PRISONERS IN VATICAN.

Cardinals Gathered In Largest Conclave In History.

Veekly Trade Review-Escaped Convicts-Statistics of Railroad Accidents-Magazines Exploded - Confessed Wife Murder-Four Young People Drowned.

The largest conclave in the history of the Catholic church is now assembled in the Sistine chapel at Rome for the purpose of electing a successor to Leo XIII. Sixty-two cardinals, with over 200 clerical and lay attendants, are, to all intents and purposes, prisoners within the Vatican.

The general impression exists that within two or three days, a new pope will have been chosen. But no matter how long a time may be required, the absolute seclusion of the princes of the church from the outer world must, according to the church law, continue until a choice is made. Four cardinals whose names have been most frequently before the pub-He recently in connection with the discussion of the successor to the papal throne are Gotti, Oreglia, Vannutelli and Rampolla.

No successor to Leo XIII has yet been chosen.

The conclusion is drawn that the strength of the leading candidate remains unbroken and that no compromise candidate has yet appeared. And there is no indication of how long this condition of affairs will continue. The prolongation of the contest has aroused tremendous interest. Every trace of that apathy at Rome which followed the death of the late pope has vanished and instead there now exists a burning interest in everything pertaining to the election of his succes-

Princes, princesses, archbishops, bishops, monsignors, priests, in short people from every walk in life from that of nobleman to street beggar, talk of nothing but la sfumata (the smoke from the burning ballots.) This was the lodestone which drew tens of thousands to the square of St. Peter's. There for hours, with strained eyes, they waited in hope of seeing a tiny little stream of smoke.

Several attempts to establish communication with the conclave have been discovered in time and there have been some suspicious lights waying in the cells of several of the cardinals which were interpreted as nals. These were immediately reported to the camerlengo by the marshal and extra precautions were provided to prevent a repetition of the occurrence. Conventional signs for communications, codes, etc. have all failed up to the present time.

Powder Magazines Exploded.

Two small powder magazines in the midst of the houses of 50 mill operatives at Lowell, Mass., exploded Wednesday with frightful concussion and the lives of more han a score of persons were cut off and 50 others were injured.

Half a dozen men who were loading kegs of powder from one of the mi gazines were blown to pieces, four boys 200 yards away were killed by the force of the explosion and 14 frame houses within a radius of 400 yards collapsed as though built of cards. Seven of these houses immediately caught fire and were completely consumed. At least three persons were caught in the ruins and burned to death, while seven or eight others, who were rescued, died subsequently of their injuries.

It is estimated that 70 separate pieces of property, including those already mentioned, were destroyed. while the force of the explosion broke windows within a radius of five or six miles, and its thunder was heard distinctly for more than 50 miles away.

A long line of hearses moving through the streets of Lowell was a pathetic reminder of Wednesday's terrible catastrophe at Wigginsville, when an explosion shuffed out nearly a score of lives. At present the number of dead stands at 19. Two of the injured are in a critical condition. The ruins were thoroughly searched but no additional bodies were found.

Thirteen Convicts Escaped, Thirteen desperate prisoners confined in the Folsom, Cal., penitentiar? made a successful break for liberty nt the breakfast hour.

After a fierce fight in the captain's office, during which Turnkey Cochrane was fatally stabbed, Guard Cotter was killed and Officer Palmers was cut in the head, the convicts seized arms and ammunition and, using the warden and other officers as shields, escaped. It is believed they are making for the Bald mountain. State troops ordered out by Governor Pardee have gone to the scene.

When the armory was reached officers there attempted to interfere but were quickly overpowered and the convicts took a supply of weapons and ammunition and made a dash for Reimports of American Cotton. Weather, crop and trade conditions are seasonably favorable, though in regularity and weakness in some staple prices reflect readjustments of consumption to enlarged production Copious rains in the corn belt and in the western portion of the cotton region have removed some of the uneas iness existing as to the outturn o these two great crops, and despite this backwardness the outlook for general trade has been measurably helped.

Cotton crop reports this week are fully as favorable as at any previous time, and an unquestionable gain in condition will probably be shown in every state by the agricultural report this week. Rains have benefited crops in the Gulf states.

The first six months of 1903 wit nessed a record breaking production of pig iron, and the same is true of the fiscal year ending June 30.

The situation in the cotton goods trade is apparently ro clearer. July delivery was this week pushed up to new records. Reimports of American cotton from Europe are reported heavy and large numbers of spindles are idle the number in one branch of this in dustry alone being given at fully 1, Judge Advocate General Davis Says a Caso Falling Within Prohibition of Connection With Lyon's Contract. Demand For Repayment.

Washington, Aug. 1 - Secretary Root has made public all the papers ralating to the investigation into the government contract for gloves with E. R. Lyon. This contractor secured the gloves from Littauer Bros., the senior member of the firm being Congressman Littauer.

