Edwardsville, Ill., April 21.-Rural telephone service made it possible for two farmers to call an armed posse in a short time to hunt down thieves who had plundered their farmhouses, and after a chase two suspects were overtaken in a buggy. In the fight that followed Frank Charles of Mobile, Ala., one of the supposed robbers, was fatally wounded by Charles Glass, a farmer. The other man left the buggy when his companion was shot and escaped after the posse had followed

Charles Glass and Henry Hendricks were the men whose houses had been in Taoistic temples. In this way it is entered. The posse overtook a buggy on the outside of which a tent was strapped. They were ordered to surrender, but fired at Constable L. J. Lawrence of man then escaped.

GAYNOR'S BOND.

Another Action to Have Execution Against Mr. Kirk Set Aside.

Binghamton, April 21.-When counsel for J. F. Gaynor appeared before United States Judge George W. Ray at Norwich he practically abandoned the "show cause" proceedings brought on behalf of Gaynor to restrain a marshal from levying on and selling the property of ex-Mayor Kirk of Syracuse, who was on Gaynor's bend.

Gaynor's counsel has brought another action to have the execution against Mr. Kirk set aside. On May 16 an application will be made before Judge Ray for an injunction in that suit, restraining the marshal from proceeding on the execution until this new ac-

President Goes to Grand Canyon.

Cinnabar, Mont., April 21.-Presdent Roosevelt has about completed his tour of the Yellowstone park. He was at Fire Hole Geyser basin and will return to the Norris Geyser basin today, going from there to the Grand Canyon, where the upper and lower falls are situated. He expects to return to the post head-uarters Wednesday and will remain in that vicinity until Friday afternoon, when he will resume his trip. The members of the president's party who have been living on the train at Cinnabar since April 8, will probably join the president in the park Thursday morn-

RELIGION IN CHINA.

There Are Three State Systems, Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism.

In theory Confucingism is the religion of the state. The state officials are the literati who have secured their positions through the study of the classics-i, e., the "Sacred Writings of Confucius." The Confucianist temples are protected and honored by the state, and the worship of Confucius is carried on at the expense of the state. In a limited sense, too, Buddhism can also claim to be a state religion. The same is also true of Taoism, since deceased generals and statesmen are assigned their corresponding ranks with the Taoistic king of the lower world in hades. In this role they are worshiped possible for a Chinaman to make use into conflict with the distinctive principles of any of them. Their officials worship together. In funeral services monks of both orders are found performing functions on different days.

The public temples are usually in control of the Taolsts, but sometimes are in charge of Buddhists. Not rarely There were two men in the vehicle. Taoistic gods are found in Buddhist temples and vice versa. Sometimes laughingly refused to do so. Glass re they differ only in name. The Budmoved a shotgun from the buggy and dhist goddess of mercy is the Taoist one of the pair drew a revolver and goddess of heaven. The pearl king of the Taoists is the imperial ruler of the East Alton, who returned the fire. Buddhists. Both systems teach the Neither shot was effective. A Powerful River.

"Should one be asked at random to name the most powerful river in New England-that is, the river yielding the most water power and doing the most work-be would be likely to name the Merrimac," said M. S. Edgar of Portland, Me. "He would have in mind the great manufacturing city of Lowell, and the answer would be a natural one. It is surprising, therefore, to be survey that the most powerful river in New England is the Androscoggin. Yet the surprise abates when the facts are recounted. There are nine or ten developed water powers along the river, and it appears that they furnish total power equal to 73,000 horses. The falls at Brunswick yield 7,700 horsepower; at Lisbon Falls, 1,925; at Lewiston, 12,600; at Livermore Fails, 3,000; at Otis Falls, 8,000; at Jay's, 3,700; at Peterson's Rips, 6,000. At Rumford Falls there is a potential of 30,000 horsepower when the resources at that place are fully developed, and that is altogether the greatest water power in New England."-Washington Times.

Cheese Dishes.

Cheese is one of the most concentrated forms of nitrogenous food and as a food well adapted to the laboring man or those working in the open air. When properly cooked, cheese is probably more easily assimilated by the ordinary stomach than eaten raw, and hard, uncooked cheese should be served grated. In combination with certain food materials cheese is valuable, but when used in this way should form the staple dish cooked in stock and then baked with of risotto, should be used in the place meat, potato, uncaroni and cheese is pay a fine for those who did. not properly arranged. Macaroni and cheese should be used for a luncheon dish, and a green vegetable should be served with meat and potato.

