Bad Butcher Knife Stab.

Last Thursday George Matha of Gerwill lay him up for several weeks. He things. went in the morning to his brother Henry's place which is located near Pigeon hill school house, to help him with his butchering. In the evening he started home carrying a large butcher knife with him, and in climping over a rail fence he slipped and fell and the blade of the knife entered the fleshy part of his knee and hip, and was broken off, leav- spend it, ing the handle of the knife in George's hand. Dr. Dunn was summoned and when he arrived there was no evidence of the presence of a knife blade except the incession in the leg which was not longer than an inch. After some probing he felt the mettal blade which was completely buried out of sight, and with a pair of torceps succeeded in extracting the same, The piece of blade was four and one-half inches in length, and had entered the flesh to the depth of nearly seven inches. George is getting along all right now, but don't want any more butcher knife stabs in his. He suffered considerable loss of blood but there seems to be no danger from other complications to retard his steady recovery, McMahon Recaptured and Sentenced. Toomas McMahon, of Oil City, who was recaptured in Cleveland a few days ago after his escape from the Warren jail. was placed on trial in the Warren court on Sa urday last, charged with robbing Hugh Miles, of Fagundus, receiving stolen goods and horse stealing. On the advice of his attorney, Hon, O. C. Allen, the prisoner pleaded guilty to all counts. Mr. Allen asked for the elemency of the court, pleading that although the prisoner had at one time served a term in the penitentiary, he had returned home after serving out his sentence and had worked steadily and it was only recently that he had relapsed into his bad habits. Me-Mahon's plea undoubtedly saved Warren county a considerable expense, a consideration that the court made in imposing the following sentence: For the charge of robbery a tine of $500 and costs and imprisonment of seven years in the Western penitentiary: the sentence for failbreaking was a fine of $100 and costs and two years and nine months in the Western penitentiary. For good behavior Meimprisonment down to six years.

Police Officer Charles Bromley, of Oil Ci y, says the Derrick, was one of the witnesses called to Warren, but did not testify. McMahon confided to him that he had no help in escaping from the Warren county jail. The other two men got out first through a hole in the grating that was only 9 by 13 inches, but when Mc-Mahon tried to get through with part of his clothing on he stuck fast and was in this condition for nearly a half-hour. He in-law, Miss Lizzie Morgan, at Oil City, finally worked his way back into prison and stripped himself naked and finalty gas. got through the hole at a considerable loss of skin and some flesh from his breast, abdoman and back. From Warren he walked through the woods to Treasurer Kellar were among the Oil Franklin, where he arrived late at night and secured an overcoat. From there he went to Pittsburg, Leavittsburg, O., and finally to Cleveland, McMahon stated further that Turner, who escaped from jail when he did, was with him in all of these towns, but that Turner stole an overcoat and McMabon quit him then and there. Turner was arrested later and is serv-ing a term in the workhouse at Cleve-land, and will be arrested by the Warren county authorities as soon as he is re

L. O. T. M. Box Social.

The box social held in Boyard's ball ast Friday night under the supervision of the Lady Maccabees was a surprising success. The entertainment by the troupe representing the "colored folks" was unexpected, but equaled if not surpassed many given by the real darkey. Each performer did his or her part well, and Franklin, were guests of the former's in such a natural way as to make the audience think a regular troupe had been

- At the close of the entertainment J. T. Carson, auctioneer, mounted a table and sold the boxes containing the lunch prepared by the ladies. All boxes were sold and the sum netted was $22.20. The purchasers with the ladies opened the boxes and 125 persons partook of one of the grandest and most delicious repasts ever served. No pains had been spared in securing and filling these boxes with all that a hungry appetite might desire. Many surprises were in store for those who tought boxes, when the mask was removed from the owner that she might
- be seen and eat her share. After all were well filled another surprising treat was given, when Miss Keller was called on to recite some selections. This was probably the greatest surprise of the evening. Miss Keller proved herself master of the situation. Her grace, been quite severely ill for a few weeks ease and manner of recital proved her to be an elecutionist of no ordinary kind. The attention and applause showed the audience appreciated a good thing. Such recitals is an education, and should en-

The Danger of Knowing Too Much.

There is a class of men who pretend to know it all when it comes to the selection of a SUIT or OVERCOAT. They refuse to be guided by the dealer, however high his standing, and depend wholly upon their own knowledge, or rather lack of knowledge, in making a choice. Such men generally get the worst of every bargain

Now we like to see customers with "souls of ther own." We welcome critical people-bard to please people-because we know we kave the goods they want, and once we have convinced them of the fact, they appreciate our interest in their welfare and become best When we say "this Sait or this Overcoat is the best value you can obtain anywhere for the price you have named," we are stating the plain truth and will back it up by the strongest possible goarantee, and that is YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU ARE NOT SATISFED.
