Obeying, it is said, President Castro's orders, the papers, having learned that Senor Otero, who umpires the Mexican claims; Senor Duret, the commissioner, and Senor Cuzman, the agent, all of the Mexican tribunal and all leading figures in Mexican society, would, on the occasion of the Mexican independence day, give a dinner and ball to friends in a house belonging to a citizen of the United States, printed virulent articles threatening to publish the names of 16 leaders of Caracas society who had accepted invitations to be present, as "anti-patriots," and as guilty "of an act of lese patrie" in going to a ball given by foreigners "daring to claim money from Venezuela."

Besides this, menacing letters were sent to the members of the Mexican commission, and a popular demonstration against the commissioners having been premeditated the Mexican commission withdrew the invitations to the ball, so as not to cause a conflict.

The Republican Nominees for State Treasurer and Auditor General.

TWO ORGANIZATION FAVORITES

Each Has Won the Esteem and Support of His Neighbors, and Both Are Enthusiastically Backed By Those Who Know Them Best.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Sept. 22.-In their candidates for state treasurer and auditor general the Republicans of Pennsylvania have standard bearers who have earned recognition from their state and their party

William L. Mathues, the nominee for state treasurer, is one of the most aggressive, progressive and intelligent young Republicans in the party organi-

Candidate for State Treasurer. zation. He was born March 24, 1862, in Delaware county, Pa., and received his early education in the public schools and is a graduate of the public high school at Media, Pa. He studied law in the office of Hon. John M. Broomall, the Nestor of the Delaware county bar, and was admitted to practice in November, 1884.

A CANDIDATE STRONG AT HOME. Mr. Mathues has always taken an active interest in public affairs. He served in the capacity of deputy sheriff for two years from January, 1885, and then became deputy prothonotary of Delaware county, which position he held until 1892. In November, 1891, he was elected to the office of prothonotary and clerk of the courts of Delaware county and took the oath of office to that position in the following January. He gave eminent satisfaction in the discharge of his official duties, no much so that he was repeatedly urged to continue in office, and in March last he received a unanimous nomination to succeed himself for a fifth term.

Meanwhile a movement was started among Republicans of Delaware and neighboring counties in favor of his nomination for state treasurer. The suggestion of Mr. Mathues for this honor was very favorably received throughout the state, and in a short time he was admittedly the popular choice in the party organication, and his nomination by the Republican state convention by a unanimous vote followed

Mr. Mathues 'is the acknowledged leader of the Republicans of Delaware county. He has labored intelligently and unceasingly in behalf of the Republican party and in the support of its principles, and to him must be given much of the credit for the harmonious conditions which exist among the Republicans of Delaware county. He has been chairman of the Delaware county executive committee for the last six years and has represented his party in numerous conventions.

He has a large personal acquaintanceship in social and business circles, besides through his political affiliations. He is a member of the Sons of Veterans, Junior Order of the United American Mechanics, the orders of the Elks and the Eagles, the K. of M., the L O. R. M. and other social and beneficial organizations.

SENATOR SNYDER'S CAREER. William Preston Snyder, the nominee for auditor general, was born in East Vincent township, Chester county, Pa., October 7, 1851, which county he is now representing in the state senate for the third consecutive term.

WILLIAM P. SNYDER,

Candidate for Auditor General. His early education was received in lots of 250 boxes at 10%c; small sol- the public schools, in the place of his birth, and farm work occupied his BUTTER-Creamery, 34 packages at time, when not engaged in fortifying himself with intellectual training Later in life he attended the Millers

During the winter of '68 and '69 he taught school. After a course of study he was graduated as physician in March, 1875, from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania. He returned to Chester county, Spring City, where he now resides, and began the practice of medicine, and continued as practitioner until 1886, when he accepted a position as medical examiner for the relief department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which position he held for nearly two years, from February, 1886. He served as postmaster of Spring City from October, 1883, until August, 1885. Senator Snyder has always taken a lively interest in politics, and has been an active worker in all of the campaigns of his party. In 1887 he was nominated for prothonotary of his county and was elected by a large majority, and served in that office until January, 1891. The year preceding his relinquishment of the office he was made chairman of the county Republican committee. At the county primaries in the fall of 1890, while serving as prothonotary, he was nominated for member of the house and was elected. He was a delegate from Chester to the Republican state gubernatorial convention in 1878 and to the state convention that nominated General James A. Beaver for governor in 1882. In 1892 Mr. Snyder was elected to the senate. In the session of 1895 he was chairman of the committee on health sanitation, and in 1897 chairman of the committee on railroads. In 1896 he was re-elected to the senate by nearly 8000 majority, having received nearly twice as many votes as his Democratic and Prohibition opponents combined. At the opening of the session of 1899 he was elected president pro tem., and filled the position with dignity, credit and acceptability, as he did in 1901. During the campaign of 1900 a determined effort was made by the Democrats and Independents to defeat Mr. Snyder for election to a third term, but he won by a plurality of over 1700.