Would Try to Prevent It. "What a fine little fellow," said the patronizing old gentleman who had been elected representative for four successive terms from his congressional district. His remark was addressed to a kind hearted lady holding in her arms a little fellow who blinked gravely at all that was going on. "Yes," replied the lady. "His father and I set a great deal of store by him." "Well, he's a bright looking little fellow. Maybe he'll be a congressman

"Maybe he will," said the mother. "But," she added earnestly, "I'm going to do my best to raise him right."-

Youth. Ancient Proofreading.

The editions of books printed 200 or 300 years ago are almost entirely free from typographical errors, which may be attributed to the fact that early publishers were generally eminent scholars, and themselves gave much attention to the revision of their proofs. After reading the proofs they frequently turned them over to other scholars with the request to revise and correct, and as the printer's time was then deemed a matter of small consequence a perfection was attained which is-seldom equaled by modern printers.

Two Courses Open.

Bonaventure de Fourcroy, a clever society poet of the seventeenth century, a splendid orator, an eminent advocate and an intimate friend of Moliere to boot, on being asked one day by a magistrate what he meant to do with his son replied, "If there is anything in him I'll make him a barrister;

if not I'll make him a judge." He's Still a Bachelor.

It was at a social. The young woman said on starting bome that she needed something more around her. The young man borrowed a shawl. He is still a bachelor. She is now the ma of four interesting children.-Richmond Missourian.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.

He Showed the Widow Why It Was

Too Late to Mourn. After the ship which had come from New Zenland was tied up at the wharf Larry O'Brien was told off by his shipmates to call upon Mrs. McCarthy and break the news of the death of her husband, which had occurred on shipboard the preceding summer. The Brooklyn Eagle tells how he did it: "Good morning, Mrs. McCarthy!"

said he. "Is Denny in?" "Denny?" said the surprised woman My Denny? No, he's not in. Is the ship here?

"Sure it is. And Denny's not got ome yet? That's quare-unless something has bappened him." "What would happen him?" Mrs. Me-

Carthy asked auxiously. 'There's plenty of things can happen man," said Larry delicately. "He might have got hurted or he might have took sick with the fever. But there's one comfort, as Father McGinnis said once, and that is that time heals iv'ry grief." "What do you mane, Mr. O'Brien?" 'I mane that if anything happened Denny you wouldn't feel as bad about it a few months after it happened as you would right at the time, would you?" "I suppose not," said Mrs. McCarthy, "I mind whin I lost me first husband I thought I'd never get over it. But, as you say, in a few months it was aisier to bear."

"Then, Mrs. McCarthy, you'll be glad to know that it's now four monthsnearly five-since Denny died. Sure, it can't grieve you now as much as it would if you'd known it at the time."

Spain's Migratory Sheep.

There are about 10,00,000 migratory sheep in Spain, which each year travel as much as 200 miles from the plains to mountains. They are known as transhumantes, and their march, resting places and behavior are governed by special regulations, dating from the told by the United States geological fourteenth century. At certain times no one may travel the same route as the sheep, which have the right to graze on all open and common land on the way. For this purpose a road ninety yards wide must be left on all inclosed and private property. The shepherds lead their flocks, which follow after and around. The flocks are accompanied by provision mules and by large dogs to guard against wolves. The merino sheep travel 400 miles to the mountains, and the total time spent on the migration there and back is fourteen weeks.

Bribery In Elections.

Bribery in elections is an ancient if not an honorable custom. This is shown in the case of Shrewsbury, England. An extract from Parry's "Parliaments and Councils of England" of a case of bribery, with its punishment, in 1571 shows how long the pernicious custom has been in practice; "Thomas Long, 'a very simple man and unfit' to serve, is questioned how he came to be elected. He confesses that he gave the mayor of Westbury and another £4 for his place. They are ordered to repay this sum, and a fine of £20 is to be assessed of the meal. Macaroni and cheese, rice on the corporation and inhabitants of Westbury for their scandalous atcheese or cooked with it, as in the form | tempt." One can imagine the indignation of those inhabitants of Shrewsof meat. An ordinary dinner menu of bury who received no bribe having to and the Solomon islands, as well as portions of the Hawaiian group, are the homes of various species of worms with thick, heavy bodies and with a well defined neck connecting the body with a head that is a startling reminder of that of the monkey. In the Sandwich Islands they are called "me-ta-lukl," which means "creeper with a child's head." An old New Zealand legend says that at one time they were of immense proportions and threatened the extinction of all human life on the islands.

