CRASH OF HUMANITY.

Awful Stampede in a Southern Colored Church.

Trade Conditions—Dropped a Bomb
Tragic Death of Banker—Reservoir Burst—Mr. Hay's Note—Speaker Henderson Declines—Kent Held For Murder—Devery Elected.

In an awful crash of humanity at Birmingham, Ala., caused by a stampede in the Shiloh colored Baptist church, at the corner of Avenue G and 14th street Friday night, 115 persons were killed and many more than that number seriously injured.
The disaster occurred at 9 o'clock, just as Booker T. Washington had concluded his address to the national convention of colored Baptists and for three hours the scenes around the church were indescribable. Dead bodies were strewn in every direction and the ambulance service of the city was utterly unable to care for them.
Dozens of dead bodies were arranged in rows on the ground outside the house of worship awaiting removal to the various undertaking establishments, while more than a score were laid out on the benches inside.
Shiloh church is the largest house of worship for negroes in Birmingham and there were at least 2,000 persons in the edifice when the stampede began.
The entrance to the church was literally packed, and the negroes were trampled to death in their struggles to escape.
Booker T. Washington had just concluded his address when Judge Bilton, a negro lawyer from Baltimore, engaged in a dispute with the choir leader concerning an unoccupied seat. It is said a blow was struck. Some one in the choir cried "they're fighting." Mistaking the word "fighting" for "fire" the congregation rose en masse and started for the door.
Farmers Market Products Slowly.
Bradstreet's says of the condition of business:
Jobbing distribution continues very active and retail business is improving. Now that the corn crop is practically made, and the only possible changes are those of quality, the disposition to book fall and winter orders is unrestrained at the West and Northwest.
The selling position seems to be the strongest side of the price situation, except possibly in the cereals and agricultural products generally. Even here the fine financial position of farmers enables them to market their products slowly and no accumulation of moment is recorded except in cattle receipts, which this week surpassed all records.
The coal situation deserves notice. The delay in the ending of the anthracite coal strike throws increased pressure on the bituminous product, and prices for that article are now at least one-quarter higher than the low point before the strike began. Anthracite production is slowly but surely increasing as more mines and miners go to work, but the necessities of some retail buyers make for fancy prices for what is left. A long season at full time will be necessary to restore stocks of anthracite to old dimensions.
The cereals drifted lower this week because of larger receipts of wheat and oats and apparent discounting of reports of frost damage to corn which were sent out last week and noted in this column. September corn is lower at New York because of approximately liberal supplies likely to come forward before the end of the month. Other farm products are lower.
Cattle receipts, mostly grass fed animals, are unprecedentedly heavy at all markets, and prices are weaker.
Business failures for the week ending Sept. 18 number 182, as against 197 last week, 158 in this week last year, 183 in 1900, 147 in 1899 and 182 in 1898.
Dynamiter Dropped a Bomb.
A special from Skagway, Alaska, says about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon an unknown man walked into the Canadian Bank of Commerce, a revolver in one hand and a dynamite bomb in the other, and demanded $20,000, threatening to blow all into eternity.
Cashier Pooley and Teller Wallace were the only two men in the bank. Wallace ducked to get his gun and ran quickly to the back of the room, calling for Pooley to do the same.
"No you don't," yelled the man, and dropped the bomb.
The clerks had just gotten out of the window. The bank was wrecked. The robber's head was smashed and one arm was torn off. People living above the bank were blown into the air. Judge Price, formerly prosecuting attorney, who was entering the bank at the time, was hurt but not seriously.
The dynamiter died without regaining consciousness. The bank lost about a thousand dollars, chiefly in gold dust which was lying on the counter.
Tragic Death of Prominent Banker.
Nicholas Fish, a prominent banker of New York city and son of Hamilton Fish, secretary of the treasury under President Grant, died at the Roosevelt hospital Tuesday morning from cerebral hemorrhage.
His death was caused by a fall on the pavement in front of a saloon after an altercation with a stranger, who is believed to have struck him.
Mr. Fish was drinking in the saloon with two women and was afterwards joined by a man who proved to be Detective Thomas J. Sharkey. A dispute arose between the two men and

SLATE IS NOT BROKEN.

Persistent Rumor That Woodruff Would Be Nominated.

Erie Followed and Mr. Sheldon's Nomination is Assured—Secretary of State Still Open—Advocates of Canal Improvement Will Secure Endorsement of Barge Canal.

