73 passengers where usually 50 is a erowd. Within an hour so many cars were running that the monotony deterred people from riding for novelty's sake. Bishop William Creswell Doane of the Episcopal diocese towards the end of a sermon devoted to an appeal for more open and prominent Christianity, spoke of the strike. He said that it was either the fault of the pulpit or the fault of Christian men and women failing to earry their Christianity into practical fields that made it possible for a mob largely composed of women and children to cause the horrors of the past week, "If Christianity were properly adminis-tered, if politics kept its hands out of serious situations, we should not have to admit," he said, "that our people acted last week like barbarians and animals."

In the congregation attentive to the sermon were Brigadier General Oliver, who commanded the troops while the strike was on, and his adjutant, Colonel Citizens as a rule have nothing but praise for the guardsmen, who served here under such trying circumstances Only about a half dozen men out of 3,000 misbehaved themselves despite the fact that the rain and mud in their camp gave them incentive to spend their time else-where. Brigadier General Oliver, commanding the troops, says:

"I am heartily glad that the strike is over and thus further trouble and possible bloodshed are averted. The troops have shown themselves efficient and prompt in their work. Their conduct as a whole has been remarkable. With nearly 3,000 troops here there has been almost no breach of discipline under trying conditions, and a great deal of discomfort owing to the heavy rain of Saturday night and yesterday. Although it is re ported that complaints have been ma against the conduct of certain of the guardsmen by citizens, no such complaint has been brought to me officially. "The extraordinary rapidity which they are being sent to their respec-tive headquarters. Governor Odell through his representative, Major Gen-esolubly bound with the welfare of the I had to make for additional tro Regarding the troops General Roe said: "The work performed by the troops has been perfectly satisfactory in every respect, and in my opinion the state is to be congratulated in having an efficient military force to maintain the law."

In reply to an editorial which appeared in a New York paper yesterday the officers of the United Traction company stated that the company had well rewarded the non-union men and the employes who remained at work during the strike. To each of the men of the two crews who took out the first $100 was given; to each of the third crew $50; to every motorman and conductor who remained in the service of the company during the strike $20; to all others who did not strike a bonus of $5 as well as board and expenses.

MACHINISTS OUT ON STRIKE. Fifty Thousand Throughout the Country

Obey the Order to Quit Work. WASHINGTON, May 21.—Approxi-mately 50,000 machinists throughout the country are in the fight for a nine-ho day, a scale of wages equal to the prent 10-hour per day scale and other d-mands. This is the rough estimate of President O'Connell of the National Association of Machinists, based on the telegraphic advices that have reached like from the machinists' headquarters in the

The strike thus far has not extended to the allied trades, save in one or two instances, as at Scranton, Pa., where men in a part of the allied trades are out. No muchinists engaged in government work are affected. This is due to the fact that on such work an eight-hour a day scale already prevails. Railroad machinists as a rule are not involved in to strike, though the men on several run are out.

The Central Vermont sligs i schinista at St. Albans, numbering probably 2-3, have struck. The Lebigli Valley rail-road machinists at Buffalo, Parte, Wilkes-Barre and Elmira are out, aggregating about 500 all told. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western men at Buffalo. Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and intermediate points are out. The Gulf, Col-orado and Santa Fe men are also out. The strike order, however, does not apply to the railroads generally. It is explained at headquarters that there is no competition between the railroads and the private work and that work among the private establishments is to be adjusted first.

The situation was summarized by Pres ident O'Connell in the following state-ment to the press:

"We are demanding a nine-hour day universally throughout the trade with an increase of wages sufficient to overcome the loss of the hour in time; regulation of the apprenticeship system and the num-ber that shall be employed, in accordance with the number of journeymen machin-ists employed; agreements are to arbitraphia, who is accused of trying to smother his wife as well as hiring a detective to try and rob her, was held under heavy hounds for trial. discrimination against machinists be-cause of their membership in the union.

"From he tpresent indications and the statements issuing from headquarters at the various points the orders are being generally obeyed and in larger numbers than was anticipated. In certain cases where only a few hundred were expected to be involved, the indications are that the number will be increased 50 per cent. The number of firms signing indicates that in localities where the agreements are being made the strike will not last over a few days.

"In other localities, where a large number of men are being involved. I look for-ward to an adjustment being reached within the present week."

Following is a statement of the num-