WORKED FOR THE FARMERS. No more popular man sat in the chair of president pro tem, of the state senate, a fact which was attested by his second election as presiding officer, a distinction rarely accorded to a senator. At the session of 1903 he was chairman of the committee of appropriations. During his legislative career Mr. Snyder was conspicuous as a champion of the interests of the farmers of Pennsylvania. He was an ardent, consistent and determined advocate of legislation to protect the pure butter interests. He stood like a stone wall against the efforts of the oleomargarine trust, and was largely responsible for the passage of laws advocated by the butter and dairy men. Were it not for the efforts of men like Senator Snyder, the farmers of Pennsylvania would today be at the mercy of the oleomargarine trust.

Why a Boiled Lobster Is Red. In all crustaceans, as, indeed, in almost everything in nature, there is a certain per cent of iron. Upon boiling the lobster is oxidized. The effect is largely due also to the percentage of muriatic acid which exists naturally in the shell. The chemical change which takes place here is all. at similar to that which occurs in the burning of a brick. In boiling a lobster its coat ceases to be a living substance, and to a certain extent it takes a new charac-

It is as a brick would be after burning. This effect can also be produced by the sun, but necessarily not so rapid, as the heat of that luminary, although more intense, is not concentratcd sufficiently to produce the result. The sun also exercises a bleaching influence which consumes the oxide almost as fast as it is formed, leaving the shell white or nearly pure lime.

When the natives of Paraguay drink tea they do not pour it from a teapot into a cup, but fill a goblet made out of a pumpkin or gourd and then suck up the hot liquid through a long reed. Moreover, the tea which they use is altogether different from that which comes from China, being made out of dried and roasted leaves of a palmlike plant which grows in Paraguay and southern Brazil. The natives say that this ten is an excellent remedy for fever and rheumatism, and chemical tests which have been made by German physicians seem to show that there is good ground for this statement. Certain it is that tea is widely used throughout Paraguay in cases of illness and that, so far as has been observed, the effects produced by it are highly beneficial.

Huxley on the Bishops. Among the "Essays of John Fiske" are some delightful reminiscences of Huxley, at whose house Mr. Fiske was a frequent visitor during his stay in London. Here is one of these charm. dwell. ing and illuminative stories:

"In an examination on anatomy a very callow lad got the valves of the heart wrong, putting the mitral on the right side, but Huxley took compassion on him with the remark; 'Poor little beggar! I never got them correctly myself until I reflected that a bishop was never in the right!" "

The word "belfry" had originally no connection with "bell," an idea which is now intimately associated with the term. The first meaning given is lish "berfry," a watchtower. The first the practice grew of hanging "bells" in such towers people reminded themselves of the fact by changing the word "berfry" into the modern "belfry."

SOUNDS THE KEYNOTE

Pennsylvania By Her Election Returns Shapes Party Policies.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN OUTLOOK

Overwhelming Republican Majorities Desired This Fall to Insure a Continuance of Roosevelt, Protection and Prosperity. [Special Correspondence,]

Philadelphia, Sept. 22. - Manufacturers, business men and many hundreds of thousands of employes of mercantile and industrial establishments throughout Pennsylvania seem to be impressed with the important bearing the result of the approaching election in the state will have in shaping the policy to be advocated by the convention. Already the election of delegates to the next Republican national convention is under way, and Pennsylvania has led off by naming the first Roosevelt delegates chosen in the United

Republican party in the next national

While in the middle west there has been a revival of the agitation for socalled "tariff reform," which is nothing more nor less than a demand for Democratic free trade, Republicans of great manufacturing states like Pennsylvania are aiert to the necessity of meeting this issue with prompt and emphatic declarations against any such movement.

Through the agency of the Republican state committee, the chairman of the Republican county committees have been warned to get in touch with the members of their respective committees and instruct them to advise every voter as to the bearing the election this fall will have on the next presidential election.

As a matter of fact, the utterances of the Republicans of Pennsylvania, is reflected through the ballot box, lave great weight in the deliberations of the delegates to the Republican ational convention, and therefore it s essential that there shall be an verwhelming Republican majority olled up in Pennsylvania this fall.

Such a majority will be considered as Pennsylvania's voice in behalf of a continuance of the present era of prosjerity and an emphatic protest against any and all attempts at tariff tinkering; in other words, such a verdict will be accepted to mean that Pennsylvania ts in favor of letting well enough alone: a policy which, if pursued; will prevent business disturbances and the consequent inauguration of a pe riod of depression which usually pre valls during presidential years.

The Ship's Steward.

A steward is nothing more or less than a combination waiter and chambermaid. His duties begin an hour before breakfast, by all rights, inasmuch as it should take him that time to brush up his blue or black uniform, shave, make his hands neat and shine his shoes. He is supposed to wear a spotless and expansive bosom to his shirt, clean collar and black or white tie. I do not think I ever saw but two stewards who had shirts; all the others used a dickey for the sake of economy.