Prudence and Prevention.

The following quaintly worded notice is posted outside the offices of one of the street car companies of Paris: "We beg to inform burglars that we do not leave money or valuables in any of our depots during the night. You are requested to make known this fact among the confraternity, so as to avoid unnecessary trouble and loss of time." The newspaper which publishes the above adds, "Prudence and prevention are the two mothers of safety."

TWO OBLIGING MEN.

Each Was the Victim In a Street Car

It was in a Boston street car. When the car stopped at a crossing, a lady got up and went to the door. As she rose there was the chink of a coin on the floor, but before it occurred to any one to stop her she was out of the car and across the street. Two ladies who had sat next to her looked with anxious indifference on the floor. One of them leaned slightly forward, but said nothing. Just as the conductor was reaching for the bell rope a young man spied the coin and dashed out of the car. He caught the lady who had left the car, handed her the coin, ran back, caught the step of the car as the motors began to sing in crescendo and sat | cases cured, but in the fact that the cures down breathless. One of the two ladles opposite lam leaned forward and said coldly, "Young man, what did you do with the nickel I dropped?" The pas sengers tittered. An old man at the other end of the car turned to his neighbor. "That reminds me," he said, of something that happened to my wife years ago. "It was before the days of conductors, when we used to drop our nickels into a slot, and they ran down a groove to the box behind the driver.

"My wife had started out with a little change and one of those troublesome five dollar goldpieces which used to be more commonly in circulation than they are now. Her eyes were not good, and so she was nervous about her goldpiece and had it on her mind all the way downtown.

"When she took a car for home, she met a friend and grew interested in conversation with her. She put her coin in the slot absentmindedly. The driver turned as it struck the box. You remember the cein fell into a glass compartment first, and then the driver pushed a lever which sent it into the strong box below.

"As my wife heard the click of the ever she thought of her five dollar goldpiece. She looked in her purse. Sure enough, it was gone. She went forward and spoke to the driver. He said he hadn't looked very carefully, nickels in the glass receptacle when he pushed the lever.

'My wife insisted. The driver said she would ride to the end of the line the cashler at the station would open the box. This meant a journey of two miles beyond our street, and my wife was in a hurry.

"An old gentleman who sat by the door said he was going to the end of cents and get the goldpiece at the station. My wife thanked him and took the money. When she got home, she found the five dollar goldpiece in the lining of her purse.

"Next day I went to the station. The cashier said an old gentleman had made him open the box. There was no goldplece. The old gentleman had left in a rage, refusing to give his name. He said he had been swindled and did not want to be known for a fool.

Animal Worship Among the Hebrews The Old Testament records show. notwithstanding the various revisions through which these venerable books have passed, many indications of animal worship among the Israelites, which must have lasted for ages be fore the prohibition inculcated in the second line of the Decalogue was formulated. At a comparatively late date "Jehovah was worshiped under the popular symbol of a buil, while the twelve oxen upholding the layer in Solomon's temple, as well as the horns adorning the altar, were drawn from the prevalent bull worship." Modern research has also proved that and wonderful commercial activity the cherubim were represented in the form of winged bulls. M. Lenormant in his famous book on the "Beginnings of History" says that during the time of the kings and prophets "most assuredly the cherubim, as there describ- | co, Los Angeles and many other ed, are animals,"

A Fighting Bishop.

On one occasion Bishop Selwyn was going down the river Walkato with a lazy, left off paddling the canoe, at the same time muttering that if Selwyn were not a bishop he would-well, "go for him." In a moment the bishop told the man to turn the canoe ashore where, stripping himself of everything episcopal, he said, pointing to his Pittsburg, Pa. robes, etc: "The bishop lies there; the man is here. I am quite ready; come on." The Maori did not "come on," however, but quietly resumed his work without another murmur.-London Tit-

New York Sheriffs.

The reason why the sheriff of New York cannot be elected to two successive terms is this; It is the sheriff's duty to carry out the process of courts against official delinquents during trial and after conviction. Should a sheriff endeavor forcibly to hold over for a second time after having been defeated | Fine Turnouts at All Times for re-election he would be the instrument of the court's process against himself, a paradoxical position which the law avoids by making him ineligible for re-election.
