TOWNSHIP CAUCUSES.

There will be a caucus held at the Township House at Nebraska, Green township to nominate the following officers...

S. P. WHITMAN, Committeeman.

The Republicans of Hickory township will hold their primaries Saturday evening, Jan. 24, 1903, at 7:00 o'clock at the Township House...

PRESIDENT CASTRO may be overthrown but Secretary Hay's diplomacy will prove equal to every emergency.

The numerous anti-trust bills prove that there is no lack of desire on the part of the Republican party, to cure existing trust evils.

EVERY Republican has agreed that there must be no tariff revision which would be a deviation from the policy of protection.

GRANT could not be elected for a third term, and yet some Democrats have the temerity to suggest such fortune for Grover Cleveland.

AND now the Democrats in the House will make a strenuous effort to free themselves from the foolish leadership of "Slippery Jim Richardson."

THE Pennsylvania Railroad enters into contracts this month which will involve an expenditure of $50,000,000. This is only one illustration of the prosperity of the country.

IN one of the Dakotas they elected a Senator on Tuesday, and a few minutes later the roof of the Capitol fell in. What would happen if Delaware should elect two Senators?

"WHAT is prosperity?" asks a Democratic exchange. Prosperity is a condition which the Democratic party has never been able to bring about and can only view from the outside.

A CONGRESSMAN proposes a bill to limit the wealth of people in this country to $10,000,000. If at the same time he will add a clause whereby all of us can get that amount, the bill will be popular.

SECRETARY HAY has made a fair and just offer to Colombia but the Colombians are afraid to accept. $10,000,000 in the Colombian treasury would doubtless incite a burglary, which is plain English for a South American revolution.

"THE tariff is an issue; it is a live issue," shouts an enthusiastic Democratic contemporary. From the effect the tariff question has had on the Democracy of the country every time the party leadership has boldly taken hold of it, it might be better described as a live wire.

REFERRING to the anthracite inquiry the Philadelphia Inquirer makes this ten strike: The man who would use the present opportunity to oppress the poor by millions has no right to appear in a court and claim that the throwing of a few stones is the greatest crime of the age.

CONSIDERING the fact that the two most prominent anti-trust bills before Congress are the offspring of the venerable Senator from Massachusetts and the equal ancient Senator from Illinois, perhaps it is not surprising that Attorney General Knox has determined to come to the rescue of Congress and tell what is really needed to control the trusts.

WHETHER the would-be revolutionaries of the Democracy be successful or not, it behooves those who believe in the protective system to prepare themselves to defend it again in 1904. It may come to pass that the Democratic party will be compelled to make "tariff for revenue" its paramount issue, for the reason that it can neither find nor fabricate another. In fact, present indications rather point that way.

NO MAN is absolutely essential to the welfare of a party or a nation, but it is within bounds to say that Premier Sagasta's death will be a serious loss to Spain. His age, to be sure, was far in excess of the Psalmist's limit, but even in the past year he rendered valuable service to his country. Probably, indeed, the restraining hand which he laid on young Alfonso in the few months which he was at the front after the little king went to the throne is accountable for much of the sanity revealed in the conduct of that monarch. Sagasta was one of the oldest, ablest and most experienced of the world's diplomats and statesmen, and his death will arouse regrets on two continents. Premier Silveira, his successor, is a man of ability and courage, but it will be years before he gains the prestige which will allow him to fill the place in the regards of his countrymen which was held by the veteran statesman who has just departed.

REPRESENTATIVE RICHARDSON of Tennessee, minority leader of the House of Representatives, in an interview in the Washington Star, is quoted as saying: "You will never have tariff reform to suit the people, so long as the manufacturer virtually sits in committee and writes the schedule."

We all remember a tariff reform when the importer sat in committee and wrote all of the schedules, except what the Sugar Trust wrote. This reform made the people sick and will probably keep the Democrats out of power for a quarter of a century.

