BOLDEST OF KIDNAPERS

Philadelphia Woman Seized and Held Captive Six Days.

All the Conspirators Caught-Clean and Clever Plans Were Followed by Kidnapers, But Clumsiness In Blindfolding the Victim Led to Their Undoing. Newspapermen Chief Plotters,

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.-Charged with kidnaping a woman and holding her a prisoner for four days, robbing her of jewels worth more than $2,000 and compelling her to sign bank checks for large sums of money is the story which the police unfolded here yesterday when they announced the arrest of two newspaper men, a stenographer in another newspaper office and a barber, all of whom are charged with complicity in the

The men now locked up at the Central police station are Howard K. Sloan, an unemployed reporter; Henry Wallace, society editor of one of the morning ewspapers; J. Knight Findlay of Wayne, near here, stenographer in the business office of another morning paper, and Oscar S. Dunlap, a barber employed in one of the most promilnent shops in the city. The victim is Mrs. Mabel Goodrich, proprietress of an establishment on North Tenth street. The four men were arrested Saturday night. Last Monday Mrs. Goodrich went to police headquarters and told a story of kidnaping and robbery so during that the police at first doubted its truth. Sho said that for some time past a young man who represented himself as a resident of Germantown had been a frequent visitor at her establishment. He was well dressed and spent money freely. Last Wednesday week, she said, he proposed a drive through Fairmount park. He asked her to dress in her best park. He asked her to dress her dis-clothes and for her to wear all her dia-monds and other jewelry because on the return from the drive he intended to take her to the finest dining room in the city, as he wanted her to "shine" with the other women in the place. She accepted and the next day she went out with him in a carriage with a pair of richly-caparisoned horses and with a coachman on the box wearing stylish a lonely place in Pairmount park the carriage was stopped by a man who, she said, represented himself as D. Clar-ence Gibbony, the secretary and attorney of the Law and Order society of this city. This man, she went on to say, told her that he had a warrant for her agreet, but that the matter could be fixed up. He was invited into the carriage and the next moment she was gagged and blindfolded. She was driven somewhere, she did not know where, but she noticed from one corner of the handkerchief over her eyes that the men paid toll at two tollgates and that they took her into a building where a fire engine and a book and lad-der truck were standing. With other information the woman gave them, the detectives began to work on what they believed to be a fairy tale They got several clues which led them to a firehouse in North Wayne, 15 miles from this city. The fire company is a volunteer organization and the key to the place was kept in the nearest dwelling. The nearest house was occupied by a feully named Findlay and there the police learned that one of the sans, J. Kright Findiay, had been home but little during the past two weeks. Getting a description of him the police returned to the city and found the young man, who is only 21 years old, in the office where he is employed.

He was charged with the crime and broke down and implicated the others.

Findlay said he had impersonated the coachman, that Sloan, the unemployed reporter, acted the part of Attorney Gib-sons; that the barber played the part of the rich Germantown resident and that Wallace, the society editor, had rented a house in Germantown, where Mrs. Goodrich was to have been held a cap-

He had asked Dunlap to play the part of the rich man and get Mrs. Goodrich outdoors, so that he could serve the warrant on her for keeping a disorderly house. He did not reveal the real purpose of the scheme to

All the jewelry was recovered, most of it having been found in the possession of Findlay and Sloan, who were wearing several of the rings. ### SETS SAMPSON RIGHT. BRIKERS STONED THE CARS

He Did Not Approve Proofs of Maclay's History.

Refused to Have Anything to Do With the Work When He Came to Section That Villified Hero of Santiago-Secre tary Finished the Work-Friend Issues

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 .- Colonel R. N Thompson of this city, president of the United States Naval Academy Alumni association, makes a statement to the press in connection with the Schley in quiry in which he says:

"There is one story which I am very anxious should be truthfully presented to the public. After Maciay's book was published Mr. Maclay stated that his proofs had been submitted to the commanding officers, including Admiral Sampson, and that they approved his statements. A reporter calling upon Admiral Sampson when he was ill in his bed obtained from the admiral what appeared to be a confirmation of this statement. The admiral was asked if he had seen and read the proofs of Ma clay's book and he said yes. But unformatter at any length and explain every and today believe that Admiral Samp on entirely approved the statement that Schley was a coward and a caitiff, which was the gist of Maclay's charge against Schley.

facts, and you may absolutely rely upon them as the truth. The proofs were sent by Maclay to Admiral Sampson, with request that they should be rend and corrected. The admiral at the time was undertake the labor but his secretary pointed out that the Maclay history was n standard one and used at the Naval academy as a text book. This volume brought the history down through the period of the Spanish war and it was desirable that there should be no inac-

The admiral, therefore, consented to read them and he did correct a certain part of them, but as soon as he arrived at the part which contained the statement that Schley was a coward and caitiff, he was very much angered and said the statement was one the author had no right to make, that it was unjust and unfair to speak of any mayal officer in such terms and declined to have anything further to do with the proofs. Secretary Pinished the Work.

"His secretary, impressed with the great desirability of having the statements of facts accurate, and not believ ing that he was in any way responsible for the statements of opinions did, on his own account, compare the book with the records and make on the margins a number of corrections. As these were in the same handwriting as those made when Admiral Sampson was giving his personal attention to the corrections, Mr. Muclay was perfectly justified in his statement. The order of the secretary of the navy forbiding naval officers to make any statement for publication regarding this controversy, issued immediately after this interview, prevented the above correction being officially

"There is one other matter that has sen brought up in which accusations of carelessness, to say the least, have been made against the gallant Wainwright, in concetion with the chart of the battle of Santiago, prepared and printed in the socalled appendix, yet anyone reading the report accompanying the chart sees that there was no misrepresentation as to what it was. It did not claim to be and in the nature of things could not be absolutely correct. At the best there could only be as there was, a general discussion between the anvigators, each one putting down his ship where he thought it ought to be, and where there were differences of opinion, the majority had to decide as to what position was to be accepted and so the board reported. The chart in question, which shows, n a general way, the positions of the ships is as accurate as in the nature of things we can make it, and in any event is an approximation of the truth. This description stands true today and all the criticism of Wainwright and the others
