German Papers Pleased.

Some of the daily newspapers in Berlin have begun summing up Prince Henry's trip to the United States. Their tone is one of complete satisfaction. They declare the prince's trip was never intended to have any specific political aims, but merely pur-posed to bring about an improvement in the popular feeing in both countrles The Doersen Zeltung admits that its most sanguine expectations have been exceeded by the occurrences of the prince's trip and says the heartfelt cordiality displayed by the Americans was greater than could have been expected.

The National Zeitung says that Prince Henry and the Americans have learned to understand and appreciate each other, and that the result attained is out of the commo. It is a not to be forgotten incident,

The American legation have presented to the porte the second note referring to the capture of Miss Stone. In this note it is pointed out that as Miss Stone was captured and the ransom paid and the prisoners delivered in Turkey the brigands must be within the Turkish frontier and should there-

The first note presented to the porte by the United States legation at Constantinople in the matter of Miss Stone's capture by brigands demanded the punishment of the guilty partles, The porte in replying, repudiated resaid sponsibility and denied all liability.

BODIES TAKEN FROM PIT.

Third Effort Successful In Recovering Remains.

Monongahela, Pa., March 8. - The third rescuing party, headed by Mine Inspector Henry Louttit and Cival Engineer Arthur Neale, succeeded in rescuing the bodies of the dead miners and they were brought to the main en trance to the mine shortly after midnight. They were horribly mangled. The renuins were later taken in wagous to the undertaking rooms of Harry Beabout on Main street, where they were prepared for removal to their late respective homes. The bodies were found at Chamber No. 62, more than 70 feet from the location in which the men had been working. So great was the force of the explosion, the safety lamps the mitters carried were shattered and the bits scattered in every direction, as were pieces of the men's clothing. The rescuers met great difficulty in reaching the bodies of the dend men, the smoke at times being so dense the light of the lamps could not penetrate They forged ahead, however, and their three hours of dangerous toll was rewarded. The first body found was that of oung Howey. His lamp had evidently exploded and its bottom was found resting on his arm. Inspector Lout-tit stumbled upon the body and notified his companions by a shout. When the rescuers reached the main entry with their charges they were complete ly exhausted, and it was some time before they had regained sufficient strength to place the lifeless bodies into the wagons.