Secretary Root has referred the case to the department of justice to so that appropriate measures may be his home in Washington. taken if it has. There is a statute ment supplies being made directly or indirectly with a member of con-

Colonel Garlington made an investigation and submitted a report as to the facts in the case. Judge Advocate report General Davis says:

"It appears from the testimony that on Oct, 15, 1898, a contract was awarded to Lyon for 3,000 pairs of muskrat gloves, at $1.54 per pair; on Dec. 7, 1898, a second contract for 20,000 pairs was awarded to Lyon at $1.70 per pair, a stipulation being 'nserted to the effect that delivery under it could be increased 50 per cent at the discretion of the officer making the contract.

Division of Profits.

"The government took advantage of the stipulation and 30,061 pairs were actually called for and delivered under the contract of Dec. 7, 1898. Some discussion having arisen as to the price Lyon was to pay for gauntlets delivered under the contract of Dec. 7, an agreement was entered into between Littauer Bros, and Lyon to the effect that an accurate account of the cost of manufacture was to be kept, and if, after the contract was completed, it should prove that the cost of manufacture did not equal $1.65 per pair, Lyon was to receive one half of to Lyon on the books of Littauer Bros.

"A case falling within the prohibi tion of the statute is clearly shown in the testimony, which, in the opinion of this office, charges the department with the performance of the duty set forth in section 3,739 of the Revised Statutes; and it is therefore recommended that a demand be made by the quartermaster general upon the firm of Littauer Bros. for the repayment of whatever sum is found to have been paid in consideration of the contract of Dec. 7, 1898, with E. R. Lyon. as extended, in accordance with its terms, by the quartermaster's depart-

"It will be observed that section 3, 739 of the Revised Statutes requires that demands shall be made for the repayment of any sums of money which may have been advanced on the part of the United States in consideration of any such contract or agree ment and in the case of a refusal or delay to repay the same the statute goes on to require that a suit shall be instituted for the recovery of any such sum of money so advanced, thus making an important distinction between those portions of the consideration which are advanced and those which retain their executory character.

"Having regard to the highly penal character of the statute above cited which requires it to receive a strict construction at the hands of the de opinion of the attorney general be obtained as to whether, in view of the fact that the contrachas been completely executed; that the entire consideration has passed, and that the articles stipulated for have been delivered to and have become the property of the United States, the whole or a portion shall be made the subject of the demand.

Duty of Inspecting Officer.

"The fact that a member of congres was an active manager of a firm which made large sales of gloves and gaunt lets to the contractors with the quar termaster's department should have caused the officer charged with the making of such contracts to scrutinize their execution with a degree of diligence measured by the likelihood of an attempted violation of the statute; and should also have caused him to be on his guard for evidence of financial weakness on the part of the principal in the performance of the agreement The fact that it was perfectly lawful for the bidder to make purchases of any firms engaged in the making of gloves, whatever their composition made it difficult for the contracting intent existed, so long as the terms of the contract were carried out in apparent good faith; and it made it sim-Harly difficult to obtain information of a positive character in respect to the execution of a particular contract that would justify a formal inquiry. I was the first duty of an officer charged with making purchases in behalf of the United States to see that the ar ticles procured were of standard quasonable. The testimony elicitor dur of goods which fell short of the stand ards established by the department, shows that this duty was thoroughly and conscienticusly performed." General Davis recommends that the testimony of two witnesses who could not be found by Inspector Garlfugton is rather important and that the investigation be continued with a view of getting their testimony. When the Statute Has Been Shown In taken he says it can be referred to the department of justice with the other papers in the case.

Mr. Knox transfers his affections from Fittsburg, the scene of his life's labors, to the pretty suburb of Philadelphia partly because he wishes to become a breeder of blue-blooded horses, but the chief reason for his choice of the estate he has bought Hes in the fact that upon it is located an old house which played a large part in the life of his most noted ancestor, General Henry Knox of Revolutionary fame.

Mr. Knox's newly acquired estate was part of the camp ground used by Washington at Valley Forge. It is less than a mile from the house in which the natriot commander-in-chief lived and held his councils of war during the long winter of his army's suffering. And on this side of the farm, nearest Washington's headquarters, stand? the house where General Knox and his brave wife lived during the months when the American cause was in its worst straits. Dairy Commissioner May Prosecute Those Who Serve It In State Institutions. Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 3.-Dairy commissioner Warren learned officially that he really has a right to prosecute cases where to the inmates oleomargarine is served in place of butter.

The ill-informed general public had supposed all along that the commissioner had unmistakable authority to prosecute the offenders.

Attorney General Carson has now given Warren an opinion to the effect that he can press this class of cases n the courts, and as a result, it is announced, such suits will hereafter be the oleo laws.

Warren recently brought suit against the managers of the almshouses at Williamsport and Punxsutawney for feeding the inmates oleo, after which the contention was raised by oleo advocates that he had exceeded his authority.

He submitted the question to the attorney general, who furnished to him a written opinion that the commissioner has ample grounds for prosecuting managers of almshouses and penal and charitable institutions receiving state aid if they furnish oleo to their wards, provided the charges can be proved.