Saratoga, Sept. 23.—The first real flutter of excitement about the candidates where the convention delegates are assembled occurred when a rumor went about that the slate had been broken. It was just as the state committee adjourned that the rumor was circulated.
It came suddenly upon the close of an exceedingly quiet day, when the differences existing over the lieutenant governorship seemed to have been adjusted.
George R. Sheldon, the prospective candidate for that office, after spending several hours receiving his friends left his headquarters to go to dinner.
Emanating from a point suspiciously close to the Kings county and Lieutenant Governor Woodruff's headquarters there came an announcement that Mr. Sheldon had been told to withdraw and that the ticket would include the names of Timothy L. Woodruff for lieutenant governor and Anson G. McCook for secretary of state.
The rumor grew as it circulated and took on different phases. All the Kings county delegates who were in duriously spreading the story, did not agree as to the new slate. Some Woodruff men alleged that Senator Frank Higgins of Olean was to be nominated for lieutenant governor and Mr. McCook for secretary of state. Another set had it that General McCook was to be the nominee for lieutenant governor and that Senator James B. McEwen of Albany was to be the candidate for secretary of state.
And as the rumor spread and the delegates excitedly swarmed about headquarters looking for information several things occurred that helped bear out at least the suggestion that there was something brewing.
Mr. Sheldon Could Not Be Found.
Mr. Sheldon, who had been close to his quarters all day long, suddenly disappeared and could not be found by his staunchest adherents. From the Woodruff headquarters came a story that Mr. Sheldon had sent word that if Mr. Woodruff would not be a candidate he also would withdraw.
Nobody could say just who the messenger was or whence the message came but it alleged that it was sent after Mr. Sheldon had conferred with Mr. Platt. Senator Platt declined to talk. He had heard the rumors, he said, but he had not talked with Mr. Sheldon.
Then Senator Dewey, who had promised that his speech nominating Mr. Sheldon would be ready for the news papermen during the evening, sent word to them that he would not give out the speech until morning.
By this time the delegates were in a state of the utmost excitement. Chairman Dunn of the state committee could not give any information. Congressman Southwick, Congressman Emerson, W. Barnes, Jr., and even National Committeeman Gibbs all seemed to place great credence in the rumors.
While the Kings county delegates accentuated the rumors and smiled in glee, the ardent admirers of Mr. Sheldon, because of their candidate's absence, could say nothing.
For an hour the rumor fight went on and in the meanwhile the New York city delegation started to hold its meeting. It waited for a while until it could hear from Mr. Platt and the news was evidently favorable for an absolute endorsement of Mr. Sheldon was made. Then leader Warren announced that Erie would follow suit.
A few minutes after the atmosphere had begun to clear Mr. Sheldon arrived at his headquarters and after listening to the story, said: "I have not been asked to withdraw from the contest for lieutenant governor. I have made no overtures to Mr. Woodruff. I do not intend to withdraw and my name will be presented to the convention."
"Well, that settles it then," Mr. Sheldon replied. "I'm nominated."
"Yes, but were't you afraid of the McCook rumor?" asked Mr. Davis.
"No, I was not a bit afraid. I did not take the rumor at all seriously and was not in the least disturbed by it."
To a press reporter, Mr. Sheldon said: "I will be nominated for lieutenant governor."
Meeting of New York Delegates.
The New York county delegation met in the ballroom of the United States hotel and pledged unwavering support to G. R. Sheldon for lieutenant governor. County Chairman Robert C. Morris presided.
Previous to the meeting Frederick S. Gibbs, William M. Ten Eyck and Mr. Morris had a hurried conference. When asked what they thought of the McCook report they said the New York delegation was for Mr. Sheldon. Mr. Gibbs said: "There was something in the report but we are going ahead to endorse Mr. Sheldon."
The meeting was a brief one. Assemblyman Gherardi Davis read a resolution endorsing Mr. Sheldon and made a short speech. The resolution

SHOT GIRL AND HIMSELF.

Johnstown Man Wounded Young Lady and Committed Suicide.

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 22.—David M. Goughner, a wellknown young man, shot and seriously wounded Miss Lorena Winnebrenner, aged 17 years, near her home in Conemaugh, near this city, Saturday night and then sent a bullet into his own heart, dying instantly.
Jealousy and a desire for revenge are given as the causes for the act.
Miss Winnebrenner and Edward Kaylor were walking leisurely along a street. Goughner passed them and when a few feet ahead he suddenly turned and without warning commenced firing. The first shot struck Miss Winnebrenner just below the breast bone.
As the girl turned and started to run Goughner fired again, the bullet striking her in the left side making only a slight wound. A third shot grazed her left wrist.
Kaylor ran when the fusillade began and escaped injury. He says Goughner fired two shots at him. After emptying the revolver Goughner reloaded the gun and placing the muzzle carefully over his heart fired the shot that killed him instantly.
Miss Winnebrenner's condition is extremely serious.
READING SENDS DOWN COAL.
Sends Two Trains Through—Will Ship 50,000 Tons This Week.
Reading, Pa., Sept. 22.—Two more trains of hard coal passed through Reading Saturday for Philadelphia and New York. They consisted of 70 cars each. The coal was egg, stove, chestnut and pea, and it looked to be freshly mined. The trains were made up in the Cressona yard. The two trains carried 4,200 tons of coal. Wadesville shaft is now in operation. It is reported, with a good force of miners.
Good authority down from the mines says that the Reading company will likely send down 50,000 tons this week. During the last five days a great deal of coal has been quietly mined at a dozen collieries which will be run through the breakers early in the week. Many miners reported to have left the state to secure work have quietly gone into neighboring mines to cut coal. They are cared for at the collieries.
Too Illiterate For Her.
Chicago, Sept. 22.—In her capacity as a teacher in an Englewood business college, Mrs. Philomene Appleton could hardly be expected to adore a husband who dotted the pronoun "I" and wrote "anuff" when he really meant "enough." Finally Mrs. Appleton got enough of herself. "I could not stand his vulgar spelling and manners," she told the court. This led to a separation. Mrs. Appleton submitted letters from her husband. In reply to one of recent date in which she said she would apply for divorce he wrote: "If you want to get that it will be all rite with me if you can send me ten, and I will let you out if you will send me what I want. Don't wait send it this week. Send it soon. Ten is anuff. Anecr." She obtained a decree.
Winter Price of Coal.
New York, Sept. 22.—A representative of one of the largest coal dealers in the city, who is looked on as a high authority, said that freshly mined coal was coming to New York in small quantities, but there was so much demand for it that it did not affect the market. On an average there was 3 per cent increase daily in the quantity of coal mined. When coal began to be mined in larger quantities the companies would insist that the price be not higher than $6.50 or $7 a ton.
Railroad Bridge Burned.
Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 22.—The long wooden bridge of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at New Philadelphia was set on fire Saturday and burned for several hours.
