converted a Democratic majority of 100 in Congress into a Republican majority of 140. The tariff is not a lucky Demoof an early solution. According to the party rules, if any of these deadlocks remain unbroken on September 6th the chairman of the State committees must appoint an additional conferee from each county of the deadlocked district. If there is then no agreement, the State chairman will appoint umpires who will restore the said that they had been worked for 250 years, and that now they ought to have an opportunity for resting, and that a school, of all places on earth, is not the piace where work ought to be mentioned. In answer to these objections, Mr. Washington said that it was donibless true the chairman will appoint umpires who will

to make their promise good, but they have the ability and honesty, both of which the Democratic leaders and antitrust howlers lack.

Flashlights of Chautauqua.

BY NANCY C. MORROW. Altuough this season has not been the first time a Chautanqua audience has been honored with one man who more than any other has successfully grappled tions to be solved by the American people—the social problem—yet the great Amphitheater was full to overflowing house, and painted it lead and oil. The Chase Medicine Company, Buffalo, N. long before Booker T. Washington stepped upon the platform in company with the same time. Dr. George E. Vincent, Saturday after-Dr. George E. Vinceot, Saturday afternoon, July 19, to deliver an address on "The Elevation of the Negro." Applianse after applianse greeted this noble citizen of America who less than two score years ago was in seridom. Elevated by education and Christianity from the plain of the lower animal creation, Mr.
Washington stood before that vast audience erect in the strength of conscious manhood. Citizens from all sections of a re-united country—our glorious Republic—considered it a privilege to look in the face of one of the greatest practical philanthropists of their age, to you I do not want you to consider that it you I do not want you to consider that it is question which concerns the negro alone, nor the South alone. It is one of our great hamman problems. No one question during the last thirty-flee years has been so constantly before the people as has the negro problem of the South. During this time quite a number of suggestions have been put forward looking toward a solution of this question. Some eight years ago about $60 of our people sailed from Savanah for Africa and it was telegraphed all over the country that the question was being sected. But those who thought that way forgot that on one that same morning, in the black belt of the South. Both one who thought that way forgot that on one that same morning, in the black belt of the South. Soon met one of the same fact of the south, so may be the sailed from the same fact of the south. So more that any is not that rate this question was being sected. But those who thought that way forgot that on one that same morning, in the black belt of the South, 60 more negro children were born. So at that rate this question was being section, it is to select a large territory in the far West and there let the negro it was a separate nation. In the first place, you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the black man in, and you would have to build a wall around such a territory to keep the whole of the solution of the solution of the solution of the solution of the solutio sistance, and at that rate will absorb you. There is a fourth class of people who contend that the latest census will show that the negro has decided to quietly and pointely disappear by dying. So far from that, where a few centuries ago twenty members of my race were brought into this country, at the present there are nine million of us.

The last day for registering voters will be Wednesday, Sept. 4th.

The last day for payment of taxes will be Saturday, Oct. 4th.

Col. B YAN is still standing heroically by the Kansas City platform, whence all but Missouri have fled.

President Roosevelt's speeches bristle with small words, short seatences, commas and solid facts.

In twenty years the population of the United States has doubled, wealth has doubled, and business doubled, saying nothing of the price of hard coal.

It was the Democratic tariff in 1894 that converted a Democratic majority of 160 in Congress into a Republican majority of 160 in Congress in We must find some solution more prac-

Don't forget that you have only tomorrow left for registration if you desire to vote this fall. See that your names are written there. Republicans. The assessors are required to be at the election houses for that purpose to-day and tomorrow.

In the matter of issues Democracy is hopelessiy divided. The tariff, the curbonessiy contents to both races concerned.'

From this, beginning with a history of his life as a slave-boy, a freedman seeking an education, and of the founding of Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, Mr. Washington went on to show how the youthful colored population may be trained to be industrious, production and really indispensible criticals. When he first went to Tuskegee in 1881, it was with the selfish ambition to lift up the negro alone, of lifting him up if necessary, at the expense of the white man. But he is exceedingly thankful that he In the matter of issues Democracy is hopelessly divided. The tariff, the currency, imperialism and the trusts are not available. Upon these subjects there is nothing new to be said. The situation presage, for Democracy a dreary drifting with only the bitter quarrel of the Cleveland and Bryan factions to relieve the monotony.

There are a number of Congressional and Senatorial district deadlocks in various sections of the State, with little hope of an early solution. According to the party rules, if any of these deadlocks chairman will appoint umpires who will decide.

The Democratic conferees of this Congressional district met in Warren last week, and proceeded to go through the form of nominating a candidate for this fall's scrimmage. There was no enthusiasm connected with the performance, the main question being where could a patriot be found willing to make the sacrifice? It finally devolved upon little Forest to furnish the material, and its candidate, our friend J. B. Watson, was placed in nomination, and consented to stand for it. Mr. Watson no doubt expects to make Uncle Joe Sibley hump himself this fall.

Publication of the President's program for their regulation. The President, like all the Republicans, is aroused on this trust question, and is anxious that the combines which are harmful shall be curbed. Of course all trusts are not of this order. Many of them are, however, and these are the ones which the Republicans are abead of them in the attack on the trusts, and the Republicans root only have the power to make their promise good, but they have the ability and honesty, both of dark and increase in the programs of the trust is sues this year. The Republicans are abead of them in the attack on the trusts, and the Republicans root only have the power to make their promise good, but they have the ability and honesty, both of darked the program in the datack on the trusts, and the Republicans of the programs are abead of them in the attack on the trusts, and the Republicans of the programs are abead of them in the attack on the trust, and the Republicans of the programs in the programs are abead of them in the attack on the trust, and the Republicans of the programs are abead of them in the attack on the trust, and the Republicans of the programs are abead of them in the attack on the trust issues this year. The Republicans are abead of them in the attack on the trust issues and more though the programs are already to the programs and the work in the program in the programs are already to the program and the program a ngton said that it was doubtless true the hammer, the spade in his hand. This indicates the progress we have made. More and more though the way may seem dark and discouraging we are learning as a race to exclaim with the Psaimist, 'stormy billows dash high, their fory is mighty, but the Lord is above them'."