Waiting on the passengers at table, the care of the tables, the care of the silverware and a certain amount of dishwashing and pantry work make up the steward's dining room duties. The other half is work in the staterooms, making the beds, straightening up the rooms and doing the general work of a chambermaid, as well as givng a certain amount of attendance to the occupants of the rooms.

The pay is very poor, and the princioal dependence of the steward is on the lps he receives. They are really the poorest paid class that go to sea in one way, and yet I have known men to make £40 in tips on a six weeks' voyage .- Leslie's Monthly.

The Horse in Mythology.

The Grecians placed in the sun the god of their wisdom and intelligence and gave him a chariot and four fiery horses—the chariot to symbolize doctrine and the horses intelligences. So with their god of the sea. Neptune was drawn in his sea chariot by horses the sea to symbolize all scientific knowledge in general, the chariot to symbolize doctrine or science and the horses intelligences. They mythologcally described the birth of the sciences by the flying horse Pegasus, which with its hoofs burst open a fountain out of the hard rock at the moment of his rising from earth to heaven, at which fountain were seven virgins who were the seven sciences.

The flying horse symbolizes an intelligence directed heavenward; the hard rock represents hard matter of fact or sensual knowledge; the fountain springing therefrom represents pure truth, where the virgin sciences delight to

An Ingenious Suicide.

That was a peculiar case of suicidea self guillotining. The average suicide shoots or cuts or swallows poison recklessly, frequently botching the job fearfully. But this fellow? Listen: After sharpening the edge of a spade he fastened the implement, blade downward, to the end of a carpenter's bench, which he weighted heavily. He then placed a block of wood under the same end of the bench in such a manner that it could be easily removed, and so let the bench fall, together with the sharp-"watchtower," from the middle Eng. ened blade. When these preparations were completed he lay down, placed his part of this word is connected with neck across a thick piece of wood diborough," the second with "free." # Why Should We Work?

which would be fatal to life. In the universe wherever there is life there is activity. This is true in the vegetable, the animal and the human worlds. This activity is a necessity which runs through all organic life. The life that is not crowned with ennobling work of some kind, either for one's own livelihood or for the good of others, is an empty lire-an abnormal

Work is natural; idleness unnatural. Work builds up, and inactivity tears down. Idleness is a violation of our beins. Hence it is unmoral.

There are manifold reasons why we should work and no reason why we should not. Those who are not obliged to labor for their daily bread should choose work of some kind in obedience to the universal law that we see running all creation.

He who was of the opinion that "the man who does not work should not eat" realized the demoralizing influence of a life spent in idleness.-American Looked Like Her Father's Work. A certain surgeon had three leg amputation cases in a week. The unusual number of serious and similar operations naturally caused talk in the surgeon's household, and his little daughter was greatly interested. A few days of ter the last operation the surgeon's geon's household, and his little daughafter the last operation the surgeon's wife and daughter were rummaging in the attic. In a trunk was found a daguerreotype depicting a girl of about eight years of age. The portrait through a peculiarity of pose showed only one leg of the subject, the other being doubled up under her in a manner truly feminine.

"Whose picture is that, mamma?" asked the surgeon's daughter. "Mine. It was taken when I was child not much older than you are

"Dld you know papa then?" "No, dear. Why do you ask?" "I thought maybe you did 'cause you've only got one leg."

The Mast Made His Coffin. The Macedonian was sent to the Brooklyn navy yard to have a new mast put into her. Old Jack Stady bossed the yard then, and Captain Hudson was commandant. When the job was finished and the ship was about to sail Jack called on the commandant. "Captain," he said, "I've axed you few favors in my time, but I'm goin' to bother you with one now. When old Jack goes to Davy Jones' locker he wants you to send him below in a box made out of that old mast. Will you do it. sir?" The captain promised. Old Jack died not long afterward, and Hudson was as good as his word. The mast was cut down and sawed into boards, and the honest soul was buried in a coffin made of them.

Too Tempting.

Miss Arabella Paxton had long since said goodby to her youth, but nobody had accused her of doing it with resig-"What were you thinking of to start Cousin Arabella off in that merry-go round?" asked Mrs. Jennings at the county fair. She had just received her dizzy and disheveled relative at the end of a trip on the flying horses. "You needn't look so severe at me," said Mr. Jennings reproachfully when Cousin Arabella had been deposited on a settee and left to recover her equilibrium. "She heard a woman say the machine was enough to scare anybody out of ten years' growth, and after that she was possessed to ride in it."

Queer Way to Display a Troussens. An Arabian bride is arrayed in all her dresses, one over the other. She is perched on a high stool, so that they all hang down over it, and one by one they are taken off with much display and admiring comment from the guests. The last is, of course, the most beautiful. The bridegroom is hidden in some corner where he can see his future wife's dowry, which, however, he may not touch,

Servian Cruelty.

The Servians have long been notorious for the cruelty exercised by them in the punishment of political prison ers. They are confined in subterranean cells, with just enough air to keep them alive.
