By a trade made last week James Hasket now handles the ribbons over the handsomest pair of horses in town. Both are jet black, weigh exactly alike, are young and step off in the highest style of the art.

The nice warm showers of the past week have done wonders for vegetation, making all nature smile, and incidentally giving the weeds such a boost as to almost obliterate the work of the industri-

Day, game to be called at 3 p. m.

Citizens of Lottsville, Pa. have been given considerable uneasiness recently by the strange sounds which came from The constant drip of water

Wears away the hardest stone;

The constant gnaw of Tionesta

The constant coming lover

Carries off the blushing maid;

And the constant advertiser —Miss Ruth A. Work, for a number of years a resident of Forest county, who has been spending the past year with her sister, Mrs. Hope Hogg, in Oxford, England, instead of returning to her Colorado home this spring as expected, goes to Upper Egypt, where she will teach English and music to the children of some wealthy Egyptians attached to the American mission in the city of Assut.

—Memorial day next Friday will be properly observed here as usual, with the G. A. R. and W. R. C. as leaders on the program. The exercises will begin at 2 o'clock, when the procession will form at Post headquarters and march to Riverside. After strapping flowers over the graves of departed heroes, the people will assemble at the court house where a memorial address will be delivered by Prof. Charles M. Lord of Franklin.

—Five men, one woman, a boy, a girl and a baby, alighted from train 3 yesterday, and went down the branch. The woman carried all the baggage of the party in a huge bundle on her back, while the five big, laxy loafers strutted about entirely unconcerned. Nice lot of prospective citizens!—Meadville Gazette.

Why did not some of the bystanders forcibly illustrate to the foreigners that that was not the custom of this glorious country?

—The editor who is afraid to speak out on a public question, lest some subscriber will stop his paper, will never secure a very large circulation or an extensive influence. The editor who expects to please everybody will wind up his paper by pleasing nobody. The first lesson of independence for the newspaper man is to keep his paper as nearly right as possible without fear of the subscriber who stops his paper.—Press and Printer.

—To ward off the impending plague of 17-year locusts the members of the Woman's Guild of the First Presbyterian Church, Hildesburgh, Pa., are sewing 4,000 pouches to shield the young trees on the extensive farm lands of J. K. Mc-Lanahan, Sr., from devastation and harm.

The government has notified nurserymen and leading real estate proprieties that the plague is imminent. We shall soon see if there is anything in this annuual 17-year locust scare.

—The 20th annual report of the State Hospital for the Insane at Warren has been issued and the copies are being distributed. The report of the superintendent shows that during the year 1901

105 men and 135 women were admitted, and 81 men and 13 women were discharged. Of this number 29 men and 13 women were restored, 25 men and 25 women were improved, 15 men and 13 women unimproved, and 49 men and 30 women died. At the present time there are 1,018 patients on the rolls.

—A motor cycle is one of the new things —Last night was a bumper for cold and from appearance to-night will be a double bummer. It is too soon to ascertain the extent of damage done to crops.

—Sheriff Jamison returned from Pittsburg Saturday, having delivered his prisoner, Richard Miller, to the penitentiary authorities, where he will serve a three-year sentence.

—Henry Schreinerline, working in the barb woods near the old Economy mills, in Warren county, had one of his arms —Last, on Wednesday of last week, somewhere between the residences of W.

W. Grove and George Killmer, on Elm street, a lady's silver watch, open face, with monogram "I. L. L." engraved on back. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Y., yesterday, accompanied by his little grand-son, Harvey Shoemaker, for whom he will consult a specialist, the child having met with an accident at the campmeeting grounds here last summer, since which time he had the use of one of his arms.

—The "market" held by the Endeavor society last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Robertson was a greater success than the ladies had counted on, for they had failed to provide enough good things to go round, the supply being exhausted before the time for closing the market had arrived. Doubtless they will be better prepared on the next occasion.

—A brick company has been organized at Marienville and will begin the manufacture of brick within a short time.

Many of the new business houses will be of brick, and the town will present a much more substantial aspect than before the big fire. Building operations will be brisk these this summer, the leading citizens having determined to make things hum in the new Marienville.

—The Tionesta Literary and Dramatic Lecture will produce a three-act drama entitled "The Gypsy Queen" in Odd Fellows hall. The cast includes 20 people, lead rehearsals have been going on for a few days. In all probability it will present some of the best entertainments ever given in Tionesta. A more extended notice will be given next week. The dates have not been fixed.

—J. N. Buxton, the well known tenorsorial artist, has returned to Grand Valley after four years' absence spent in Tionesta, and opened one of the finest barber shops in that section of the country. Everything is new and nobby about the establishment, and the people of Grand Valley are pleased to see their former favorite return back again.—Titusville Herald. Glad to know our friend James is so nicely fixed in his new quarters, and hope he'll wax fat and flourish like the proverbial green bay tree.
