His Wife Fired Twice at Him In His Office.

> Other Shot Went Wild-After Inflict ing a Perhaps Fatal Wound Mrs. Costello Walked to Police Headquar ters and Gave Herself Up-Result of Years of Domestic Infelicity.

Buffalo, May 5 .- Years of domestic infelicity and open warfare between John H. Costello and his wife, Sarah culminated in the hall on the fourth floor of the Prudential building at 1:30 yesterday afternoon, when Mrs Costello drew a revolver and fired two shots at her husband.

One bullet took effect in his back just below the right shoulder blade and the other went wild, lodging in the ceiling of the hall.

Twenty minutes after the shoot ing Mrs. Costello walked into Super intendent Bull's office at police head quarters and gave herself up. She admitted shocting her husband and handed the revolver to Chief of De tectives Cusack. The doctors seem to think Mr. Costello's chances for re covery are good.

The Costellos are well known in Buffalo society. They have been sep arated for several years during which time repeated litigation has been en gaged in. Mrs. Costello has made numerous attempts to gain possession of their children and has more than once attempted to kidnap them. Mr. Costello is one of Buffalo's wealthiest men. He is a mine owner and of operator and has offices at 420 Pruden tial building.

The story of the shooting is that Mrs. Costello opened the door to her husband's office at precisely 1:30. Mr Costello was alone.

"I would like to speak to you," she is alleged to have said.

Mr. Costello arose from his chair and walked toward the door. As he neared his wife she drew a revolver. er that is not known. At the sight of the revolver Mr. Costello brushed past his wife and started to run to ward the west end of the hall.

Fired at Fleeing Man. Then Mrs. Costello fired the two shots. The first went wild. She evidently aimed quickly as her husband rushed down the hall.

Instantly there was a second re port. Mr. Costello threw up his hands and fell in the doorway of Ting & Co's office at 426 Prudential building. Mrs. Costello disappeared as the occupants of other offices on the floor rushed from their places of busi ness. One man who was in time to see Mr. Costello fall, says he saw of the cardinals of the congregation nothing of the woman after that.

Mr. Costello was quickly carried in to his own office. He was strong enough to stand up and talk. "Who did it?" asked one of the men who had assisted him. "Mrs

When in middle life the Costellos disagreed so they could not be reconciled, which was about five years ago Mr. Costello started an action in Penn sylvania to get a divorce from his wife. She fought the suit and defeated him. Afterwards she had a number of his witnesses indicted on charges of giving false testimony against her

Then Mrs. Costello went to Dakots and having established a residence she sued her husband for a decree of separation. He put in a defense and she was defeated. The justice allowed her $500 for her expenses. She returned to this state.

Here another separation suit was begun almost immediately and pending its determination Mrs. Costello was allowed the $20 a week alimony or which she has been living. The ac tion never was pressed to trial and is still hanging fire.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY.

Dr. McKee Details Ethel Dingle's Own Story of Her Downfall.

Rochester, May 5.-A great deal of sensational testimony was heard yesterday afternoon in the Kent case The most important witness was Dr Thomas H. McKee of Buffalo, a practicing physician and surgeon.

Dr. McKee told on the stand in the presence of a crowded court room the tragic story of Ethel Dingle's downfall as related to the doctor by herself. Dr. McKee was interne at the River side hospital during Miss Dingle's residence there.

Witness said Ethel was a bright child and was apt in her studies. She sometimes prepared patients for Dr. McKee before surgical operations. This preparation required the use of the razor. Miss Dingle, he said, when he first knew her was bright and vivaclous, almost like a child, impulsive and affectionate, but a thoroughly good girl. This was during the Pan-American year. Later she lost much dressed beef, there being no scarcity of this brightness and became despon-

Dr. Grant joined the group in about five minutes, but Ethel would not speak to him. Miss Dingle asked witness to take her home, say ing she was afraid of Grant.

Witness said Grant was about two thirds drunk, in a very ugly mood. Grant followed Ethel and expostulated, pleaded, and threatened to make her go with him. Ethel said she would not return to the hospital after being made such an exhibition of and went home to her sister's.

Witness told Ethel Dingle's story as related to him by the girl the next morning after the excursion and upon her return to the hospital. She was very bitter against Dr. Grant, who she greatly feared would kill her.