It is announced from London that the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company has concluded contracts for a daily service of news telegrams to a British mail steamer sailing from Liverpool for New York at the end of the current month. The vessel will be equipped with a complete staff and plant, which will enable the publication of a daily newspaper on board during the voyage. Only think of it! A daily newspaper, edited and published on a rapidly moving steamship, in mid-ocean, containing the latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world. This is indeed a progressive age.

COMMENTING on the persecution of the capable and respectable postmaster of Indianapolis, Miss. solely on account of color, the New York Tribune says that while the policy of appointing many negroes to office is fairly defensible, there can be no question about the soundness of the principle which holds the negro ineligible to office as a white man of like character and attainments. No Government, which its laws declares the equal rights of blacks and whites, can for an instant consent by its own act to nullify the spirit of those laws at the dictation of prejudice. Nobody can claim office as a right, and, notwithstanding their legal equality, it may frequently be unwise and not for the good of the public service to appoint negroes to office. But when lawlessness attempts to obstruct such negroes as are in office and force the Government, not to execute a conservative discretion as to the suitability of a negro for any particular office, but to shut the door to preference on negroes just because they are negroes, then is the time for the Government to assert its prerogative and show its respect for the negro's standing as a citizen.

The Value of Protection.

There came a time when the slaveholding States seceded from the Union, and to raise money necessary to force them back it became necessary to place heavy duties on imports. There had been plenty of immigration before, when the starving farmhands of Ireland and Germany had come to the United States to do the rough work, but when the Morrill tariff came into effect the character of the laborers the skilled workmen of Europe hastened to our shores. Then the American people learned the value of a protective tariff. Instead of sending their money to be spent in the marts of Europe in exchange for manufactured articles, they found that the best skill of Europe eagerly sought the higher conditions to be found in the States. Protection made all the difference. It created employment at profitable wages for the American workman, and it brought the most skilled artificers in the world to share in the comforts of the American workman.

That is partly why the American people believe in protection, and why the suggestion of free trade is sufficient to doom to defeat any party that advocates it.—Brooklyn Times.

Ex-Governor Hastings Dead.

Ex-Governor Daniel Hartman Hastings died at his home in Bellefonte on Friday last, after a brief illness of pneumonia. Always robust and with a commanding physique, he was yet stricken down and his life work ended in his very prime.

Mr. Hastings was purely a self-made man. Born of Scotch-Irish parents in Clinton county in 1849, he began to carve out his own career at the age of fourteen, when he became a teacher in the public schools of his county. In 1896 he became principal of the high school in Bellefonte. A story characteristic of his energy has been frequently told. While struggling and studying at Bellefonte, he was invited to a social gathering in a house that was considered among the finest of those days. He chanced to overhear a thoughtless remark about his poverty. It stung him to the quick. He silently left the house and from the street looked up at it and its glittering lights. That spurred him to even greater exertions, and he resolved that he would win his way and would own that house. He kept this promise, made to himself that night, and the house from which he had fled, since enlarged and remodeled, was the one in which he died Friday morning.

NOT SMALLPOX

But Just as Bad. Nervous, Weak, Irritable, Sleepless, Head Confused, All Run Down.

Mrs. Emma Vessel, of 509 Elk street, Franklin, Pa., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are an excellent medicine. I was very nervous and unable to obtain sleep, consequently languid daytimes. I got a box and they gave me strength, steadiness and good sleep. This is naturally pleasing to me."

TERRIBLE CRIME RECALLED.

Workmen Found Dynamite in Basement of Court House. Wilkes-Barre, Jan. 10.—A gunpowder plot was vividly recalled and many wild stories were circulated when workmen connected with repairs to the court house entered the basement and discovered three and a half sticks of half-thawed dynamite, which had been stored with many other evidences of crimes of long ago in a quiet corner. It had been lying there since 1895. The workmen were startled.

Finally one or two boiler than the rest, laid hold of the explosive and hastened to the river where it was deposited.

