WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4

This week we are showing some very pretty but useful specimens of Indian handiwork in the way of baskets, beginning in size with the toy basket at 5c, holding a handful and running up from that in increasing size and price to the large hampers intended for receiving soiled clothing, which sells for $2.00. There are also articles for use and ornament constructed from birch bark and sweet grasses, decorated with porcupine quills dyed in various colors. The Indians are the only people who have ever found any use for that curious animal-the hedge-hog, although in one State in the Union they are protected by a law that is more stringently enforced than any other game law-but that is another story and interesting enough to be worth looking up. This lot of Indian ware was intended for the holiday trade, but coming in carly we decided to display it now.

What about that

New Suit or Overcoat?

Some stores believing the average man d can't know or care anything about the clothing he wears, sell only such kind of clothing, no matter how poor, as admit of largest profits.

Our experience, however, teaches us just the opposite. We know they inderstand the difference between cotton and wool, good or poor linings, d they expect good workmanship and are particular about style and fit

Proceeding from this standpoint, we provide only such clothing as will give satisfaction to the wearer.