This dynamite was the main evidence which sent three negroes to the penitentiary, one of whom died while under sentence of death. Two brothers, named Nuller, and a man named Shaffer, were charged with having blown up 60 Hungarians, several of whom were killed. The men were peacefully sleeping in a shanty at the time.

The two Nuller brothers and Shaffer with two women were arrested. The women were not convicted. The Nullers were convicted on the evidence of Shaffer, but after one of the Nullers died in jail, Shaffer confessed that his story was untrue and he was sent to the penitentiary for life, while the surviving Nuller was released.

Death of Ex-Governor Hastings.

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 10.—Former Governor Daniel Hartman Hastings died here from pleuro pneumonia, after an illness of four days. The improvement in his condition early Thursday night gave the family renewed hope, but the change for the better did not continue. Toward midnight there was a fall in his temperature and later the action of the heart grew weak. Oxygen was resorted to but all efforts to improve his condition failed.

Caught in Poker Joint.

Charleroi, Pa., Jan. 10.—Chief of Police John Summerville of Donora has stirred up a new sensation by raiding a poker joint in the heart of the town. He found about a dozen of the most prominent citizens engaged at the game and arrested the entire crowd. The rooms are on McKean avenue and are in the very heart of the town. They were fitted up in a very neat and attractive manner. It is said that the joint has been in operation some time.

Kept Disease Secret.

Erie, Pa., Jan. 10.—Frank Sutter, 23 years of age, a brakeman on the Lake Shore railroad, died from smallpox Wednesday. He had attempted to avoid quarantine and concealed the case until a few days ago when a physician was finally called. Sutter was past help. A half dozen cases in the neighborhood are traceable to the contagion spread by the Sutter family. Sixteen cases of smallpox have been reported in the last week.

Child Receives Fatal Scalds.

New Castle, Jan. 10.—Elmer, the 4-year-old son of Elmer Anderson of Patterson street, died in horrible agony as the result of injuries received by falling into a tub of scalding water. The mother was about to give the child a bath and had filled the tub with scalding water, intending to reduce it to the proper temperature. While she was absent from the room the child fell into the tub, receiving fatal injuries.

New Steel Combine.

Pittsburg, Jan. 10.—The Chronicle-Telegraph says that at a secret meeting of independent sheet and tinplate interests recently held here, a proposition was presented to consolidate all the independent interests, secure ore lands, coking and steam coal properties, build blast furnaces and a large Bessemer steel plant, to furnish steel to the finishing mills of the consolidation. A committee was appointed to prepare the plants.

Hurting to Secure College.

Greensburg, Jan. 10.—To secure the removal of Thiel college from Greenville to Greensburg the members of the committee appointed to solicit subscriptions began a house-to-house canvass. The committee has secured $5,700. The amount to be raised is $100,000. Unless this sum is raised by Tuesday, when the board of directors of Thiel college meet here, the institution will be lost to Greensburg.

Money Lender Murdered.

Pittsburg, Jan. 10.—Andrew Overick, proprietor of a P.O. boarding house, a broker and a money lender, was found unconscious in Mulberry alley Thursday night, with his skull fractured. He never regained consciousness and died yesterday. Overick always carried large sums of money with him. The police are inclined to think his murderer made a rich haul.

Altoona to Have a New Bank.

Altoona, Jan. 10.—Charles Baltzell of the Baltzell Coal company has purchased the old postoffice building from the Odd Fellows for $25,500. The project under consideration is the establishment of a new bank to be called the Bank of Altoona. It will have a capital of $800,000.

Killed by Yard Engine.

Pittsburg, Jan. 10.—Andrew McWilliams, one of the junior partners of Andrew Carnegie, and superintendent of carpenters at the Edgar Thompson Steel works, was killed yesterday by a yard engine.

When a man is complimented he thinks others are beginning to see him as he sees himself.

The penitentiary cough which indicates croup, is usually well known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Do not waste valuable time in experimenting with untried remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended, but give this medicine as directed and all symptoms of croup will quickly disappear. For sale by Dr. Dana, Tionesta, W. G. Wilkins, West Hickory.
